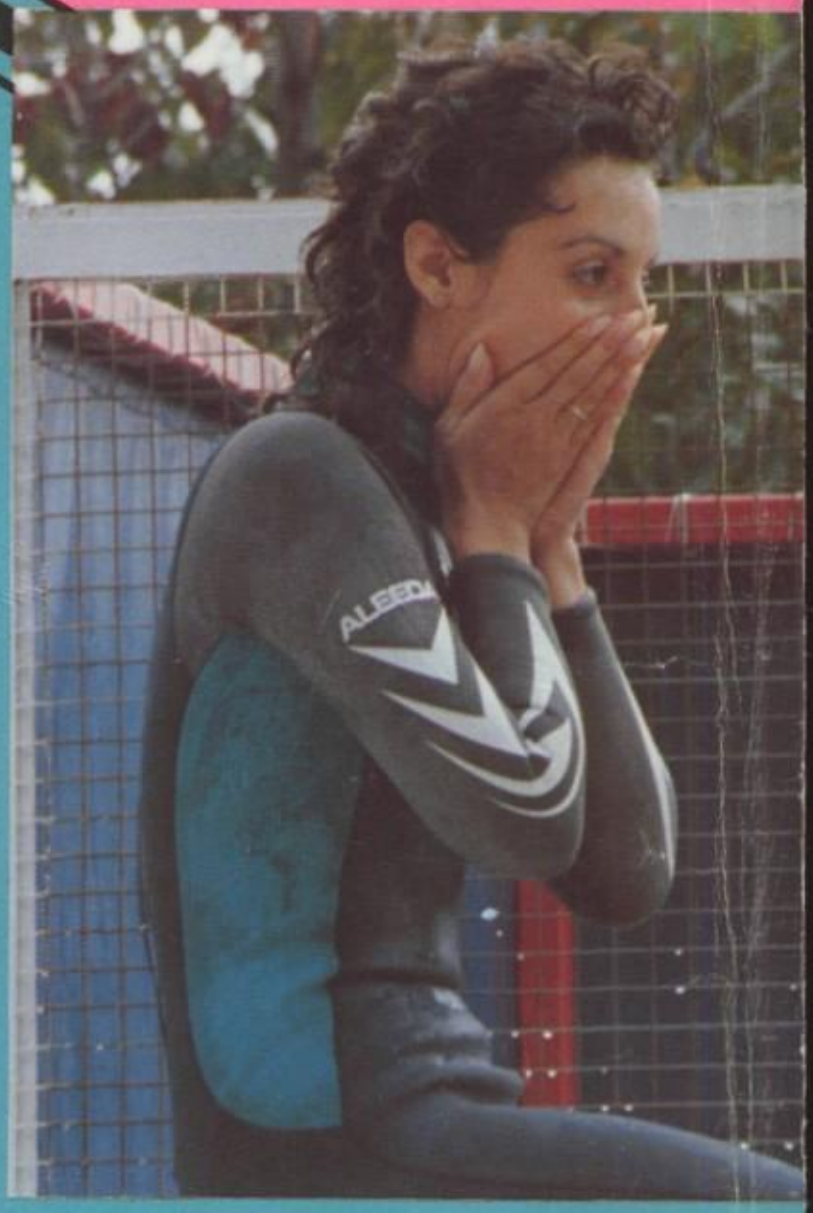
TITLE 1

Friends Julie Barta and Vicki Marcianti expressed great joy at being chosen for the "Top Eleven" Homecoming list.

Connie Short, Shiela Bedi, and Jenny De Herrera always enjoyed the exciting noon activities on the quad.

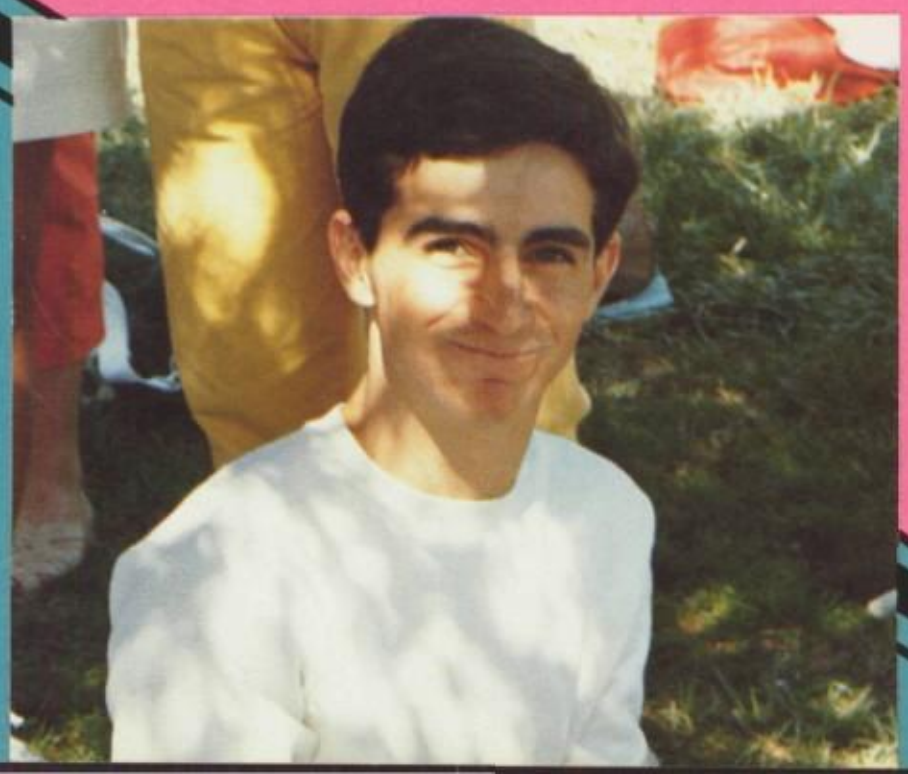
"Bonita Style" was spirited which Steve Frazier and Ray Emon definately were at the Homecoming game.

Tifany Moderow had to take the bad with the good; because she was chosen for Homecoming court, she had to participate in the "Dunk a Princess" event.



Style

Bonita Style: It is something which describes the attitudes Bonita students have toward life and school in general. When asked, many could not define Bonita Style; it is an underlying influence which is gradually and naturally assimilated into the individual lives of students. In order to "Do It Bonita Style," it is helpful for students to first fully understand everything being a Bearcat entails. A true Bearcat is one actively involved in the school through either academics, clubs, sports, or friends. Another characteristic of a tried and true Bearcat is the talent of having fun under any circumstance. Bonita Style has evolved into what it is through eighty years of rich Bearcat heritage and the influence of various ideas and diverse ethnic backgrounds found in the school community. In short, to "Do It Bonita Style" equates into being one's self and doing those things which are found enjoyable.



John Madaloni, senior, enjoyed the birthday cake which his friends had thoughtfully brought for him.

Diversity

Bonita's student body comprised many representatives from various ethnic backgrounds. This environment was quite condusive to an informal learning process which took place across the school. In several cases, students became versed in foreign cultures through association with their friends. Long-time friends, Susan Chan and Carolyn Rivera were able to swap stories about visits to their ancestrial homes, Hong Kong and Peru, respectively; Carolyn Rivera commented, "I have a lot of fun when I go down to Peru, so naturally, I like to tell people about it." Another means by which students became educated in foreign affairs was campus club American Field Service. This group of approximately twenty-five members is devoted to the spreading of knowledge through the sharing of different ethnic ideas. President, Lisa Hong, a native of Taiwan, supported this idea by stating, "AFS (American Field Servid Service) was for anyone who wanted to learn about different cultures." This organization further aided in the sharing of cultures by sponsoring an extensive International Day: a day in March when Bonita's foreign exchange student Maria Sjoborg from Sweden as well as numerous other exchange students from other schools toured classrooms and answered questions. AFS club secretary, Maria Pineiros, exclaimed, "This event was a great educational success." Evidently, the Bonita style of learning was not limited to the classroom, and diversities in culture blended to create the overall Bonita experience.

Ms. Wallin and Mr. Turner were two of Bonita's best liked faculty members because they donated many of their free hours to student organizations and activities.

One characteristic of Bonita lifestyle is long-time friendships; Matt Eaton and Bobby Quiroga have known each other since they attended Ramona together.

Homecoming Queen Annie Riday was deeply involved with school activities through sports and student government.

Seniors Scott Monsen and Selena Angulo spent many happy hours on the quad together.

Donna Rodriguez showed her devotion to the school by participating in school sports, acting as Associated Student Body Treasurer, and cheering Bonita on at the Homecoming game against Montclair.

Seniors Marcia McKinley, Kris Hille, and Nicole Miller enjoyed each other's company both off and on campus, like at the Homecoming rally in October.

Monica Mingatos was a visiting student from Brazil.

Bobby Mathis, junior, was really one student who enriched the varied style of Bonita.

Activities

Just what, one may ask, is meant by "Do it Bonita Style"? Do what? Everything! Or in more specific terms, extracurricular activities. Everybody at Bonita possessed a special talent, and those special attributes reflected in which activities students participated. For some like tennis player Evonne Langley or cyclist Delion Cummings, activities meant sports—both school organized and personal. For others such as Bridgett Barden and Lyn Padilla, after school activities meant part-time work. Actor Jess Hager and dancer Kim Juline spent much time concentrating on the arts. For still others, like senior Ron Pfeifer, it could have been something as simple as "watching jello melt in the sun." Although the activities themselves may not have been particularly unique, the way in which each individual participated was. "Bonita Style" constituted doing whatever extracurricular activities were enjoyable and exciting.

Luckily for Mark Estrada, his minor leg injury only disabled him for a short time during his senior year.

Vanessa Hutcheson, freshman, was a great asset to the pep club because of her successful selling techniques when it came to spirit items.

Ann,
Have a great summer. You're better stay sweet like you are now!
Love,
Vessie Hutcheson

Andrea Reed did some last minute studying in the library first period.

Bearcat Fun

Although some derived pleasure through learning advanced math concepts, memorizing the periodic chart, and being unmercifully quizzed on the map of California, most students versed in "Bonita Style" required a bit of recreational activity to alleviate the never-ending pressures of academic courses. Luckily for Bearcats, a wide variety of enjoyable activities could be found a relatively short distance from home. During the summer, the beach, of course, was a staple for many students; numerous sightings of seniors Jim Riley and David Bumpass were reported in the Newport Beach vacinity, for example. Other warm-weather hangouts included Raging Waters, dance clubs, and, for those with cars like Melina Kibbe, Westwood Village. Senior Robin Dulaney added, "I don't know why, but I just love to go to Santa Monica!" As it grew colder, students could look closer to home for entertainment; football and basketball games, as well as dances, dominated many social schedules. Skiing was another popular hobby; Stacy Trisch commented, "It feels great to swish down the slopes!" Freshman Shane Erwin enjoyed being with friends and exercising a bit of his new-found high school independance. Londa Vanderbeck, speaking for others than just sophomores exclaimed, "I love to party!" Many juniors such as Tina Kocoglu enjoyed driving their new cars. Lisa Pallas added, "When I'm let out, I like to go to concerts!" These were just a few of the numerous and varied forms of recreation encorporated by "Bonita Style."

Seniors Robin Dulaney, Sally Liu, Melina Kibbe, and Lisa Pallas agreed that their special friendship would last long after high school years.

Juniors Stacy Reed and Scott Burton very much enjoyed the wide variety of music played at the Homecoming dance.

Varsity football player Clark Moses entertained Student Body Advisor Mr. Drake's son at Homecoming halftime.

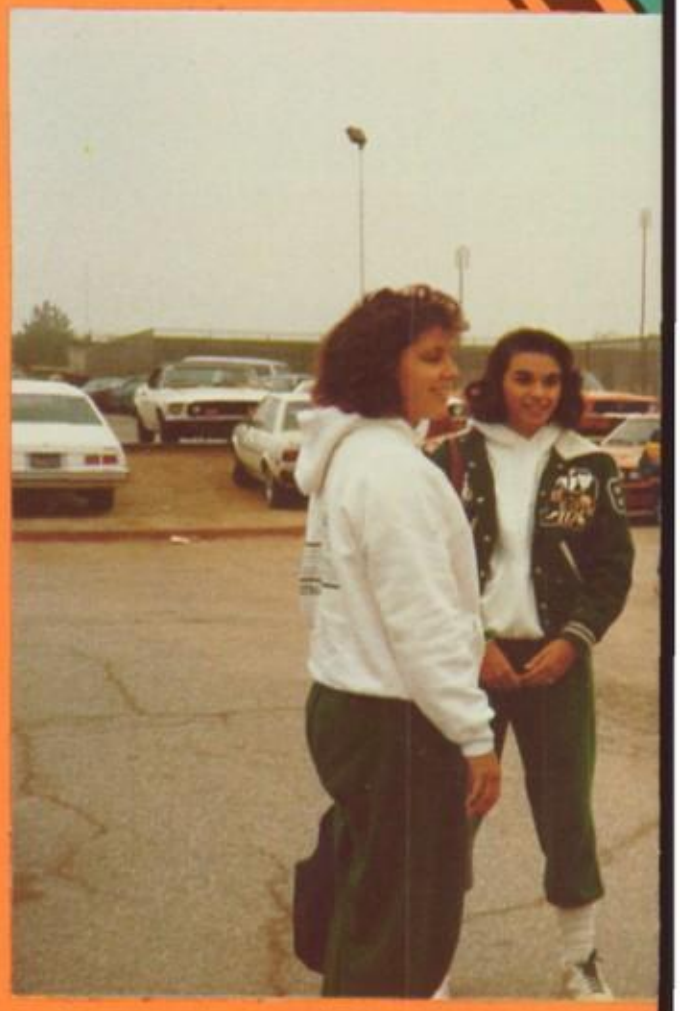
Frank Beltran's favorite hobby was definitely drawing.

Ann Ebert and Melanie Sutphen were certainly talented when it came to having fun.

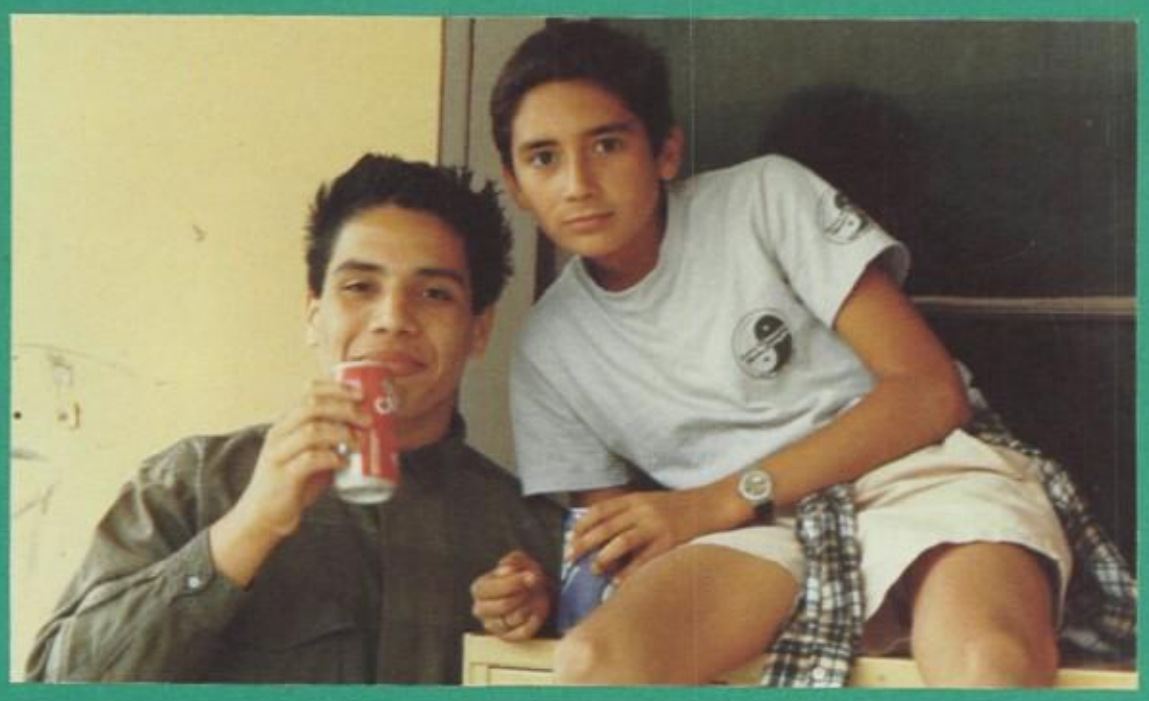
Judy Leora suffered from what is commonly termed as "senioritis."



Good friends-and varsity volleyball players-Chris Hardy, Donna Rodriguez, and Lara Germano, met before class to discuss the afternoon's match with Montclair.

La Nelle Maurer had to stop at her locker before Ms. Moga's senior advanced placement English course to get one of her six English books.

Sophomores Eric Dominguez and Brandon Griego could not wait until they could go off campus for lunch.



Traditions

Traditions are very much a part of "Bonita Style." They are just another way in which Bearcats "Do It Bonita Style." They run very deeply in the school. One of the earliest traditions is that of the Bearcat symbol itself. The logo was originated in the early 1920's as the football program began. Soon after, the Alma Mater was introduced and has been sung by Bonita students ever since. The tradition of the rock on the quad started in the 1960's in an effort to promote spirit for the annual Claremont-Bonita rivalry. Nowadays, the rock is a symbol that represents the changing feelings of students each time it receives a new coat of paint. Good basketball, baseball, and music programs have always been Bonita traditions. Longtime friends are a tradition at Bonita. Bonita has substantial numbers of students who have attended Bonita all four years and even many who have gone all through the Bonita District since kindergarten together. As Doug Lightfoot puts it, "I've gone to school with Scott Lundgren, Dexter Kim, Debbi Condiff, Cliff Hill, and many others all my life." This is probably why friendships are such a part of Bonita Style.

Activities

Homecoming

Annual Homecoming enthusiasm arrived once again when the Homecoming Top Ten were announced. Actually, due to a tie in voting, it was the "Top Eleven". Lisa Ogawa remarked, "I can't believe it's Homecoming already, isn't it a little early?"

More excitement followed with the selection of the Homecoming Princesses the following week. Robin Johannesson, Alison Aiosa, Tifany Moderow, Annie Riday, and Kristi Dyer were chosen for the court. Also, as honorary princess, Maria Sjoborg, a foreign exchange student from Sweden, was chosen.

Homecoming Week, full of fun activities then began. As students enjoyed the week, the real anticipation was for Friday's football game against Montclair, where the Queen would be announced, and for the big Homecoming dance on Saturday.

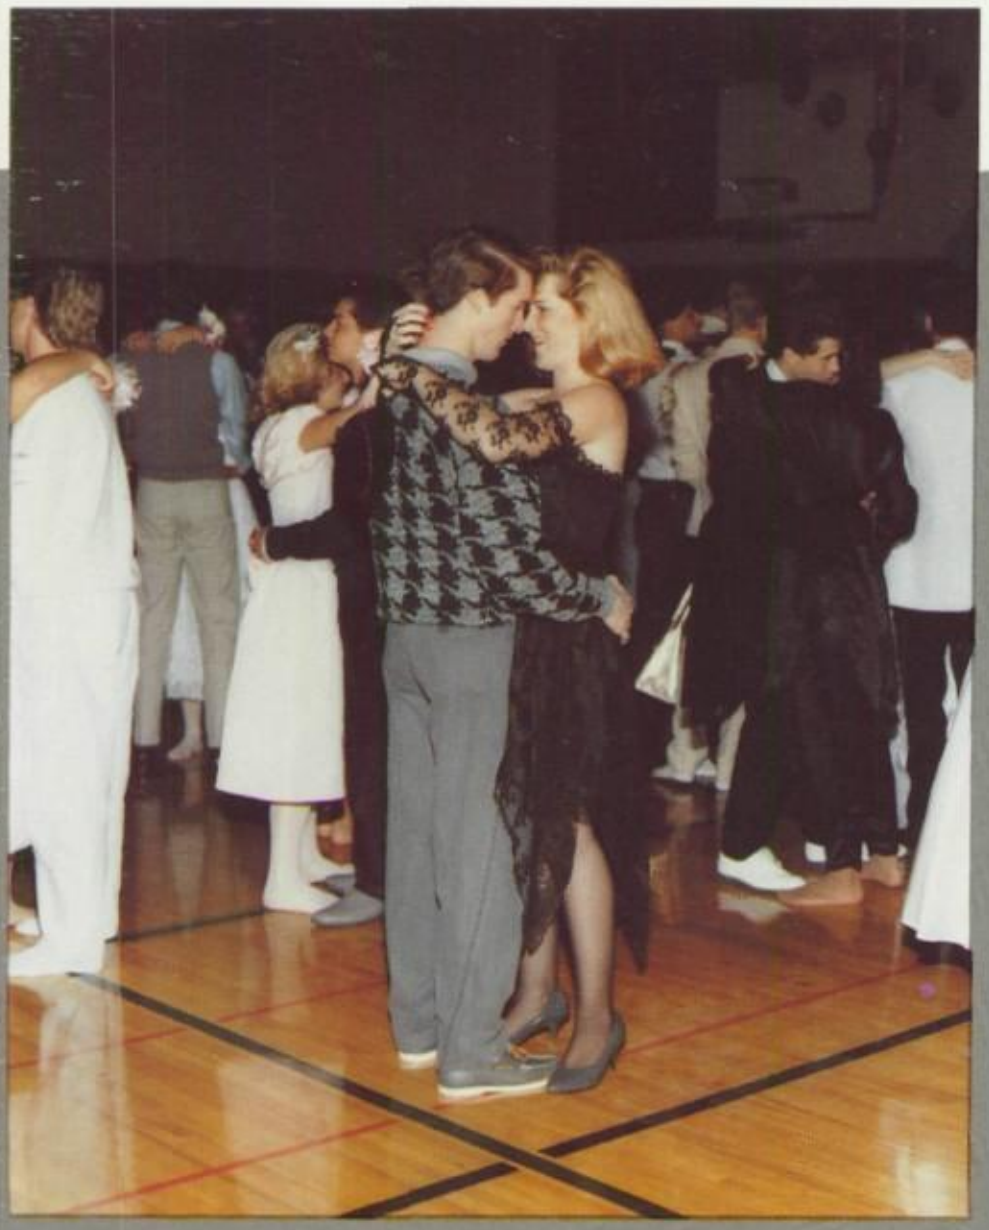
Friday night, the stars were shining, the weather was cool, and the setting was perfect for a "Fairy Tale Romance," the theme for this year's Homecoming Game. The half-time festivities, which the Senior class officers worked so diligently on, could not have been carried out without the participation of many others also.

The parading of the princesses around the field in convertibles was headed by some fairy tale characters like Joy Dacus as Cinderella, Danielle Mineheart as Sleeping Beauty, Tina Bobbitt as Snow White, Lisa Hong and Joey Quintero as Raggedy Ann and Andy, and Carolyn Rivera as Little Bo Peep. When Lisa Hong was asked how she liked being Raggedy Ann, she replied, "It was a very exciting experience but it was also very embarrassing."

After the parade, the Princesses walked with their fathers up the aisle formed by the Drill Team, Rifle Squad, and Tall Flags with the band surrounding them. As the big announcement drew near, Jonelle Peak, dressed as Robin Hood and mounted on a white horse, rode up to Prince Charming, otherwise known as Jay Wilkinson, and handed him the scroll containing the official message. In a matter of seconds, Annie Riday was declared Queen of 1985 Homecoming Court.

The following night, approximately 250 people gathered at the Bonita gym for a night of dancing. The theme was "Almost Paradise" and the gym was decorated accordingly; arches of balloons and streamers filled the room. Joey Quintero added, "I think everyone had an exciting night and the decoration of the gym provided a nice atmosphere." During the dance, the Princesses and the Queen danced with their fathers to the theme song, "Almost Paradise". Homecoming, with all of its activities, was enjoyed tremendously by the whole student body.

Couples enjoyed the slow songs the most.



Kris Quick had a great time with her boyfriend at Homecoming.

The 1985 Homecoming Queen, Annie Riday and her father, Mr. Riday.

The 1985 Homecoming Court: Princess Tifany Moderow, Princess Kristi Dyer, Honorary Princess Maria Sjoborg, Annie Riday, Princess Alison Aiosa, and Princess Robin Johannesson.

Couples gazed at the Homecoming Court dancing to the theme song, "Almost Paradise."

Halloween

"Bonita Style" could certainly be termed as unique and as October 31 arrived, this became quite apparent. The endless variety of Halloween creations exceeded those of previous years. Out went traditional babies and bunnies and in their places came such figures as a transvestite nurse portrayed by Anthony Riniti and a live-snake-carrying bag lady, otherwise known as Katie Walker. Movie character interpretations were offered by Eric Swenson as Jason from "Friday the 13" and Brian Gillies as Captain Kirk from "Star Trek." Group costumes were popular as well. Seniors Doug Lightfoot, Dexter Kim, and Jay Wilkinson won first place in the group costume contest held at lunch on the quad by impersonating Vice Principal Mr. Keller and the notorious campus proctors. Through the confusion of the day, students might have seen Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, Kristin Schlotthauer and Michelle Coppack, evading the Queen of Hearts, Danielle Miller, or perhaps, a pack of rough and tough construction workers portrayed by the girls' volleyball team. Junior class rally members dressed as a guerrilla squad were seen defending the campus frontier. It was a fun filled day for all!

Seniors Kerry Carr and Steve Duzner went to much trouble to create their elaborate Renaissance look.

Clan of the Crazed Cave Women: Sally Liu, Lisa Pallas, Lisa Ogawa, Melina Kibbe, and Robin Dulaney.

Sophomore Dana Isenberg, dressed as a pirate, had a perfect view of the action on the quad from her perch atop the lockers.

Kim Beam, sophomore drama student, was able to impersonate flamboyant performer, Cyndi Lauper.

Anthony Riniti, transplant from New York, won first place in the individual costume contest at lunch.

Sweethearts

On the eighth of February, the magic of the annual Sweethearts dance reappeared. With "We're in Heaven" as the theme, the Bonita High gym sparkled with clouds of balloons and twinkling stars. Light blue, white, and dark blue streamers were gently hanging from the top of the bleachers.

The excitement of the Sweetheart's dance began when the traditional "Top Ten" list of potential princesses was extended to a list of eleven. The final result of the "Top Eleven" was the familiar list of four princesses. Bridgett Barden, Barbra Irish, Lori Isenberg, and Danielle Minehart were given the honor of being princesses on the Sweetheart's court.

Another new tradition began when the naming of the queen took place during halftime of a basketball game. Mrs. Brown, the Pep Club advisor, described each princess as they were escorted by their fathers. The crowd anxiously awaited the announcement that would tell them who was queen. The suspense ended when Mrs. Brown stated that Lisa Vidaure was the new Sweetheart's queen.

The seniors were not the only ones to respond to Sweethearts with enthusiasm. Each class was faced with the decision of who would be the princess that would represent their class. After the ballotting was done, the class princesses were Michelle Hager, junior princess; Dana Isenberg, sophomore princess; and Jenny Horchak, freshman princess. Also, Michelle Hogan, an Austrailian exchange student, was an honorary princess.

The theme, "We're in Heaven," was carefully carried out by the Pep Club members. "A lot of time and effort goes into preparing for a dance," said Kim Juline, the Pep Club president. The members volunteered their time to trace and cut out stars, blow up balloons, and decorate the gym. "It was really interesting to see the gym transformed," said Jeanine Sheldon. The result of Pep Club's effort was a gym with millions of stars everywhere, balloons filling the air, and an overall feeling of magic.

Sweethearts was once again a success. The student body was enthusiastic about the dance. The most evident result was the closeness of the couples, as they slowly danced to the soft strains of "Heaven."

Many people were anxious to see the queen.

The night was filled with surprises for everyone.

Lisa Vidaure was the Sweetheart's queen.

At the dance, the way everyone dressed varied, as shown by David Bumpass and Stephanie Schuster.

Sadies

In Bearcat County, the annual Sadie Hawkins hoe-down was another downright success. Many girls used this opportunity to rope and court their beaux for this foot stompin' affair.

The " ' was extended and replaced by a revised "Top Thirteen" list of princes. Through voting by various girls" spring sports teams, the list of thirteen was shortened and a court of five princes was established: David Bumpuss, Anthony Lynch, Shawn Prince, Ric Slagle, and Jim Stanfill were members of the Sadies Court.

The selection of the class princes was also done with equal care. Eventually, the class princes were chosen: Brian Weaver was junior prince; Tim Bohler, sophomore prince; and Jimmy Riday, freshman prince.

The couples found a variety of ways to dress for the occasion. There were those that dressed as "twins" or wore matching outfits. Then, there were the couples who wore Western-type clothing. "It was really difficult to decide what to wear since there were so many different ways to dress," said Dana Pereira.

The couples danced happily to the different songs. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the new Sadies King. Then once again, all was quiet in Bearcat County.

Anna Blum and her date got their fortunes told by a wise gypsy.

On Sadie Hawkins, Brandi Brunansky hogtied her date Craig Soto at the McCoy's Wedding Post.

Bonita gladly watched as the new king took his place of honor.

Noon Activities

Bonita was characterized by its abundance of noon activities and the '85-'86 school year was no exception. Many different kinds of activities took place, such as picnics, DJs, and the traditional weeks of Homecoming.

The picnic days were days which almost all the students participated in. Students brought everything from pizza to pretzels to salads. Most of the picnic days were accompanied by the blaring music of DJs and took place on Fridays. During fifth period on those days, leftovers were feasted upon.

DJs were commonplace this year. Many different disc jockeys were tried and almost all DJs met the approval of the students. Many students went so far as to dance atop the tables in the quad. Beside the music, students enjoyed the pleasure of an extended lunch — which means shorter class time. The music was usually loud.

Anti-Saint Week was another favorite among the Bearcats. Signs were placed on the ground to stomp on. Pie contests were held also. The week before Christmas saw the Candy Cane pass and more DJs.

The week before Homecoming was always a fun and busy week. The "Dunk A Princess Contest," the Pie Race and the Shopping Cart Race all took place. Most students participated or watched these outrageous antics of the Princesses and others.

One activity which was very profitable to the clubs and organizations at Bonita was the Winterfest. The profts made by the sale of food went towards field trips and into the clubs' treasuries. Once again, Bearcats displayed their spirit by buying lots of food.

Bonita's noon activities were special events the students look forward to. They gave the students a chance to show their spirit in true Bonita style!

Brook Bolesta, Jeanette Luja, Kim Beam, and Cathy Staats, enjoyed lunch while listening to a DJ.

Mr. Jansen, Mr. Turner, Mrs. Brickner, and Mr. Regan competed in the Shopping Cart Races during Homecoming Week.

Clubs

Most scholars of Bonita who have been looking forward to an opportunity to help out our campus got involved in California Scholarship Federation (CSF). These scholars have maintained at least 3 A's and 2 B's in different academic subject areas. As a reward for their outstanding performance, the Board of Education granted three field trips annually. The third trip to Disneyland which is for all CSF members in Southern California from 7:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. in the morning is fun as well as educational. "Scholarship people are fun to work with," said Mrs. Hutch who advised this club throughout many years.

Also, as an honor of these students who performed well throughout their four years, wore golden tassel and braid, goal seal on their diploma, and seating front of the line at the graduation. Another advantage of being a member of CSF was to qualify for certain scholarship that ran approximately around five thousand to six thousand dollars. Bonita had 7 finalists in period of 9 years for Seymour Scholarship which is the highest scholarship in California. "It's a good club because by being a member, it provides benefits throughout the life time," said president, Jay Wilkinson.

Past years, this group has found a way to spend the scholarship that they received to support any school services such as tutoring, back to school, and open house. Also, the girls in the club brightened the graduation by dressing up formally and greeting the seniors, holding the ivy chains. They spent great deal of time and effort by actually cutting out the ivys and decorating it with flowers. Furthermore, one of the important facts is that this group of people got involved in many other areas in campus as well as performing well throughout their high school years.

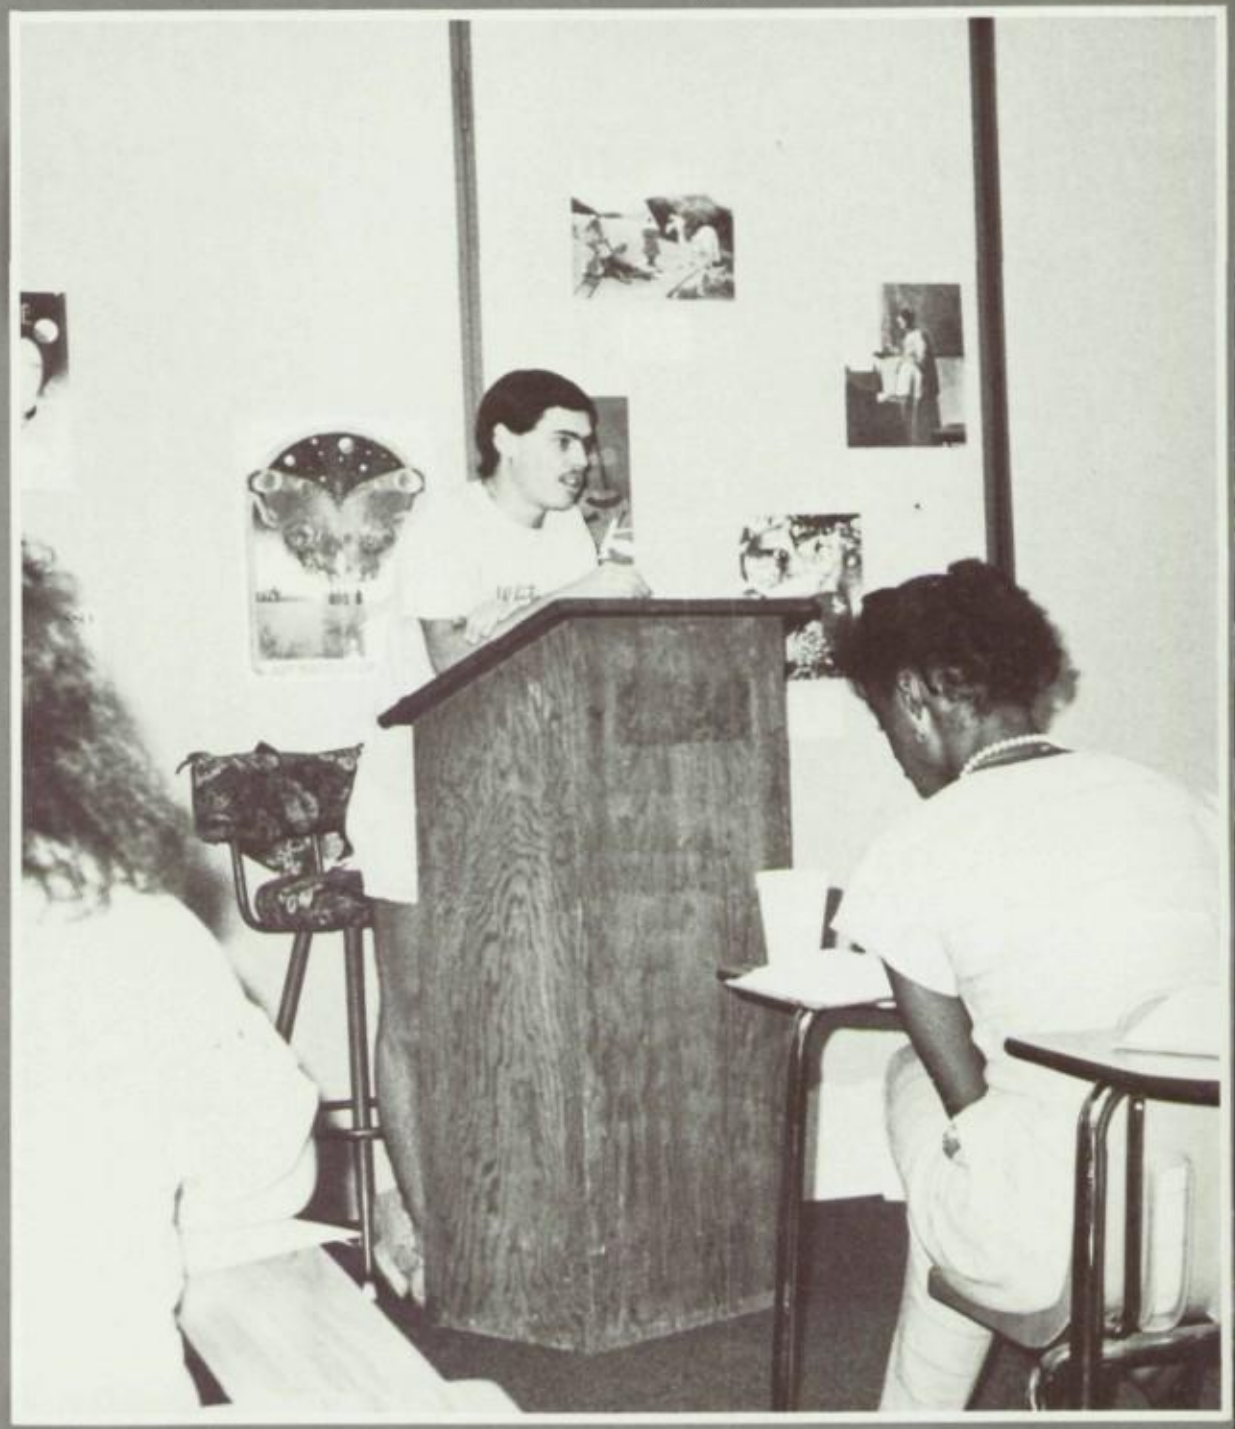
Clubs

The Humanities on Campus has encouraged liberal studies and human interests by devoting themselves and contributing much effort through this year. This organization is composed of advanced placement English students. "This is a good club because it helps out our English Department in many ways," said Dexter Kim, the president of the club. During the Winterfest, all the members made different homemade cookes in order to raise money. Also, during February, they sold candy bars along with Mecha and History club.

With money they have raised during winterfest and candy sale, they provided equipment for the English department such as tapes and film slides. Also, the members made out complete lesson plans for the teachers to use in their classrooms in order to amplify the knowledge of their students to all periods in art whether in a sculpture or painting. "Students in advanced classes are interesting to watch as their world expands through knowledge." said the advisor, Mrs. Moga. The Humanities on Campus is composed of people who are not just interested in art but also who wanted an opportunity to support our English Departments in Bonita and they deserve a lot of credit for their devotion.



Brian Casler, Zambini the Younger in Physics class, happily shares his knowledge in Humanities on Campus.

ASB

The '85-'86 ASB has accomplished many things during the past year. Their efforts to better Bonita has helped Bonita become as good as it is. They have coordinated many activities which the students enjoyed.

For example, a majority of the students enjoy the assemblies and rallies. Sophomore Robert Pineiros commented, "They're pretty fun." The rallies are by far the most "fun" of all. The class competitions kept the spirit of the Bearcats high.

Another example of organization was displayed in the coordination of the Homecoming activities. Signs were put up to tell the students of the activities. The renting of a dunking machine for the "Dunk a Princess" contest was always a fun experience for the students.

The officers spent numerous hours planning for these activities. Behind the long table in their office, these officers, and their advisor, Mr. Drake, worked to complete plans for future assemblies, rallies, picnics, and even DJs.

The leadership retreat is a time, a weekend to be exact, when clubs' representatives can plan for the next year's activities. These people go up into the mountains and, for one day work, the other . . . well, you know, fun!

Pat Riley and Lori Isenberg relaxing after solving one of ASB's many problems.

ASB hosted many exciting activities this year.

Secretary of Clubs, Melanie Kibbe, contributed to ASB by making club charters.

Seniors

Senior Style

Walkman-Seniors were never without their favorite tunes.
Surf Board-He saved all through his Junior year to buy it.
Ticket Stubs-Concerts were a major source of enjoyment.
Literature from Mt. SAC-A favorite school for many.
College Application-Another thing to fit in an already hectic schedule.
Casual Attire-Seniors were much too busy during the week to fuss with fashion.
Readmits from those many bouts with "Senioritis."
Cliff's Notes-The ultimate study guide.
Readily available beach wear was a must for the well-prepared Senior.
Assorted Shopping Bags-Senior girls always had the right attire for those special weekend occasions.

Officers

Kathy Moran President

Karri Prentice Vice-President

As the exciting school year passed by, our hard-working 1985-86 Senior class officers finally had the chance to rest. They had put much of their efforts in extracurricular activities which included the Home-coming Ceremonies during half-time at the football game, Senior Grad Nite, and Senior Breakfast. They had to try to find time to be both Senior Class Officers as well as scholars. As President Kathy Moran said: "We have been giving up many of our study hours in order to make the best year ever for all the seniors. There were times when we had problems, but we always tried our best to make sure everything was perfect."

Their diligent work has shown tremendous results. The student body was able to enjoy many interesting extracurricular activities as the result of the hard work put out by the Senior Class officers.

Senior Statements

Leora Adams- So we rely on the past, special momentos that last. Were they as tender as we dare to remember?

Silby Alexander- Bye, Bearcats. Hang in there, Betty, you'll make it. Thanks, Mom and Dad, for everything. I love you.

Jackie Alkhas- It has been fun here, but thank God I'm leaving. Try to have fun without me next year, Tina. Luv ya lots!!!

Robert Dwayne Allen- So long, Bonita! It's been too long. For my lifelong buddy Shaun, the best forever. Shaun, let's pray for my car and yours

Cynthia Almager- I couldn't have made it without family and friends. Thanks, everyone. Luv ya.

Selena Angulo- Laugh, love, and enjoy life. Once is enough if you put your heart in it!! Love and thanks, Mom and Dad. I love you, Scott!!

Karla Arambula- The past is knowledge, the present our mistake, and the future we always leave too late; I wish we'd come to our senses.- Style Council

Kelli Armstead- Remember the past, but don't dwell on it. Look into the future, and strive for it. Thanks Mom, Tracey, and Nicole. Love ya lots - 1986.

Craig Artis- Life is like a perfect wave: if you don't rip, you'll be ripped. The Clan. + + +. Thanks, Mom and Dad.

Tammy Ashworth- Life is full of surprises. Good bye, Bonita! There were a lot of great memories here, huh, Shaun? I love you Joe, Mom, and Dad.

Deirdra Bailey- Freshman year - scary but fun. Sophomore year - C.M. and Princess. Junior year - license and McDonald's. Senior year - car, but single. Fantastic Four stay friends forever.

Bridgett Barden- Thanks Mom, Dad, and Missy, for all your love and support! You and all my friends have made these last four years the best!

Julie Barta- Past, present, future, all important times. Past for remembering, present for living, future for planning. Don't live for today, but for tomorrow! See ya later!

Tami Baum- If you want success desperately enough, then give it all you've got!! But don't forget your true friends on the way. Love you all forever.

Betty Bender- Live each day to its fullest by taking it one step at a time, and go forward with hope and excitement.

Courtney Blash- "Though nothing can bring back the hour of splendor in the grass and glory in the flower." B.I. Woom 204!

Anna Blum- I try not to shatter kaleidoscope style; personality changes behind my own smile. Every new problem is a stranger inside, hopelessly forcing a modern disguise.

Tina Bobbitt- Smile for what has been, dream for what will be, but live and love for the reality of today. Love you: Mom, Elaine, Wayne, Kim.

Carmen Bridge- Thanks, Bonita, for the memories, laughter, and tears. Someday we will all appreciate how they have contributed to our lives. Love ya Dad, Mom, Nicole.

David Wayne Bumpass- Ashes and diamonds, foe and friend, we all are equal in the end. Thanks Mom, Dad, Stephanie, Lisa and the Clan.

Laura Yessayian- Mom and Dad, thanks for everything! Stephen, I can't wait to spend the rest of my life with you! "Bubbles, Bubbles", love you all!

Troy Young- The time has come for us to change from minors to adults and take our place in society.

Elyse Zugates- My interest is in the future because that's where I'm going to spend the rest of my life. Thanx Mom, Dad, Nicole, I love you.

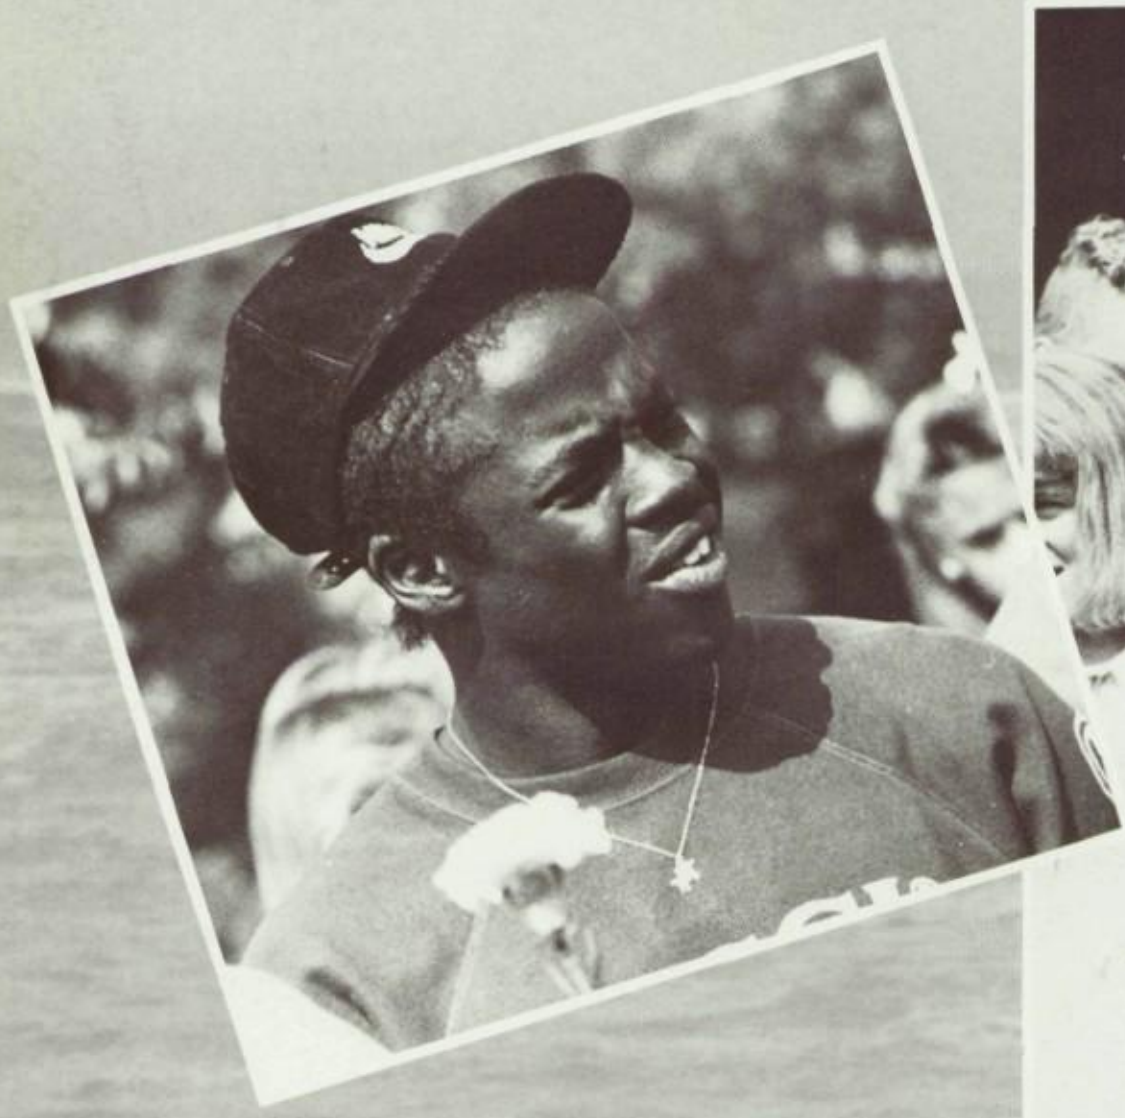
SENIORITIS: The Inevitable Disease

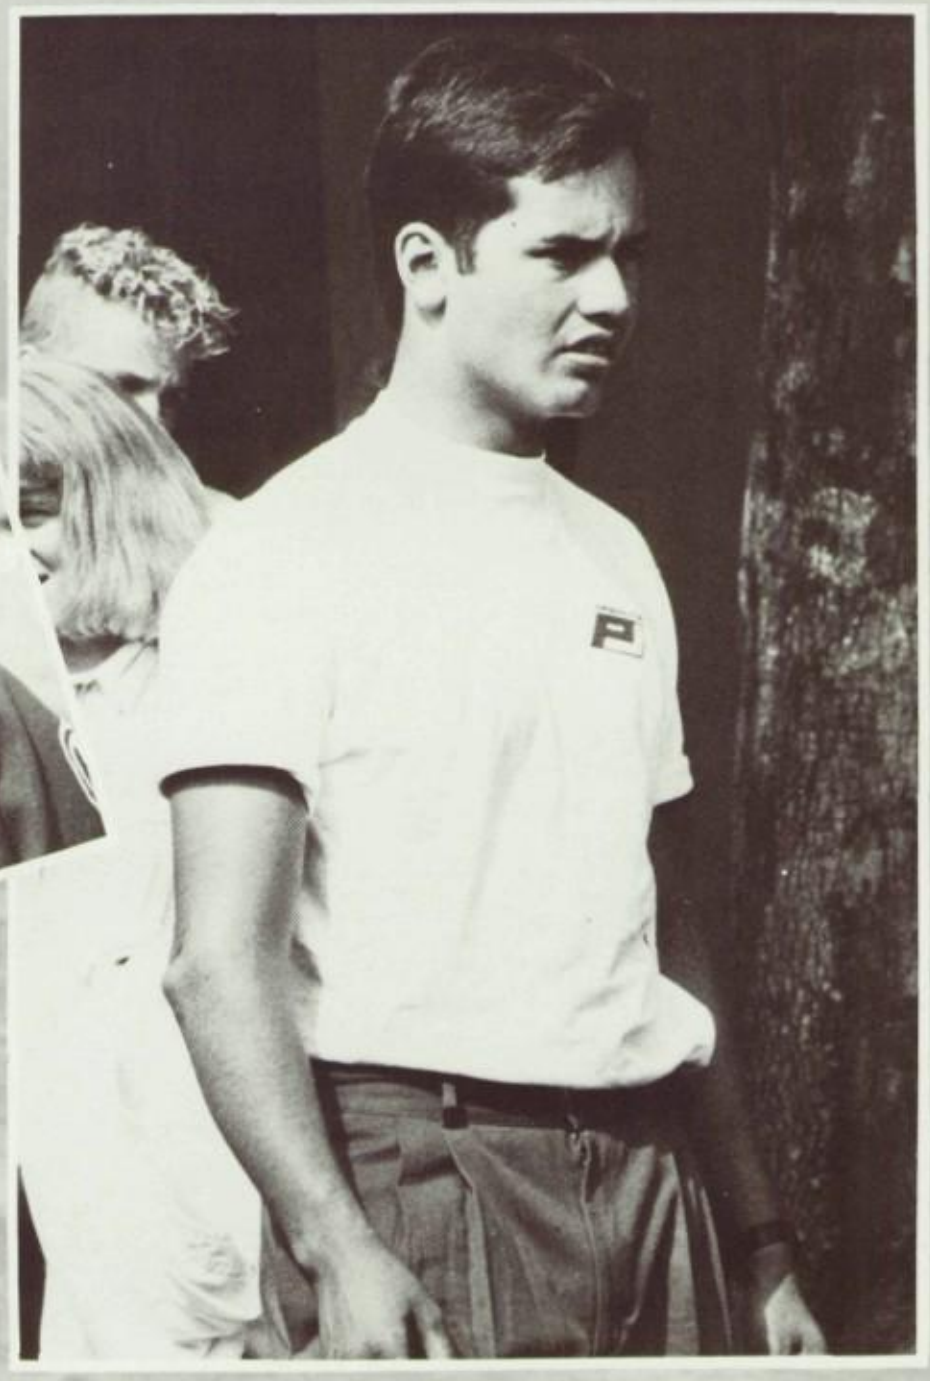
Did you — look forward with pleasure to the times when there were no teachers around?
— Fall asleep over simplistic homework?
— Doodle upon paper intended for important notes?

If yes, BEWARE! You could have been suffering from Senioritis, a common disease afflicting upperclassmen. Not to be confused with junioritis, the trivial desire to party, Senioritis was a more mature yearning to move on to better things. As Carolyn Garrison defined it, "Senioritis is when you count the days until June and all you can think about is graduation." You could see the symptoms on the faces of seniors during classes: Blank stares of sheer boredom veiling daydreams-most of which as Melina Kibbe says, "could not be printed in the yearbook." With the prospect of college, a job, and making decisions in life, it was realistic to be tired of the day by day sameness of high school life. The every day routine of getting up early, going to school, getting bored, going home, and doing homework could become quite tedious. Without help you could have faced dire consequences such as: Losing your friends, Losing your self-respect, or, most importantly, Losing your diploma!

However, there was help from an old established organization, BONITA HIGH's STAFF or BHS' Through harsh treatments such as senior English (which could result in Moga-Phobia) and Civics, BHS hopes to cure this desease. With more pleasurable remedies like dances, games, rallies, etc . . ' , designed to to spark an interest in more school related activities, it was obvious BHS was working hard toward succeeding in their goal. Sometimes, however, BHS did fail. Nothing has yet been successful in stopping the annual "Senior Ditch Day." The adults heading the operation had some difficulties conceiving how "children" whom they considered "free as birds" would want to give the easy life up for the responsibilities and burdens of adulthood. The most advanced specialists in the field of education spent hours in the lunch room discussing and devising plans, one day hoping to wipe out the existance of Senioritis completely' Kevin Hardy said, "It (Senioritis) could not be stopped, it effected everyone. Some days you just couldn't go to school." Maybe Senioritis will follow in the footsteps of Polio or Small Pox and eventually be of no danger, or maybe like the common cold, it will just have to run it's course. Either way, good ole BHS will always be fighting Senioritis at:

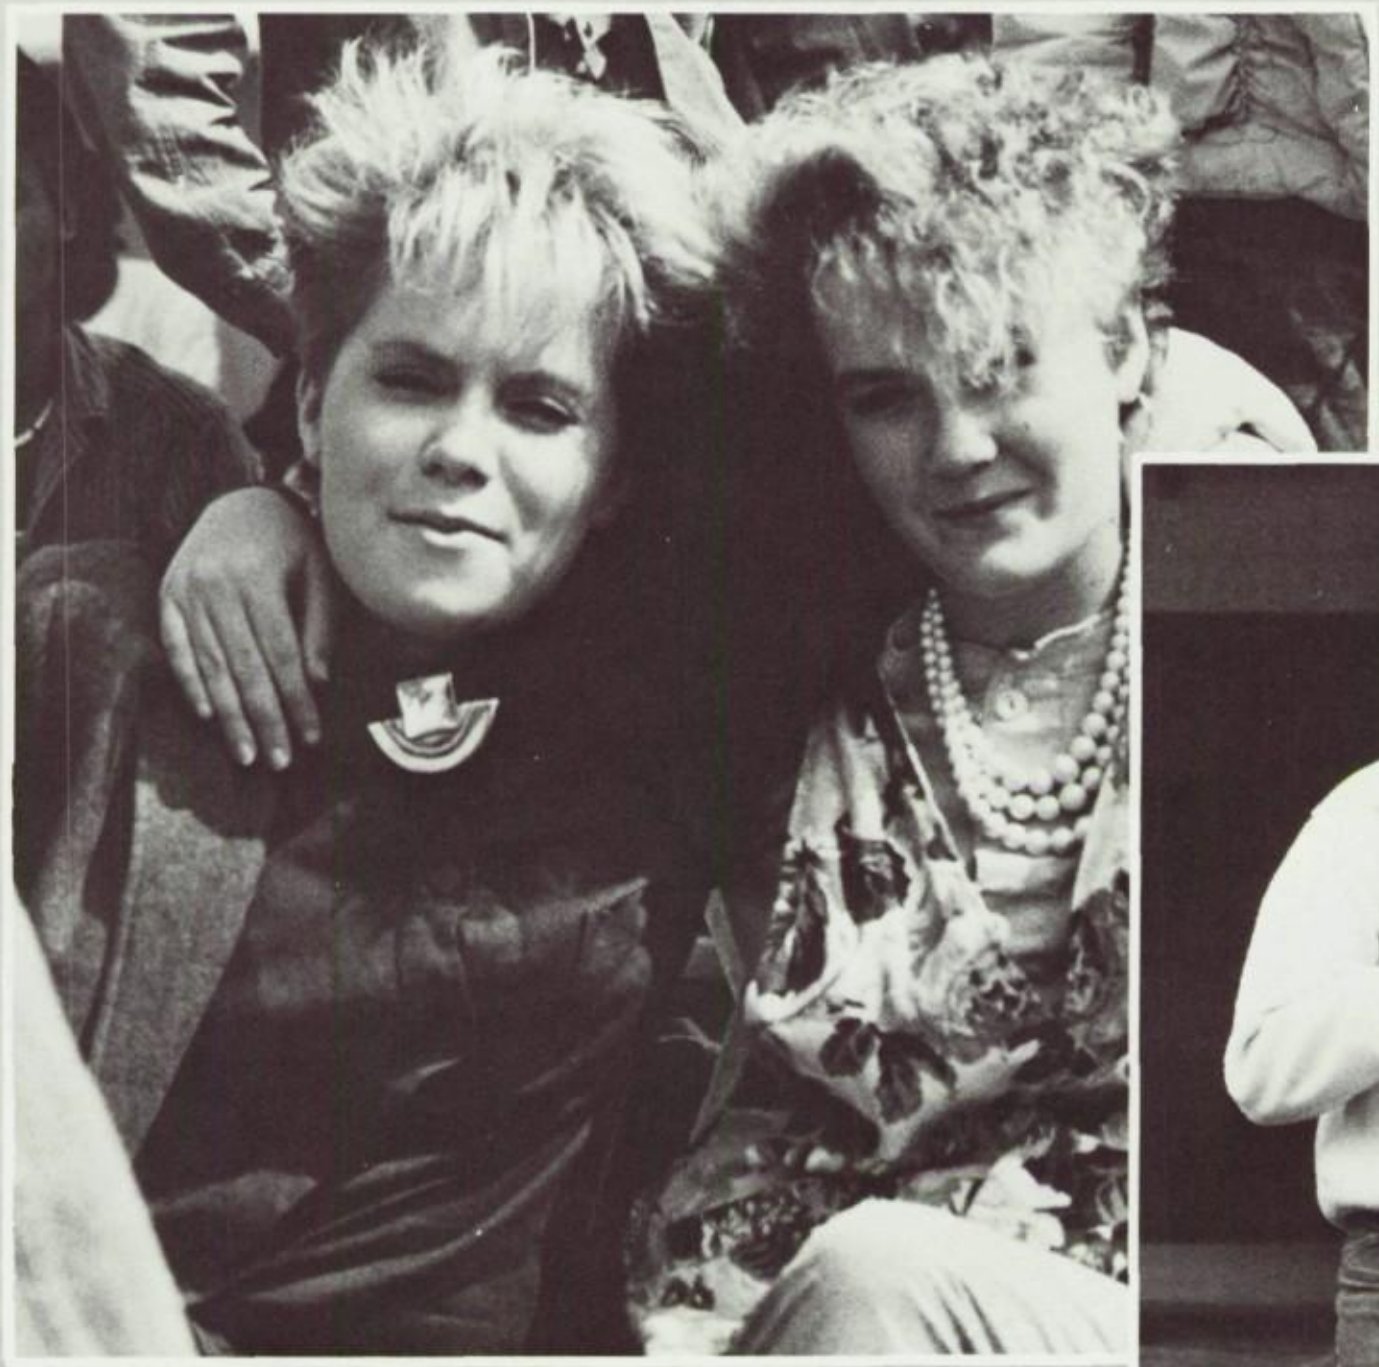
1-800-SENIORS "one day, there will be a cure."

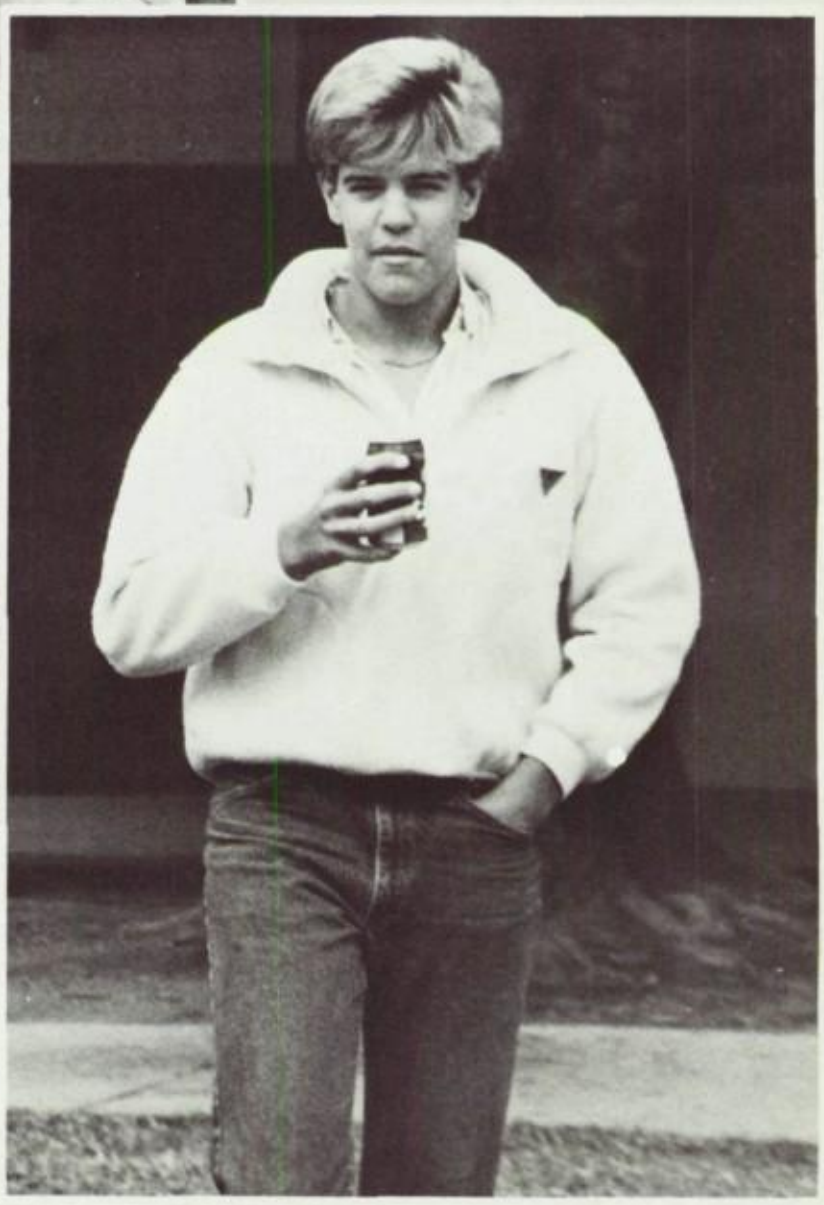




Even football and basketball did not keep Clark Moses from having his bad days.

Jim Stanfill can always be found day dreaming, another symptom of Senioritis.





Definitely one of the plusses of high school was the friendship that developed such as that between Lisa Zugates and Leora Adams.

John Gilmartin, who was new to Bonita his Senior year, has already learned of Senioritis.

With all the stresses school provided, Lori Isenberg and Jeff Nickens made the best out of their time together.

Junior Style

The flattop was back again.
'87 keychain to display class pride as well as to show off ability to drive.
For the girls-the sophisticated look was a must.
Tie to impress that possible prom date.
Levis were fashionable with anything.
Value tray-No self-respecting junior ate lunch on campus.
Juniors had only begun to work so boogie boards were all they could afford at the moment.
VALU-TRAY
Football gear- Varsity at last!!!
Chemistry and U.S. History books-common companions to the studious junior.
PSAT registration papers for planning college exams.
Empty wallet due to fast food lunches and gas for that guzzler.

Officers

President Erin Gruwell

Vice President Doug Stroot

Junior class officers did a great job! They had many responsibilities to meet that called for mature individuals. This one reason was the explanation of why the officers did so well.

The junior class helped set up Homecoming as well as Prom. This was done with careful consideration and long-term planning. Homecoming was a beautiful night that all the officers should have been proud of. Overall, the greatest contribution this year, was the '86 Prom. This year's location, the Newport Marriot Hotel, was prearranged by president Erin Gruwell. Erin was said to have planned for Prom at the end of last year. Junior class officers made many sacrifices and contributions to make this such a wonderful year. Congratulations!

TRASH CAN DAYS ARE OVER!

Ahhh . . . the long-awaited joys of being an upperclassman! All those years of "living in trash cans" and being looked down upon had finally ended.

A new independence was felt by those who could drive. Although the junior parking lot had to be shared, the ability to use it outweighed the bad points. The classmen were excited to finally be able to show off their cars. Sheri Sutcliffe commented, "There are a lot of advantages now, like driving my car and not being looked down upon anymore."

Along with driving came the privilege of "officially" leaving campus for lunch. A few of the favorite places to go were Carl's Jr., In 'n Out, Mc Donald's, and Del Taco. A lot of people saw this as an escape from school pressures, even if it was only for a half hour. Chris Browne stated, "I can go out to lunch whenever I want to and it feels great!"

Jeannine Sheldon said that the Prom was an event that she had been looking forward to for a long time. Many juniors were happy to be able to invite someone to prom instead of being the ones invited. The fact that the junior class put on the prom made people even more excited to see how it turned out.

But along with all of the "fun" things came the new responsibilities. To pay for their expenses, juniors began looking for jobs and looking for their hard-earned money which seemed to disappear quicker than they could cash their paychecks! Many of the juniors had experienced working conditions in the summer of '85. For others, it was their first exposure to "the real world" out there. Money was hard to earn and few classmen wanted to part with it when expenses came around.

And what about school? School for the juniors this year was the toughest ever. Juniors had to make a lot of crucial class decisions. One of the decisions facing the juniors was deciding what classes to take to qualify for college admissions. Honors' classes and advanced placement classes were over-crowded with students. The teachers seemed to be more understanding and treated students like mature individuals. Lori Miller said, "Teachers really respected you and it made me feel older and more mature."

But others did not feel any significant changes in becoming upperclassmen. Lisiana Snyder explained, "I didn't feel like an upperclassman; I felt normal. I felt like Lish!" Juniors, whether or not they thought about it, were upperclassmen and everyone, in some way, had changed because of it.

Tina Kocoglu crammed for her English test.

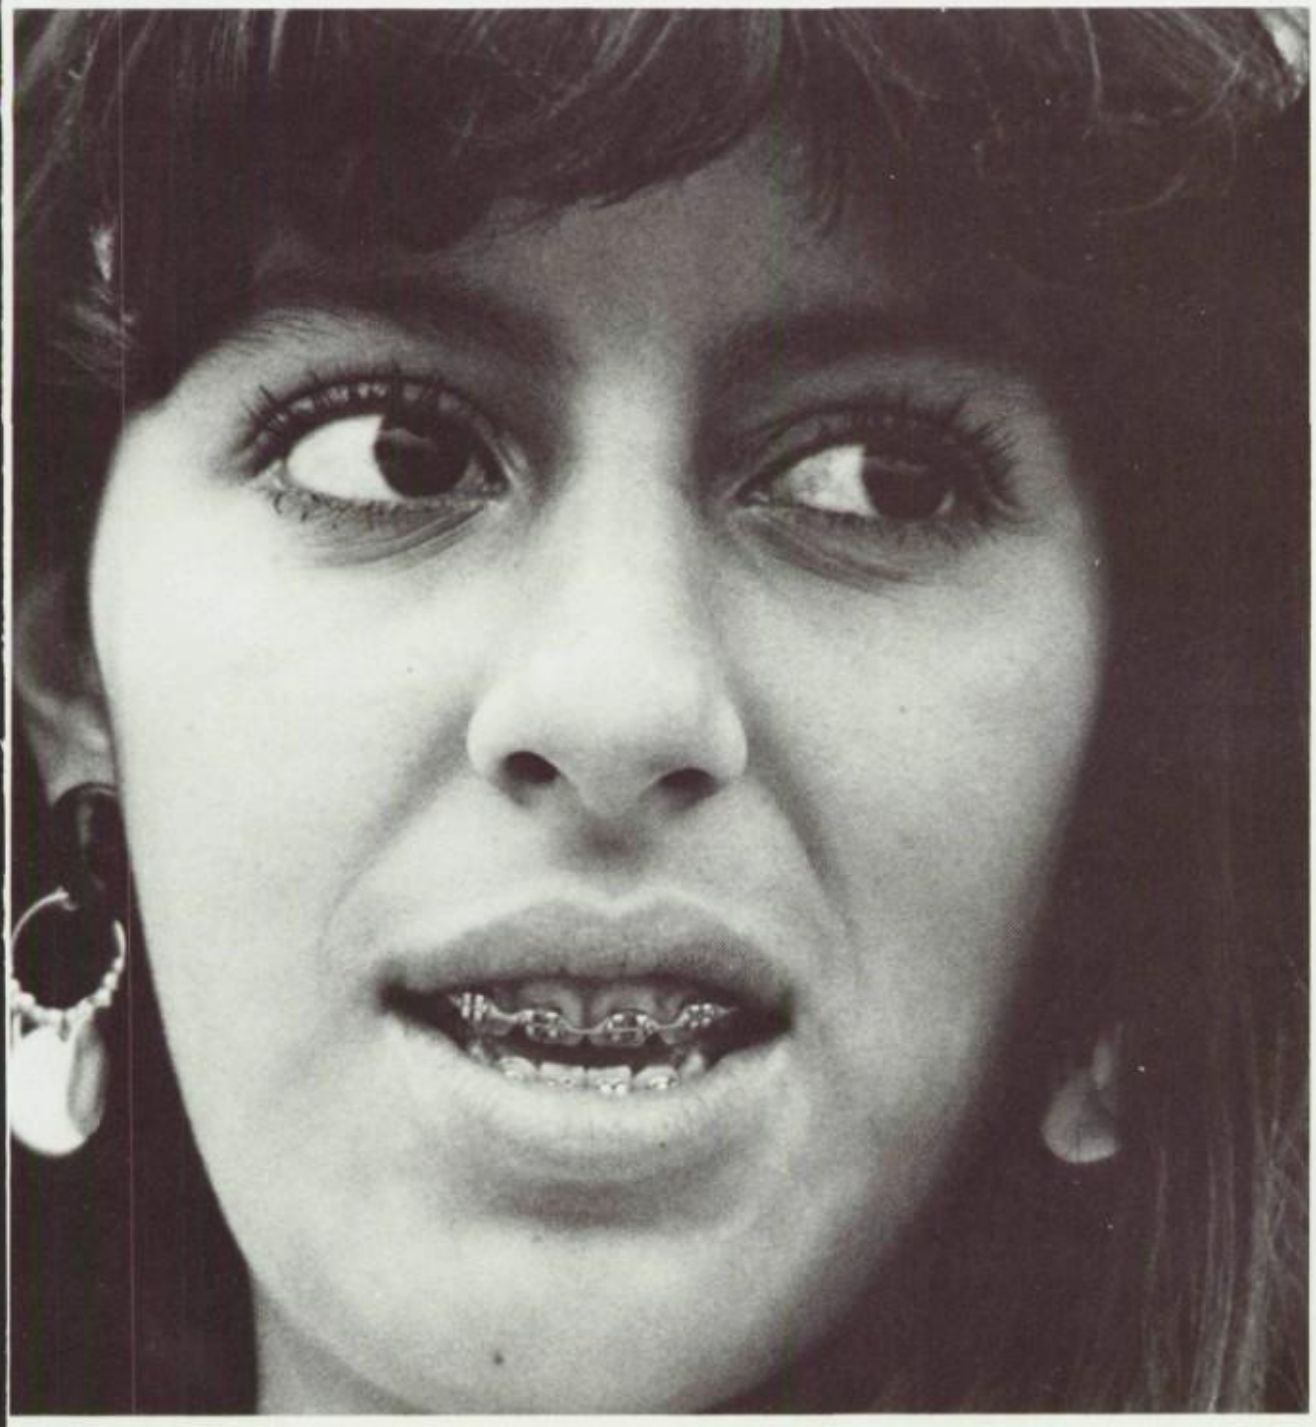
Daynna Cambio and Mike Wickersham could not believe what some Freshmen would actually do.

"We Had More Money Than Any Other Class."



Tracy Carrillo always had a happy outlook on life.

Erin Gruwell seemed to be in the spotlight this year due to the fact that she was the junior class president. She had a lot of responsibilities, including the Homecoming Dance, candy sales, a Bingo night, a basketball concession stand, TV shows and the Junior Prom. One of her most important responsibilities was raising money and organizing the special activities for a successful prom night. The elaborate prom night was held May 31st at the Newport Mariott Hotel. For those who attended, it was a memorable night.

Erin exclaimed, "I felt that the experience of being president last year and this year and being in A.S.B. has been great and has given me great ideas to do things differently!"

Aside from Erin's busy schedule with A.S.B., she was also an active member of cheer.

The class of '87 had an enjoyable year thanks to Erin. She also added that she would not have been able to do it without her excellent officers. What a true bearcat!

THE PSAT TEST

The time for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test had finally arrived. The junior class was preparing itself for this test, which is designed to evaluate aptitude in verbal and mathematical areas, with possible scores of 80 in each division for a total of 160. It also prepared them for the test they have yet to conquer-the Scholastic Aptitude Test. As Holly Danielson added, "it gave me an idea and a feel for what the SAT will be like."

The test was taken early Saturday morning on October 19, from 8:00-10:30 at Bonita by the juniors and sophomores who made up some of the million students who took the test. Those who were not used to getting up early on Saturdays had a tough time getting to the room on time to take the test. A lot of juniors were afraid to take it, but Stacy Trisch thought differently. "I heard that with the right attitude I would get through fine, so I went in thinking it was not a test. I guess I did alright." Most juniors felt relieved when it as was finally over and glad that they had taken it.

Many people did not take the test because they did not know the advantages the PSAT could offer. One of the advantages was that the scores were sent to some colleges. Heather Spriggs said, "It might help me get admitted to a good college of my choice."

The test was sent back to the students so that they could learn from their errors. Overall, the test was successful.

"I Feel Happy To Be Graduating."

The Junior section in rallies showed true Bearcat spirit.

Brandi Weed wasn't just another one of the crowd this year, nor any other year. To graduate from Bonita is a great accomplishment, but to graduate as a 15½ year old is astounding! Brandi did just that. In June of 1986, when the seniors walked down the aisle to receive their diplomas, Brandi was among them. She was quoted as saying, "I feel really happy to be graduating." For her to meet the graduation requirements at Bonita, Brandi had to take classes in English at La Verne College. Brandi also had to double up on some classes like algebra and geometry. When she was asked about what she might miss because she graduated early, she said, "I think I'll miss some of the social things, but I feel more comfortable with college kids, so I'm not missing too much."

Everyone must have noticed that the junior parking lot seemed to have been growing from Bonita. Not only did it seem to the juniors that their parking lot was moving away, but the number of seniors in the parking lot was also increasing. Angela Pipo said, "I felt like I had to hike a mile to get to my class."

The seniors may have been complaining about teachers invading their parking lot, but at least they were still close enough to see the school! Jordan Harrison expressed his feelings on the subject, "The seniors have their own parking lot-let them use it!" The juniors needed binoculars to find their cars after school. For those who had sports cars, the search was nearly impossible. "I had to wait for the whole parking lot to clear before I could find my car," said Leslie Endicter.

The suggestion was made by a few of the ingenious juniors for the school to purchase a tram. If this suggestion is turned down, the class of '87 suggests to upcoming classmen to buy a large truck for easy location! Krissen Mc Ginnis suggested, "The seniors should have a senior parking lot like before." Plans were made in October of 1985 for the parking lot problem to be solved by December of that year. A great sigh of relief was breathed by many.

Terri Bunker smiled even after her long hike from her car to the school.

Karilyn Trained 6½ Years

Marie Dominguez-keys in hand-and Tana Thon enjoyed being able to drive off campus to get lunch.

Karilyn Clark was a very special junior. She had a dynamic specialty-gymnastics. Since she was very young, Karilyn had a rigorous training program. Aside from her regular homework, which she was determined not to let suffer, she practiced on an average of 3½ hours a day, 6 days a week.

One inspiration for Karilyn was the well-known gymnast, Julianne McNamara. Julianne's style and attitude appealed to Karilyn and motivated her.

Karilyn's training and hard practice lasted for 6½ years, but an accident that occured during a practice shattered her dreams. Karilyn explains, "When I found out I had broken my back, I cried a lot. It meant I had to give up many dreams and goals I had for gymnastics." Those dreams and goals included possibly making the Olympics and qualifying for a college scholarship. Karilyn has many new interests though. She is presently enrolled in Dance class and is a songleader. "It is exactly what I wanted to do in place of gymnastics." She explains, "I needed something to keep me going and in shape!"

Sophomores seemed to have been quite active in Rally this '85-'86 school year. J.V. Cheer, Drill, and Tall Flags were swarming with sophomore participants. In previous years Junior Varsity Cheer had just six members; however this school year there were eight. The sophomores considered this a big step toward equality with the upperclassmen since this was the same number as on the Varsity Squad. Junior Varsity Squad included Heidi Copeland, Daryn Kelley, Jamie Lowe, Jodi Miller, Cindy Moreno, Mary Prestwood, Valerie Resendez, and Amy Scoolis. "I think it's great that they have given more people a chance to be on the squad," commented Mary Prestwood.

It seems that the sophomores had a strong hold on Drill Team, too. On a team of 10, there were 5 sophomore participants: Suzanne Allen, Donna Garland, Karin Gilbert, Kim Thompson, and Teresa Ware. With their determination the drill team has become a group the whole school could be proud of. "We have been working hard this year to improve our performances and to change our image," was a statement made by a proud Teresa Ware.

Tall flags were not exempt from the sophomore invasion. In a squad of 6 there was one sophomore member: Autumn Fagan. Though this is not an overwhelming majority, it is a percentage that displays participation. "I enjoy being on tall flags, I just wish more of my sophomore friends were on it, too," Autumn said.

This level of involvement proves that the class of '88 is an active, concerned one, which showed prosperity in future endeavors.

Cheryl Grandy is an accomplished member of the sophomore class. Cheryl began playing the violin when she was just 3½ years old. It was her parents that got her started, but it was her enthusiasm that made her good. Cheryl, having practiced the violin for twelve years, has done a couple of public concerts—though nothing extravagant.

In the 8th grade, at age 14, Cheryl Grandy began teaching the violin to others. In the fall of 1985, she had three students, ranging in age from seven to eleven years old. Cheryl finds teaching both fun and rewarding. "It can be (difficult) sometimes, depending on what we are doing," was her only complaint.

In the twelve years of playing the violin, Cheryl has tried to play other musical instruments as well. She took up the flute, but dropped it after 6 months of study. Grandy also tried her fingers at the piano. That, too, she gave up after a year.

Though there were times when Cheryl wanted to quit and throw in the towel, her mother kept her going. Cheryl does not plan to make the violin her career. As she says, "It's only a hobby." Why, one might ask, would a person spend twelve years of hard work on a hobby? Cheryl finds the answer simple, "I would rather work with computers than play the violin."

Sophomores were finally beginning to be accepted by the upperclassmen; there was one thing that still seperated sophomores from older students, however, and that was a lettermen's jacket. Sophomores were seen frantically trying to letter in all sports possible: cross-country, field hockey, football, tennis, track . . . For many students lettering became an obsession. "I'll do anything to letter in cross-country this year, even if it kills me!" was a comment made by Brian Hoffstadt. Many other sophomores were heard making comments very similar to this. "I want to letter so bad this year," was a sentiment expressed by Randa Pfeifer. "It's easy to letter, as long as you try," was cross-country participant Lisa Quinn's philosophy. It may have been a bit easier for girls to letter since there was less participation in girl's sports, but all letters were still honestly earned through a lot of sweat and determination. But then there were those who could not decide on where their athletic goals lie. "I want to letter, but I don't know what sport I want to try out for!" was Leslie Andersen's complaint at the beginning of the year, but shortly thereafter she chose soccer. All in all, sophomores did quite well in their pursuit of the ever-elusive letter, and their participation and spirit did wonders for the school's athletic program.

Sheryl Rush, who plays soccer in her free time, describes to Tiffany Ebert the new soccer play.

Daryn Kelley relaxes after a day of challenging college prep courses.

A survey taken in the late fall showed that the sophomore class was one of varied personalities, tastes, and appearances. The average height was shown to be five feet six and a half inches tall and the average weight was 131 pounds. An equal number of sophomores had blonde and brunette hair while only a smattering had red hair.

Sophomores had strong feeling as to their favorite things ranging from music to days of the week. The favorite day of the week was Saturday, with Friday close behind. Favorite bands included the Thompson Twins, The Beach Boys, Duran Duran, Iron Maiden, Tears for Fears, and Amy Grant. Movies that received the most responses were "Back to the Future", "Weird Science", "Breakfast Club", and especially, "Nightmare on Elm Street."

Sophomores seemed to have quite varied tastes which, when put together, created a distinct class style.

Sophomore year brought with it the crucial decision of choosing class rings. Masses of sophomores placed their orders as soon as they heard word of the sale. The craze for rings was attributed to their value as keepsakes. Rings also represented sentimental ties to students' alma maters.

The topic of discussion quickly changed from what to wear to Homecoming to comments concerning the class rings. Such questions as "What color stone do I want?" and "What should I have engraved?" were common issues discussed in numerous G.S.R. and Geometry classes. Rings varied in price from $70 to $210. Many students had to get jobs and give up a few Friday nights in order to work for the rings. But all in all, most felt it was worth it.

Anticipation mounted as the year passed and rings were expected. Many sophomores, like Jamie Lowe, whined, "I want my ring now!" This saying seemed to echo in the halls and classrooms where work was becoming secondary to dreams about the rings. When the rings did arrive, sophomores herded in to the ASB office to claim their newfound possessions. For the next few days rings appeared on finger and, for a few, around necks.

In all honesty, the sophomore year was pretty boring. Sure, some of the sophomores got their class rings, some participated in rally, and there was quite a bit of athletic support from the Sophomores, but let's face it—the year was spent waiting.

Sophomores were waiting to get their permits to drive—and then they waited to get their drivers' licenses. "I've got my permit, now I just have to wait for my license," Heith Crisp stated. This quote was told to all who cared—even those who didn't.

Sophomores got to take the PSAT, but they had to wait two more years to take the all-important SAT. "I just can't wait to take the SAT," was a sarcastical remark made by Steve Balian. His feelings were typical of many other sophomores.

Applying for college was still two years away. Many sophomores were still not allowed to date—not that they didn't . . . Sophomores still had to wait for prom, most still had to wait to play varsity sports, and they still had to wait for AP and honors classes. "I just wish I could be getting that extra grade point this year," was Katie Stiles feelings. For many, it was like being in a hole—waiting to be pulled out into the light.

It seemed that the waiting would go on forever before they were to be upperclassmen. By the end of the '85-'86 school year, sophomores became very anxious to begin the '86-'87 school year, in which they would finally be able to call themselves . . . UPPER CLASSMEN!

The transition from junior high, Ramona Intermediate to Bonita High School has been an entirely new experience for this Class of '89. Most had to make a few changes to adapt to "high school life."

Some of the many adjustments were very welcomed. Joining clubs and participating in sports allowed several freshmen to meet other people with the same interests. The dances were a lot better than the ones in junior high. Not only were the dances longer, but they were held more often. There were also more formal dances that gave freshmen a chance to dress up. Pep rallies were fun and exciting to attend. "Rallies are a neat way to show your school spirit," said Dana Pereira.

Then there are the changes that weren't quite as popular. One of the least favorite changes was the early time schedule. Many of the freshmen did not enjoy starting school at 7:45. "When you start school so early, no matter what you do, you can't help falling asleep in class," stated Scott Simmerok. Homework was another item that was not well liked. People had to set one or two hours away for their homework. "I have so much homework, I hardly have time for anything else," declared Audrey Considine. Saturday school was also not well received. The freshmen that were involved with afterschool activities had no other choice but to attend these special sessions.

Whether the changes were good or bad, they did add some spice to the life of many freshmen. Some of the changes kept many on their toes, while others were enjoyed.

Since coming to Bonita, many freshmen have noticed the countless number of clubs on campus. Many have also taken note of the excellent sports program at Bonita. After hearing about them from friends or the morning bulletin, several freshmen decided to find out more about the items that interested them. These activities gave freshmen an opportunity to exercise their athletic skills.

The clubs on campus each offered different things. People had to chose between these clubs. The future cheerleaders and rally members joined the Pep Club. The show business hopefuls chose to attend the Drama Club meetings. Then there was Future Business Leaders of America for the next generation of corporate executives. "At the Pep Club meetings, I learned a lot of time and preparation goes into sponsoring a dance," said Deanna Christensen.

Many freshmen were enthusiastic about joining various sports teams. Bonita's sports program had several teams designed for freshmen only. For instance, there was Frosh Football, Basketball, and Baseball. "I'm glad there are some teams for frosh only because you don't have to compete with the upperclassmen," said Jeff Gelfuso. In some situations there was no frosh team, but that did not stop them from trying out. "I tried out because I figured I had nothing to lose," said Jenny Gregg, refering to when she tried out for the Girls' Tennis team. The freshmen were well represented in a lot of the J.V. teams. There were many on Cross Country, Wrestling, Tennis, Field Hockey, and Soccer.

Freshmen enjoyed the activities that went on around them. They enjoyed their newfound responsibilities. Many were proud to represent Bonita.

Cindy Bilbao is a member of the drill team, which placed first in a competition with other local drill teams.

Showing school spirit has always been a favorite past time of Bonita High students. Cindy Bilbao plays an important role in representing the freshmen class during this acitivity. She is the only freshman that is a member of the auxilary units.

Cindy is a member of the drill team. She tried for the team the spring of her eighth grade year along with five other girls in her grade. "In the beginning, it seemed like a challenge to see if I would make the team," she said. The tryouts did turn out to be a major obstacle for most of the girls. Cindy was the only freshman to survive the trial period. "I never set out to become the only freshman on the squad," she continued, "I tried my best and I'm glad my hard work paid off."

Cindy's teammates reluctantly admit she does get a lot of the attention. "The freshmen look up to Cindy, while upperclassmen view her as the baby of the team," said Ida Ebersole. "When we perform at the games, she's the first one everyone notices," said Suzy Allen. "Being the only freshman on the squad has really given Cindy the spotlight," added Donna Garland.

"I joined the drill team because I thought it would be a new experience," Cindy said. "You get a feeling of satisfaction when you see that you've made other people smile." She adds that maybe she'll try out for something different like J.V. Cheer or Songleaders "for a change of pace" next year.

In every class, there are always a few people that excel in athletics. Ed Marquez is one of the many outstanding freshman athletes. He plays football, baseball, and soccer, while maintaining his grades. Ed is also a Class Representative for the freshmen class.

Ed began playing organized football the summer before his freshman year. He plays two positions for the frosh team, fullback and line backer. "I've always liked football, because, if you want to win, everyone has to work together," he said. Ed has shown many coaches and his teammates his talent by making several dazzling catches and interceptions.

Baseball and soccer are other sports Ed enjoys playing. In baseball, Ed plays all positions, including pitcher and catcher. He has played for the Little League All-Star team for La Verne for the past two years. "Baseball's a demanding sport to play, because there's so much involved with the sport," he stated. "You have to be able to hit and catch and show you can play your position well." Ed began playing soccer when he was seven. He made the Select Soccer team last year. He played the defensive position of sweeper for the team.

Ed has responsibilities that keep him busy. He maintains a G.P.A. of 3.5. He has several accelerated courses in his schedule. Besides having honors classes and practice in his schedule, Ed is also a Class Representative for the freshmen in Student Council. "Having a lot to do makes you notice how much responsibility you have," he observed.

Ed has aspirations to letter in football or baseball in the near future. While playing sports, he also hopes to keep up his grades and stay active in student government.

Marcy Baldwin, a member of the Chamber Singers, has aspirations to appear on "Junior Star Search."

The Class of '89 has many highly talented people. Some are excellent athletes, while others excel in academics. There are still others that are gifted musicians or performers. Among this group is Mary Baldwin, who is a promising singer/actress.

Marcy began singing seriously in the fourth grade. Since then, she has been a member of the "Troubadours", a selective and prestigous singing group at Ramona, for three years. While she was in this choir, the group went to Ohio representing the state in a national singing competition. At Bonita, she is a member of the Chamber Singers.

Marcy has been taking voice lessons for about two years. She is under the coaching of Carrie Solomon Schultz, who has appeared in the Broadway productions of "Sweeney Todd" and "Showboat." Marcy enjoys singing Broadway tunes and Pop Songs. "Carrie has been a real influence because she teaches about her experiences," she said. With her coach's help, she has an audition scheduled with "Junior Star Search" for an appearance as a female vocalist. She has also auditioned for "Fiddler on the Roof" at the San Bernardino Civic Center.

Marcy began having representation a year ago. "Although I have an agent, I don't begin having job interviews until I'm seventeen," she said, "Currently, I have sung at weddings and a couple of recitals."

She plans on making singing her career. "I plan on remaining in the school choir," she continued, "and then majoring in music when I go to college. I realize I have big dreams but I believe everyone should do the best to their ability."

Laurie Perez can't contain a fit of giggles when she hears another senior has left the car lights on.

For most of the freshmen, the first year of high school was not as horrible as anticipated. Everyone eventually learned to find their way around the campus. Many of the freshmen learned to avoid upperclassmen with things that ranged from lipstick to cars in their possesion. Also the teachers were not the monsters the freshmen heard they were.

The biggest challenge faced by the freshmen was finding their way around the school. For the first week of school, questions like "Where is the cafeteria?" and "Where is the 300 building?" replaced the normal conversation between friends. Slowly, but surely, the dazed and confused looks began to wear away.

The realization of how "dangerous" an upperclassmen could be did not take long at all. Lipstick and eye-shadow were the primary weapons aimed at freshmen during the first week of school. After the hazing stopped, freshmen became aware of the way the juniors and seniors were "driving". A walk across the parking lot became a nightmare for many freshmen.

Older brothers and sisters warned us of the "torture" our teachers would put us through. Tons of homework, the handing out of detentions by the dozens, and the millions of notes we would take were what they predicted. In the beginning, they were right. As the year began to pass, teachers became less demanding.

Freshman year was not as bad as most of us had thought it would be, but, for what it is worth, we would not go through it again.

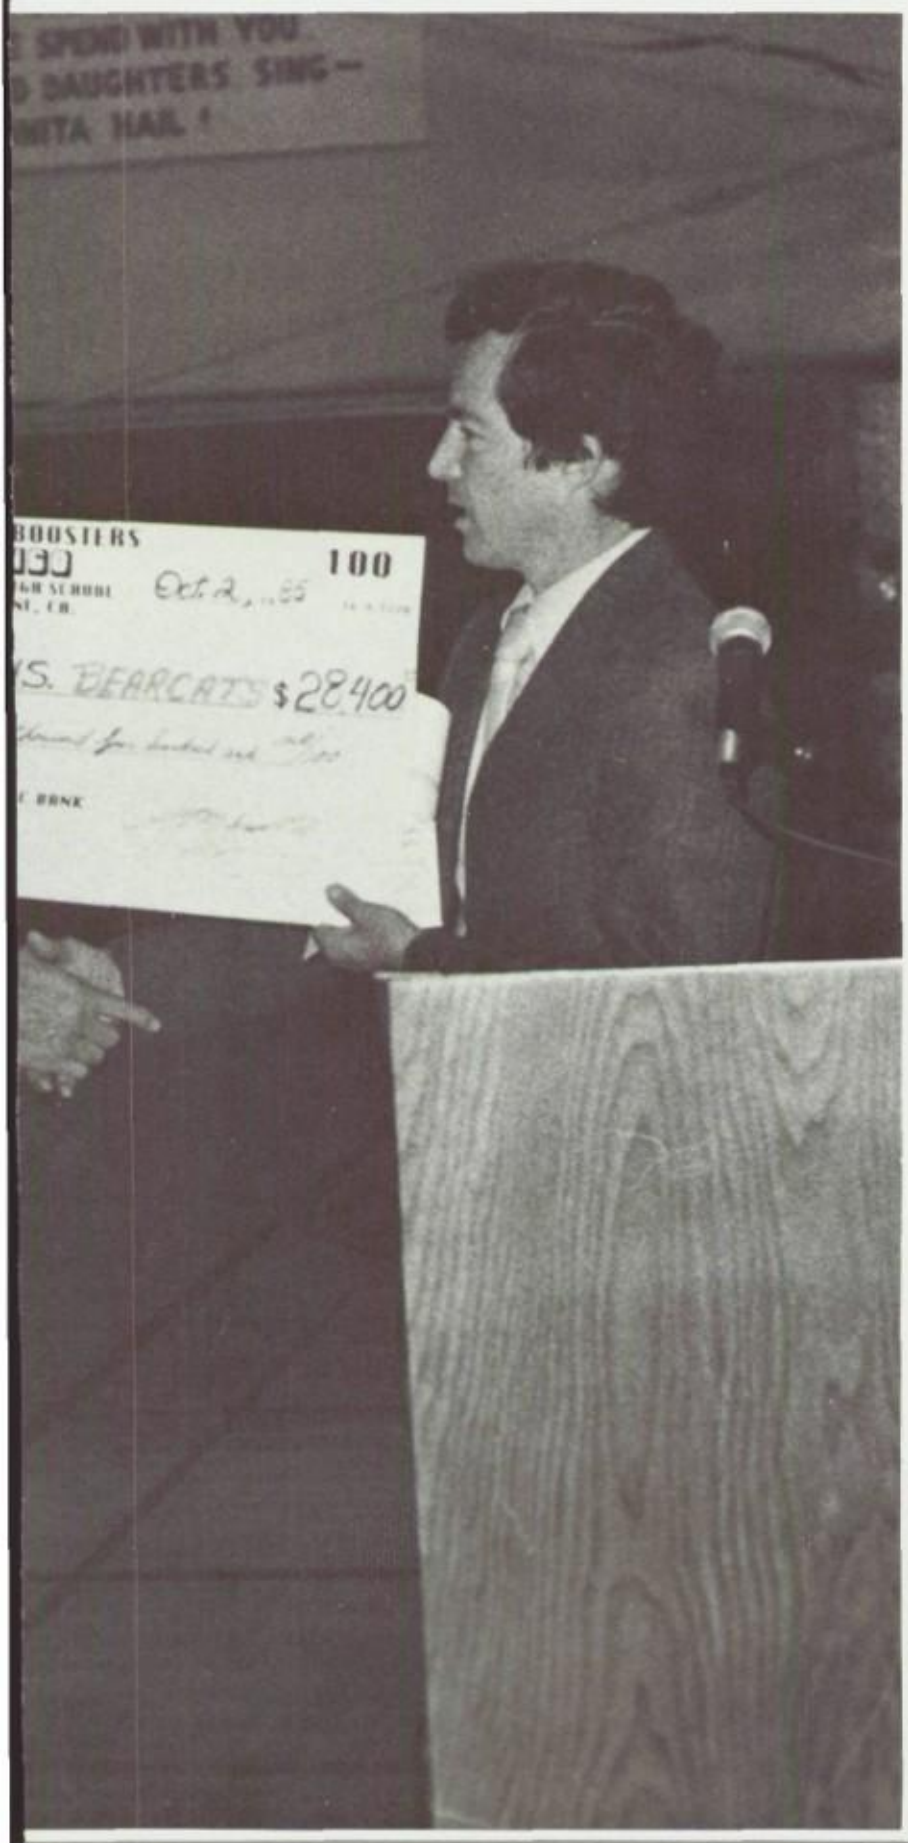
Administration

A Small Note!

This has been another fine year for Bonita High School. The students and staff continue to take learning very seriously. Grades, homework, term papers, tests, and quizzes have been a major part of student life at school. Dances, sports, assemblies, and making friends have also been an important part of student activities. Bonita is a friendly, positive environment. This is the tradition that has made Bonita great. I am certain it will continue as long as there is a Bonita High School.

Louis E. Rosen, Ph.D.
Principal

We owe a great deal to the administration because they have helped to shape what we are now and what we will become in the future. This year many new things took place, but with the administration's help, the changes were not difficult. They were behind the students all the way through their problems and decisions that had to be made. Thanks to our administration, the year '85-'86 was very successful.



Dr. Rosen, proudly accepts a check from the Bonita Booster's Club.

History

Around The World

The Bonita High School Social Studies Department was one to be proud of. This year there was a more personal aspect between teacher and student. Each year at Bonita, students are required to take a history class. The freshmen got their first taste of high school history in World History, World's People, or Youth and Law. California History was one class to be remembered by all. Not only was it fun, but the sophomores actually learned more about California. U.S. History, a junior requirement, was one of the most interesting social studies classes taught at Bonita. Bill Pope added, "It was fairly easy, a lot easier than I thought, actually." It was enjoyed by everyone, especially the classes taught by Mr. Turner and Mr. Regan due to their creative way of team teaching. Somehow, they managed to make everyday lectures worthwhile to listen to. AP U.S. History was a really tough one to keep up with, though. A touch of a college-level curriculum was added in it, too! One thing a lot of juniors like was the "Friday Follies", a sure way to learn more about the current news around the world. The final requirement was Civics - a class all seniors seemed to look forward to, especially the Constitution Test. Tony Pipo felt it was very educational, "It informed me of my rights." The class prepared them to be better voters and good citizens.

ENGLISH
All Four Years

English is a class which teaches students skills which they will use all their lives; therefore, it was the only class required of students all four years of high school. "Acceptance into college is weighed heavily upon English grades," said Mrs. Alexander. It is true that English teaches a person to think critically and logically, as well as how to write clearly and effectively. At Bonita High School, students were required to write a research paper every year. In nineth, tenth, and twelfth grades, English students review the work of Shakespeare. Eleventh grade students perform a detailed review of American literature.

Some students, however, had unfavorable opinions of the four-year English requirement. Londa Vanderbeck said, "It gets boring learning the same thing year after year." Sometimes, students were reviewing the same aspects of English over and over again, but this extensive study is what made most Bearcats extremely efficient in the English language. All students will have to live with English the entire four years.

Business

Reaching Their Objectives

"Business" is defined by Webster's Dictionary as being "an inclusive term specifically designating the activities of those engaged in the sale of commodities or related financial transactions." It also refers to it as "an immediate task or objective." Both definitions, however, are required to describe the Business Department at Bonita. The immediate objective of the Business Department was to instruct students on the world of commodity sales and financial transactions. Everything from accounting to stenography to the rapidly expanding field of computers was taught to all business-bound students again this year. Those who had problems telling their "bits" from their "bytes" could take one of the highly popular computer classes taught by Mr. Schelling and Mrs. Kord. Mrs. Kord, along with Mrs. Wolschon, Mrs. Hutchinson, and Mrs. West, also taught the painful typing classes, showing students how to twist their fingers and hands in strange, new ways they never thought before possible. Students elected to take one of the business classes for a variety of reasons. Some were considering entering the field of office occupations after high school. A few simply wanted to fill a fifth period. Said Kelli Baumunk, "The business classes are great because they're so useful later on." Whatever their reasons for originally taking the class, in the end, they were sure to have reached their objective and learned a great deal about the world of "business".

Mr. Schelling helped a number of students like senior, James Maiorana, with many complex computer programs.

Foreign Languages: New Cultures

Bonita High School had a very strong foreign language department. The school offered Spanish, French, and German, with Spanish being the most popular, although the other languages were steadily increasing in enrollment. In fact, approximately a third of the students at Bonita participated in foreign language study. Mr. Lopez, Spanish teacher, believed that the department was so successful because of "a big interest, dedicated teachers, and the district's respect and help."

The students also seemed to have a good attitude about the classes in the foreign language department. Doug Lightfoot said, "I'm glad that the school finally offered German."

One of the biggest reasons that the students thought the classes were fun was the skits that they did in their language. Students made up a dialogue and then performed it in front of their class. Mrs. Brechbiel's advanced French students even went as far as having an official contest with other faculty serving as official judges. The foreign language department has prepared numerous students to better communicate with, and more fully understand, the world.

Math

Wise Calculations!

The math program was very successful. A winning combination of teachers and students contributed to this. The teachers all had a lot of experience. Quite a few teachers tried new programs. As usual, all students in geometry had the opportunity to take the consumer math test, and many teachers drilled their students for the proficiency tests in March. Most math teachers learned some helpful hints from the district meeting in November. For example, Mrs. Brown found a helpful phrase: "The only thing you can't do is put a glove on over a mitten."

The students also contributed to the math department. Without their cooperation, the teachers' programs wouldn't work. Some students opted to take math courses throughout high school — all the way up to Ms. Charles' Calculus class. Senior Calculus student Missy Primus commented, "Math this year was challenging!" The classes were extremely hard for most — especially in the college prep courses. Randa Pfeifer, a sophomore, commented, "We have lots of homework." Phong Ta commented on the difficulty in his Advanced Math Class, "It's hard, but it was an awesome class!"

A few math teachers taught more than one subject, such as Mr. Drake who was Activities Director as well as an Algebra II teacher. Some teachers like Miss Brown taught many different math subjects, and not to mention being Pep Club Advisor. Any teacher who could handle such diverse schedules was great to have.

All students at Bonita should be proud of these fine teachers.

Science

Unknown Mysteries

The Department of Science at Bonita offers every aspect of science. It has a variety of different science classes that range from General Science to the very difficult Chemistry and Physics. Other offerings include Biology and Physical Science.

Students taking these courses soon realized they would face many obstacles throughout the year. Challenges, like an insect collection and the dissection of a fetal pig, surfaced for the Biology students. "Collecting insects was not only hard, but also really gross," Said Michelle Simmerok. The Chemistry students fearlessly conducted countless experiments with strange and possibly "harmful" chemicals. The Physics and Physical Science tried continuously to disprove the many laws and rules that they learned about, such as Newton's Laws of Gravity. The General Science students were faced with many obstacles. This is because this class worked with the basic elements of every science. It covered the periodic table (chemistry), dissected the earthworm (biology), and learned the essential laws of matter (physics). "The General Science classes are designed to teach students a little of each science, to help them decide what to pursue next," said Mr. Sacks.

Bonita students are all required to take two years of a laboratory science. After the two year struggle, students are encouraged to continue their studies in science. Bonita offers Dr. Scott's classes in Chemistry and Physics for the ambitious scientists of the future.

Shop
Learning New Skills

Auto Shop, Drafting, and Woodshop are the interesting classes offered by the Department of Industrial Arts at Bonita High School. The classes help students to expend their interests and creativities. By taking the classes, students improve their mechanical skills and knowledge.

Students in Auto Shop learned how to use various tools and machines needed in a mechanical occupation. They practiced on teachers' or friends' cars to gain experience. Quite a few students became excellent machanics by the end of the course.

Drafting is the course for all the future architects. Students learned the basic concepts and drafting techniques. The practices are the perfect preparations for going to professional career. As Lisa Hong, one of the students in Drafting, replied, "This class assures me that architecture is a very interesting and fascinating field to go in to."

Woodshop students made many marvelous creations. With their imaginations, skills, and knowledge, they created many incredible projects which are their to keep. Enjoying the fun of being able to make anything they desire was the main reason that makes the class even more interesting.

Students in the classes had not only learned the skills and knowledge, but built up their confidence as well. They became accustomed to cope with everyday mechanical and home improvement problems. Headed by Mrs. Castro, Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Wilcox, the Department of Industrial Arts had given students the chance to learn to deal with the little irritations in their lives.

The group of future mechanics are proud to be part of the Auto Shop of Bonita High School.

Helps In Life!

The Department of Home Economics offered many classes that helped students to put their interests into real actions. Child Care, Child Development, Foods, Relationships, and Sewing are just a few of the classes. These classes have attracted many students because of the interesting subjects that are taught, also because students can easily relate the knowledge and skills they learn to real life.

Students learned to conquer problems like crying babies, ripped skirts, sticky rice, and much more. Headed by the two excellent teachers, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Dole, students worked with enthusiasm and ambition. The frustrations of running into problems, constantly, at the beginning of the courses were always outweighed by the satisfaction of successful production after long hours of hard work. Students in Foods were able to prepare a delicious and nutritious meal. Sewing students were proud to show off their new clothes that they made with little expense. As Dinna De La Piedra replied, "I just love the wonderful feeling of finishing a dress that I have been dying for and couldn't get it all by myself!" Other students in Child Care, Child Development, and Relationships, learned how to take care of children, deal with relationships, and handle everyday problems. All the students who had taken part in Home Economics learned how to become well adjusted individuals for the future.

A Little Of Everything!

Other than the regular classes at Bonita, there is some special classes as well. Some of these classes include, Modern Dance, Physical Education, Weight Trainning, Boys' and Girls' Sports, and RSP.

Mrs. Beer-Kerr helps to teach girls to dance. This class is one of the most popular elective classes for girls at Bonita. Through determination and hard work, girls are exposed to the world of dancing.

Physical Education is a manditory class that Bonita students must take. Boys' and Girls' Sports were offered sixth period to all the real sports-minded people. Weight Training is another popular elective offered to boys at Bonita. When "Mr. Buff" Delion Cummings was asked what he thought about the class and he said, "I think the class is excellent, it gives me a chance to unwind and let loose."

RSP classes were offered to those who needed a little more help and attention to meet the school requirements in order to graduate. These classes were taught by extremely caring people who wished to show how important students are to them.

A special thanks is given to our library for its constant efforts to improve our minds and our academic resources. For without Bonita's library, students would not be able to find the added information they needed for so many classes.

Office Employees:

Help Run The School

The Office employees, as usual, did a great job. Their help with attendance, finance, and ability kept Bonita on her feet. Without them, the administration at Bonita would be in chaos.

Mrs. Kibbe, head of the Finance Office, did an excellent job. Her cooperation with the Yearbook Staff and ASB greatly helped the school.

Mrs. Collier did a great job at being a good receptionist. Countless students interrupted her phone conversations, and yet, she always kept in a cheery mood. She was always willing to help.

Attendance this year dealt with a change. The re-admit policy was changed — no re-admits were issued after lunch on any day. Their patience with students added to the school.

Also this year, a nurse was not on campus. Thus, leaving the responsibility to somebody else.

The office workers really kept the office and school going this year.

Unique People

Bonita High School couldn't have operated without the aid of the Support Staff. These unique people kept the pace of Bonita High going. Their jobs ranged from proctoring to working in the cafeteria.

The proctors' jobs were to keep an eye on the Bonita campus and the passing of students on and off the campus. They did an excellent job, as usual. Many students befriended them over the school year. This was attributed to their great personalities.

The cafeteria workers also did an excellent job in serving the school. Without their dedication, many students would have to go without lunch. They were very efficient and friendly. We were sorry to see Bee Dallas retire after many years of service to the district. Custodians at our school this year did a great job keeping Bonita's campus clean. They have worked around the clock to keep the large campus clean — even during the messy fall.

Does It With Style!

The school publications staff tried to accomplish great aspirations. The staff wanted to show a side of the school many people take for granted. The styles, people, and times of this year were all taken to thought and employed in every aspect of the Echoes yearbook.

But school publications isn't just work. There is a lot of fun involved, too! Many people enjoyed both writing for the Bearcat, designing pages for yearbook or even both. This year, the staff also took on the personalities of the people in it. Whether it was jokes, dancing in class, or singing loudly, it was fun! Not to mention the chair races that took place, and the loud arguements over stupid matters — it was all worth it!

For some, it was a step in their career goals, while for others it was an exciting way to become involved in school life.

The yearbook was headed by Co-editors, Jay Wilkinson and Lisa Pallas, with the newspaper being led by editor, Scott Lundgren and asst. editor Dexter Kim.

Many people thought that yearbook/newspaper was only for people with a journalistic background. But this was not true. Most of the people that joined this year were taught in class the needed skills to perform yearbook/newspaper jobs. Many people came to see Mrs. Schutz and were accepted onto the staff. They were trained in class and really enjoyed the chance of a lifetime.

Robin Dulaney, Sally Liu, and Lisa Pallas, who normally danced and sang in class, were actually doing work.

To Study Or Not To Study: That Is The Question.

One of the main purposes of going to school is studying to be a better and more knowledgeable person. Through studying, one enriches his or her mind and strengthens his or her ability to deal with important matters.

For some people, studying has been developed as a habit. Others consider studying as another name for headache. Students at Bonita, for example, have many different ways of studying. Some students, such as senior Ron Pfeifer, wisely get all of their studying done before they do anything else; they can enjoy themselves without guilt afterward. Others, like Yvette Saavadra, try to put off their homework for as long as possible. Many use alien devices to aid in their studying, "I study with the radio on," said Susan Gilmartin, a sophomore. Other favorite study aids include televisions, telephones, and friends.

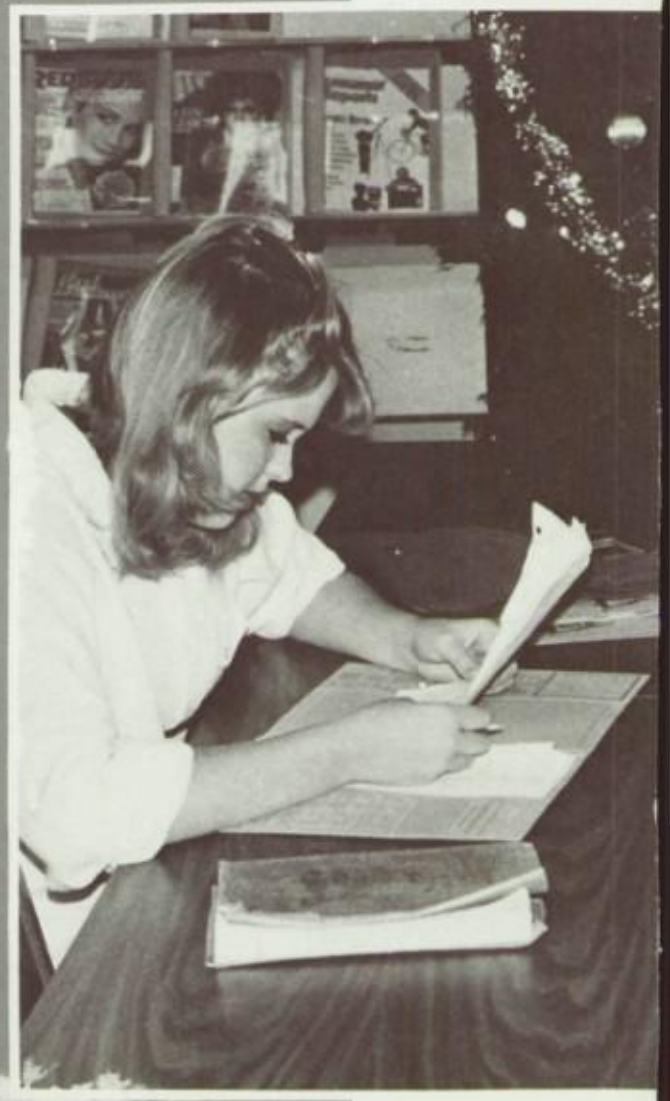
Using studying is a great way to enrich one's mind. This does not mean to study all the time, without break, but to budget one's time wisely in order to learn many new things. The Bonita Style of studying is one in which sufficient studying time is balanced with fun and relaxation.

Why Tests?

Tests are faced by all students in all classes at Bonita High. Most people hold their own varied opinions on the importance of them; some value tests while others cannot stand them.

Teachers have their own unique thoughts about tests, yet most share the belief of giving them regularly and without mercy. Mr. Johnson, who teaches California History among other things, commented, "Test are necessary for evaluation purposes." Social studies teacher Mr. Turner also believes that "Tests are the only way to evaluate what students have learned." Students also have strong feelings about test taking. Junior Mike Ashman spoke for many when he said, "Tests always seem to ask questions you don't know." Some even believe tests are trivial and totally irrelevant to the subject at hand. Some students do not mind taking tests but wish they would not account for so much of a grade. David Maurer remains firm in his conviction that "Tests let you know where you stand, but other than that, they suck." A few, on the other hand, wish that exams played a bigger role in some classes; senior Missy Primus said, "I wish Ms. Moga wouldn't base almost our entire grade on research papers — We never have any tests!"

Tests are faced by all students. Vocabulary, spelling, and literature tests are favorites in the English department. Essay and multiple "guess" tests are common in social studies classes, and math test are generally calculation tests. Whatever the style, tests are challenging methods by which most students earn their grades. In closing, Brian Hoffstadt made an observation. He said, "A controversial issue in the '80's is prayer in school; but as long as there are tests in school, there will be prayer in school also."



What Is In A Grade?

What's in a grade? Or a test score? In other words, is too mch emphasis placed on the importance of grades? For some, high achievement in school is a way of life. For others, school is just the big waiting room — a place to bide their time and maybe read a fun magazine until it's time to move on to bigger and better things. Basically school, in general, is what one makes of it, and so in many respects, the difference between a "good student" and a "bad student" is all very relative. A computer scantron test could hardly be called an accurate guage of a person's IQ. A high score could mean a variety of things: first, that the person is extremely bright and is capable of retaining a good deal of knowledge, that a person stayed up very late that night before pouring over the information, or third-and most likely-that a person was able to etch the answers on the back of his head during the night. As a result, such a test, and the grade it created, is not so much an indication of one's intelligence, but rather of his study habits.

So just what's in a grade? Actually, there's a great deal. A good example that could be given is report cards. One, most likely, would have a difficult time explaining to one's parents that because "good" students are only relative, so was failing physics class. Most colleges won't look at a person's GPA in terms of his student relativity factor. So, it can be seen that, in terms of the real world, grades carry tremendous importance and are an integral part of any grade-minded student's life. While grades may not necessarily measure intellect, it can give one a good assessment of one's dedication and integrity.

With this idea in mind, it can clearly seem that there is alot in a grade. In order to reach one's goal and attain a fulfillment of one's potential, one must strive to achieve a certain balance between intellect and hard work. A "good student" is, in effect, one that realized this fact and does accordingly. He is one that recognizes the need for such a balance and knows instinctively that grades aren't everything. They're the only thing.

Tina Kocoglo and Jackie Alkas worked together to complete their math homework so that they could get good grades.

Anna Cole studied English during lunch.

Kim Beam and Shay Warren avidly worked to finish their English essays due the next period.

A Cast In A Cast

"The show must go on!" The drama department had yet another exciting and successful year despite hardships experienced early in the year. The fall production of David and Lisa was forced to struggle through a number of difficulties such as the dropping of a number of cast members due to eligibility. The play featured Kerry Carr, Doug Lightfoot, and Jay Wilkinson in the starring roles and overcame this problem as well as many others on its way to becoming a tremendous success. The drama club also performed a number of one-act plays such as The Real Inspector Hound, The Fifteen-Minute Hamlet, Do, and The Early Frost, one of which was performed at the University of La Verne One-Act Festival, and the spring production of Charlie's Aunt. Drama members spent a great deal of their spare time outside of class after school and during lunch learning how to set up props, use lighting equipment, and making costumes as well as learning lines. Said senior and three-year drama member, Robin Dulaney, "Drama's fun because it allows different kinds of people to work together without any social barriers."

Jay Wilkinson and Robin Dulaney portrayed Dr. Alan Swinford and Mrs. Clemens, respectively.

The cast of the fall production of David and Lisa.

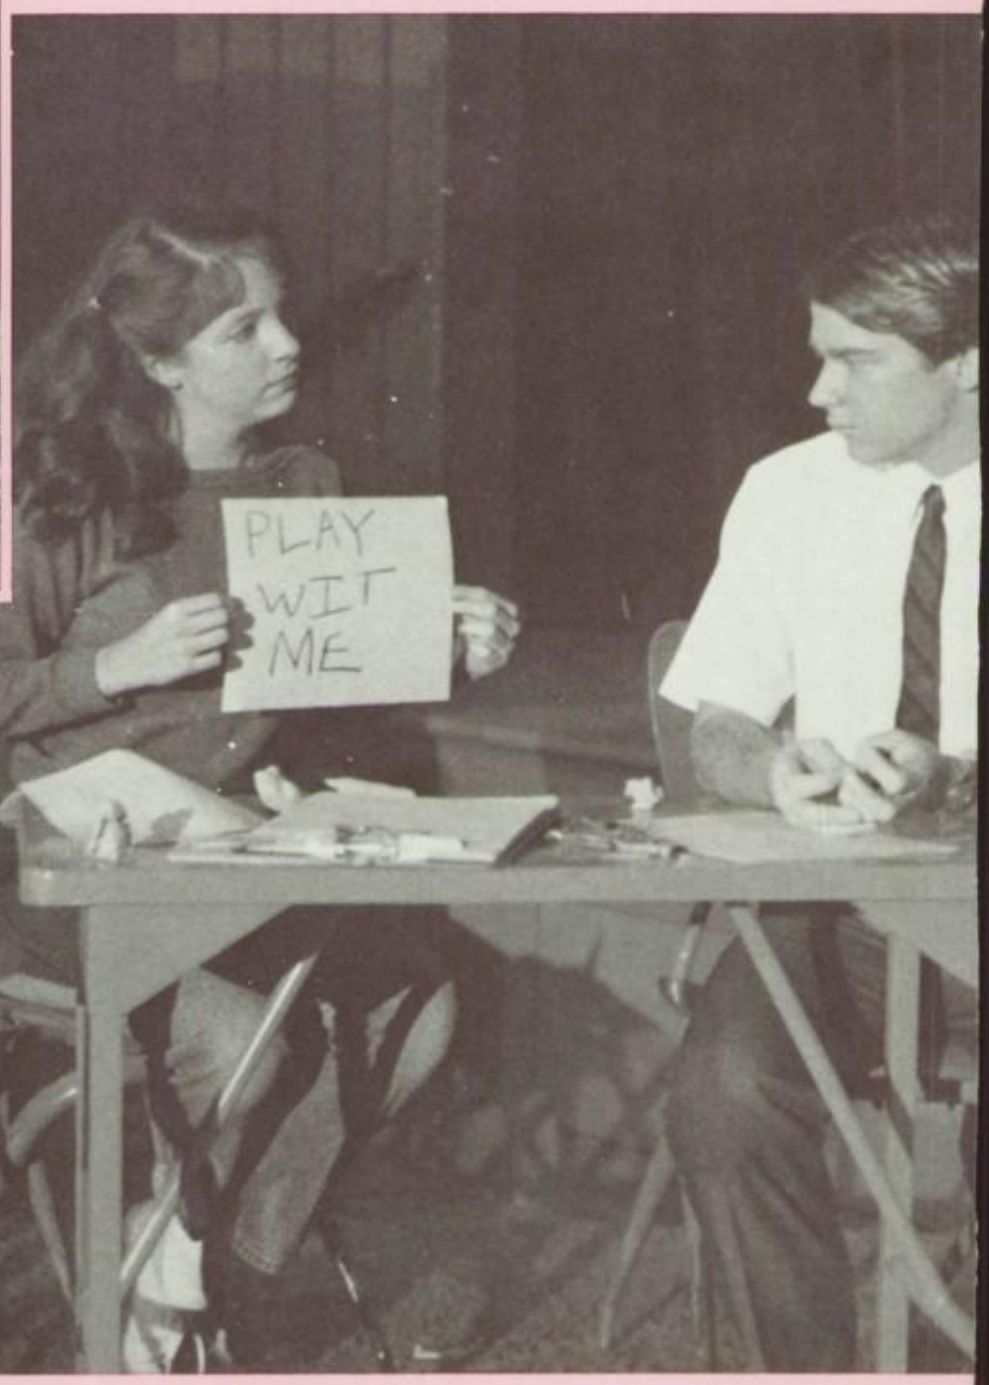
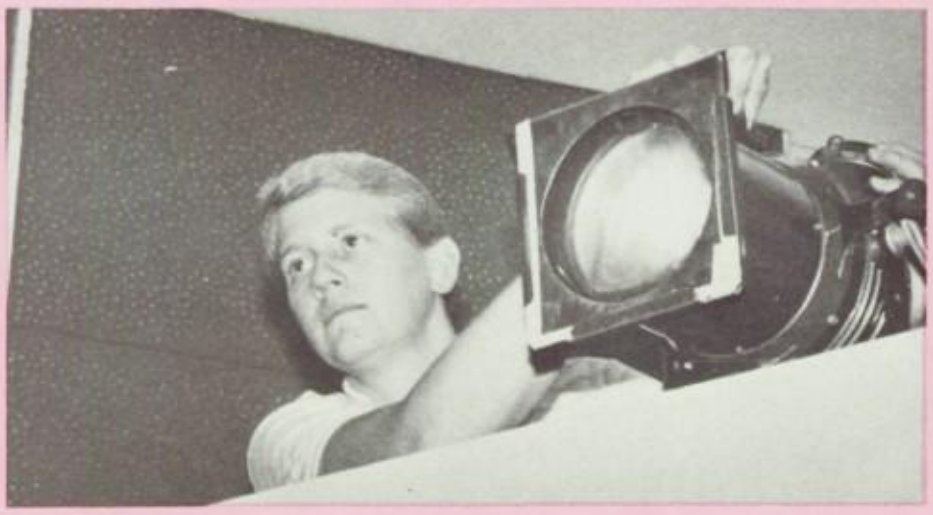
Kerry Carr and Doug Lightfoot, both seniors, are both members of the Bonita Honor Drama Society.



Kerry Carr starred in the role of Lisa Brandt, a schizophrenic with two separate personalities.



Scott Lundgren, senior, like many other cast and crew members, helped with many backstage chores such as lighting.

Crew members, Ariana Makau and James Mc Keehan, spent a great deal of spare time building and painting the set.

The drama department reenacted nativity scene with the help of the dance classes at the Christmas assembly.

Dance To The Music

The Bonita dance class was one of the most popular electives for girls. The classes were taught by Ms. Beer-Kerr in second, third, and fourth period.

These classes taught the fundamentals of ballet and modern jazz. Girls learned the five positions of ballet, arabesques, grand jetés, as well as such jazz movements as pirouettes and intricate jazz steps.

Ms. Beer-Kerr, being an accomplished dancer, enjoyed teaching dance and her feelings were shown through her students. The students had fun despite all of the hard work. Strenuous exercises and numerous situps, as well as plies, does not add to the fun, but the girls enjoyed the rewards they received in accomplishing double or triple pirouettes, or simply just in getting a tough combination. Without the hard work, they wouldn't receive any satisfaction in a job well done.

The dance classes' work does not, however, go unnoticed. A recital is held each year for parents, friends, and admirers of the art. The girls must try out for the parts in the show which they wish to have. This adds an extra amount of true competition to the stage fright. This year's recital was a fundraiser held in March. The dance classes performed half of the time, and the other part of the show was dedicated for the En L'Air Dance Troupe.

Jeannine Sheldon said, "Ms. Berr-Kerr taught us that your body is an expression of the music. And to achieve success you have to sweat a lot." And sweat is what they do! Everyone was happy because of the fact that Ms. Beer-Kerr got a new stereo system. This really helped classes to hear the music and become a part of its expression. To all of the dance classes, "A job well done!" And a special thanks to Ms. Beer-Kerr for preserving a great art!

The girls are in their preparation pose waiting for the music.

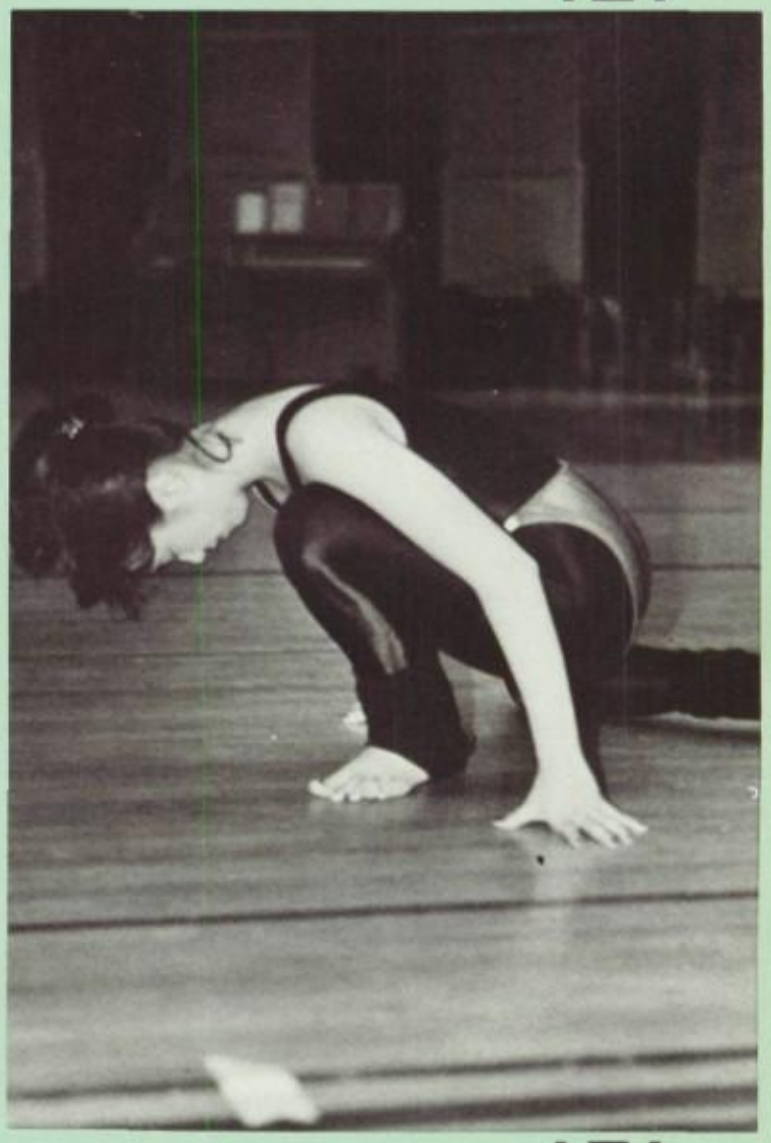
Amy Schadt has been taking dance lessons since she was a little girl.

Every girl worked hard in dance class.

They sweat because of hard practices, but they enjoy it.



Missy Lee performed in the special Christmas Assembly.

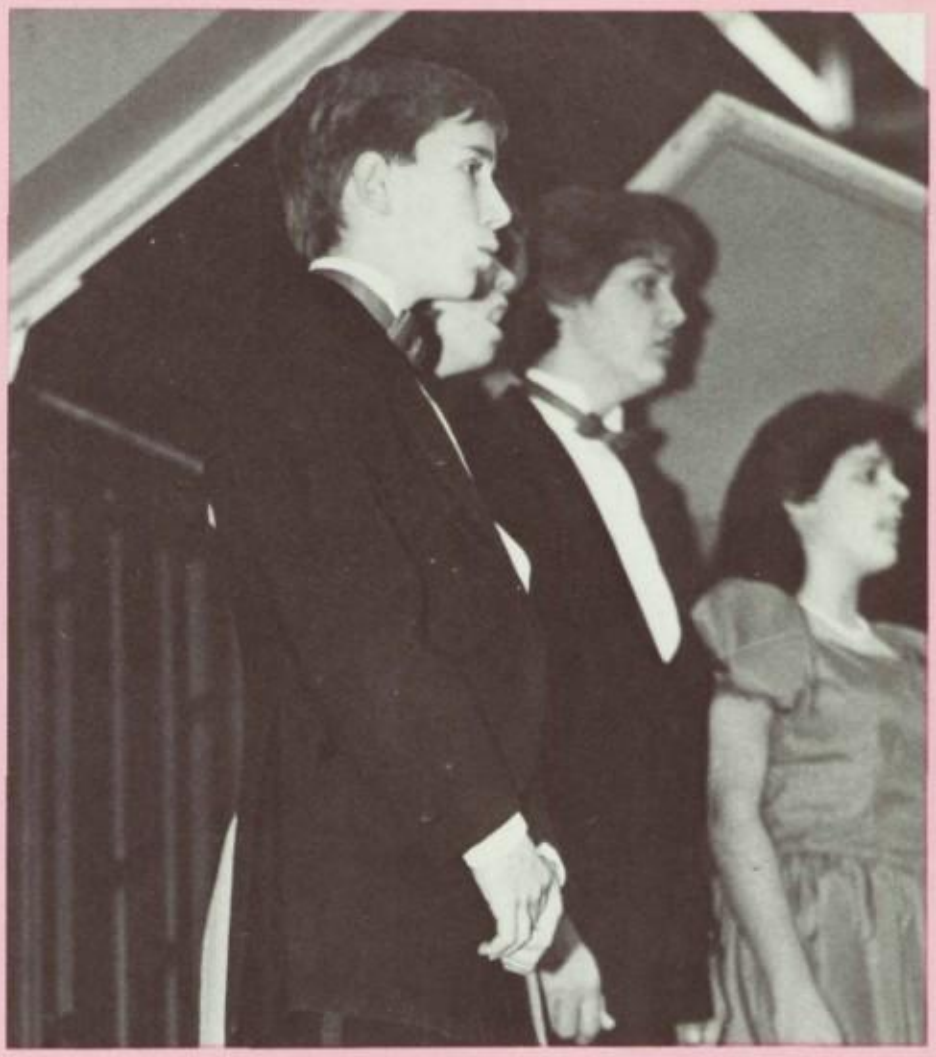
The girls love to dance to their favorite music.

Singing With Style

Chamber Singers was a group of Bonita's most promising and talented singers. Todd Helm, the director, held auditions for the group each spring. After those who were interested had auditioned, Mr. Helm chose between twenty and thirty of the best singers to be in the group.

In addition to meeting as a class, the group also managed to schedule about fifty concerts a year, including ones that feature classical music, Christmas carols, and pop songs. The Chamber Singers appeared at various places such as Disneyland. They performed regularly around the vast La Verne - San Dimas area. In April, the Chamber Singers went to San Francisco to represent Bonita in a classical music festival competition with other chamber groups from Northern California.

Concert Choir was another prestigious singing group at Bonita. The group, which was also directed by Mr. Helm, did not require any audition or any previous singing experience to join. "We encouraged anyone who enjoys singing to become a member of Concert Choir," said Mr. Helm. "The only prerequisite for this group was enthusiasm and interest." Although the group did not perform as often as the Chamber Singers, Concert Choir did manage to schedule about twenty concert appearances a year.



Jonathon Harrisson, a freshman, sang in the Chamber Singers with plenty of enthusiasm.

The Chamber Singers performed at various places in California including Disneyland and San Francisco.

The Chamber Singers enjoyed singing a cappella and with piano accompaniment.

Ann—
Thanks for all your help & enthusiasm this year. Congratulations on Chamber S
See you next year!
Jeff

Concert Choir put a lot of effort and energy into another fine performance.

Laurie Green, a soccer team member, and Susan Wallace, a senior, sang soprano.

Mr. Helm directs both Concert Choir and Chamber Singers.

Concert Choir members await nervously for the concert to begin.

Speaking Up

Bonita students are very fortunate to have different aspects of each subject offered to them. Speech, with Mr. Clague as the instructor, offered a new prospective of the audio department of English.

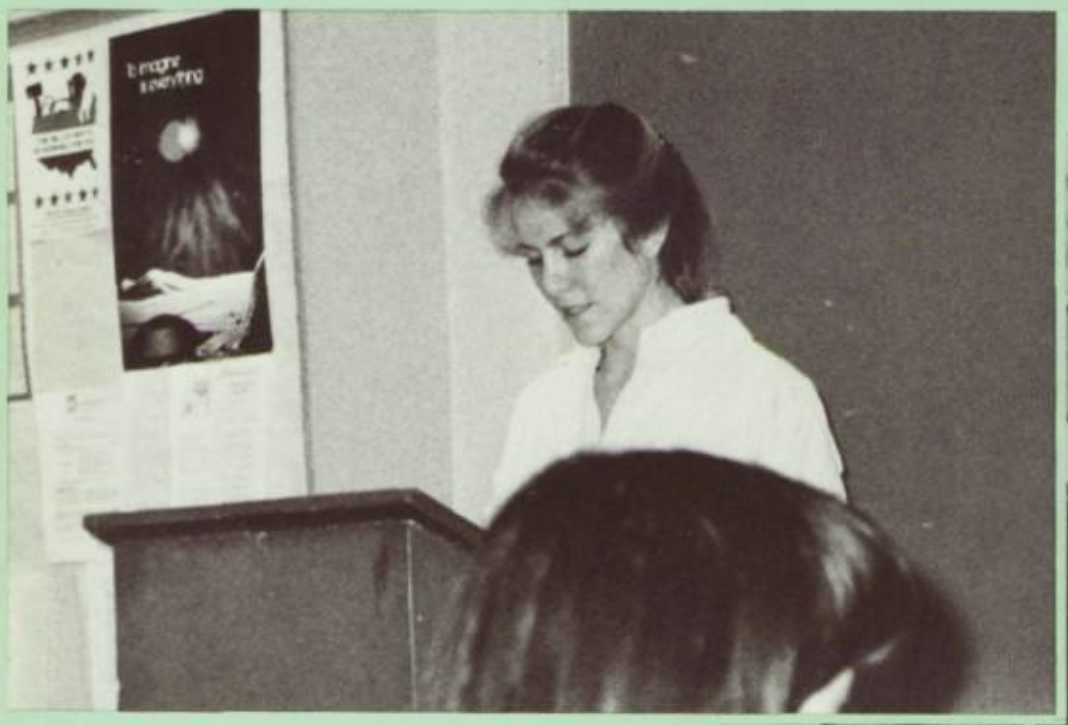
The course was designed to teach students a variety of ways to approach, prepare, and present a speech topic. Before the students gave their speeches, they were required to do extensive research into their subject matter. They tried to find as much information about their topic as possible. When the students finally gave their speeches, Mr. Clague took notes of the speeches' weaknesses and strengths, and gave the students his responses. "With the notes, I hope the class will be able to work on the flaws and build on the strengths," said Mr. Clague. In addition to speeches, the class gave dramatic readings and staged debates.

Mr. Clague feels speech is a very useful course, It exposes the students to the three types of speeches; informative, demonstrative, and persuasive. It also helps students become more comfortable and confident when speaking in front of a large group of people. "No matter what you do in life, there will be times when you'll have to speak in a group," said Mr. Clague. "If you want people to believe you, you have to prove that you believe it first."

Students who took Speech felt it was an interesting class. "It's great to have feedback from your teacher and your friends," said Kristi Dyer.

The Speech class at Bonita has been a good experience for everyone that has taken the course. It provided students with a chance to voice their opinions and express their thoughts.

Kristi Dyer, ASB president, gave all her enthusiasm to her speech class.



Speech class is an excellent place to voice one's opinions, especially in the case of Debbi Condiff.

Mr. Clague, besides teaching speech, is also the head of the drama department.

City government was the topic Randall Gray presented to his speech class.

Ralph Jimenez dressed up to demonstrate "How To Dress for Plant - Collecting".

Alice Lee gave an informative presentation on lung cancer.

Graffitti Arts was the topic of Kim Juline's speech.

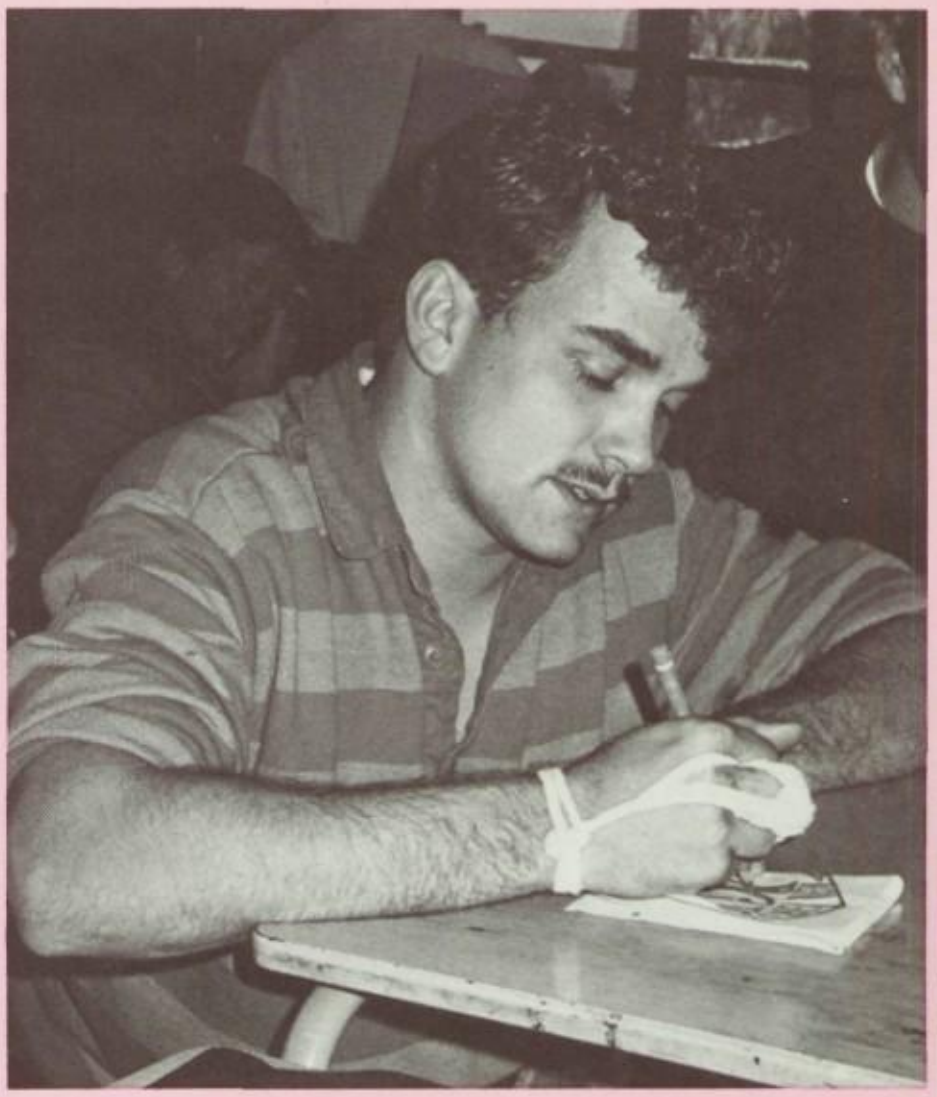
Artistic Expressions

The Art deparmtnet kept up with Bonita's creative reputation. Basic drawing and painting techniques, pastels, watercolors, and other medias were taught and experimented with. Mr. O'Connell, the beginning and advanced art teacher, enjoyed this year as much as any: "I love it here!"

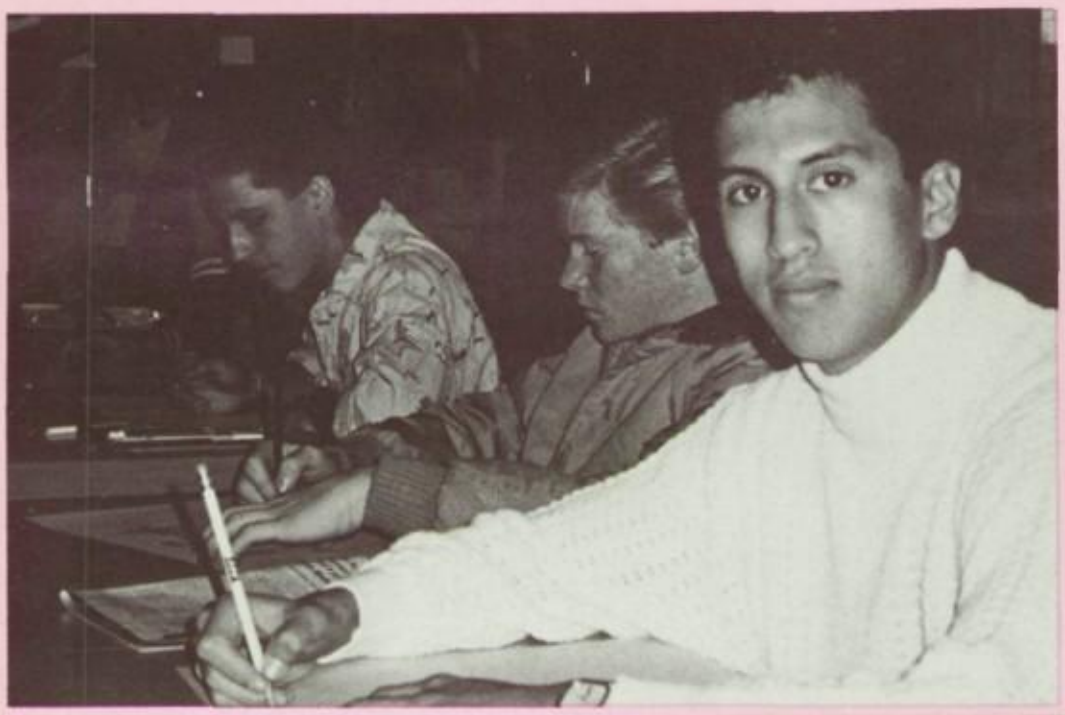
The talent shown by Bonita students was truly exceptional. Many in the art classes had adept skills for the arts. In the past, several Bonita students have gone on to Otis College — a very prestigous college of the arts. Others may not have had special talent, but their effort and enthusiasm made up for it.

Throughout the year, students worked on learning to express on paper how they felt. These feelings that were interpretted were always unique. The important thing about art is to make the audience see and feel what the artist does. The students worked on this and most were extremely successful. Besides painting on paper, the students have designed and painted murals on the student union and in the art classrooms. The students in Bonita's art classes entered art contests throughout the year. Bonita also has a reputation for placing first, second, or third in many of these contests.

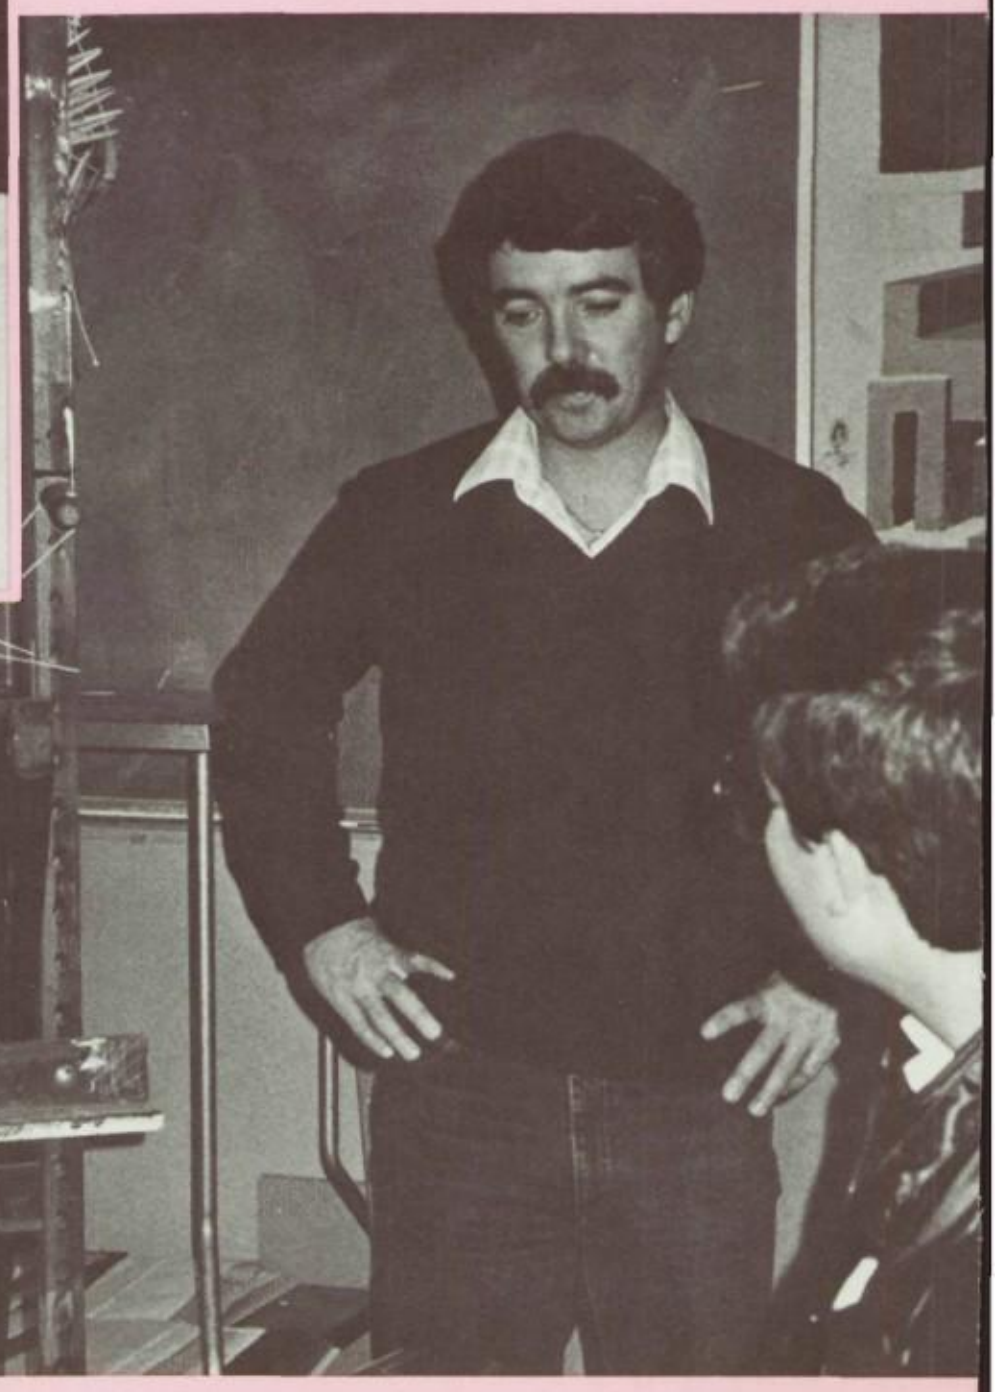
All in all, the Bearcats have shown their artistic abilities time and again, and the '85-'86 year was no exception.



Doug Kriezel worked earnestly on his art project.



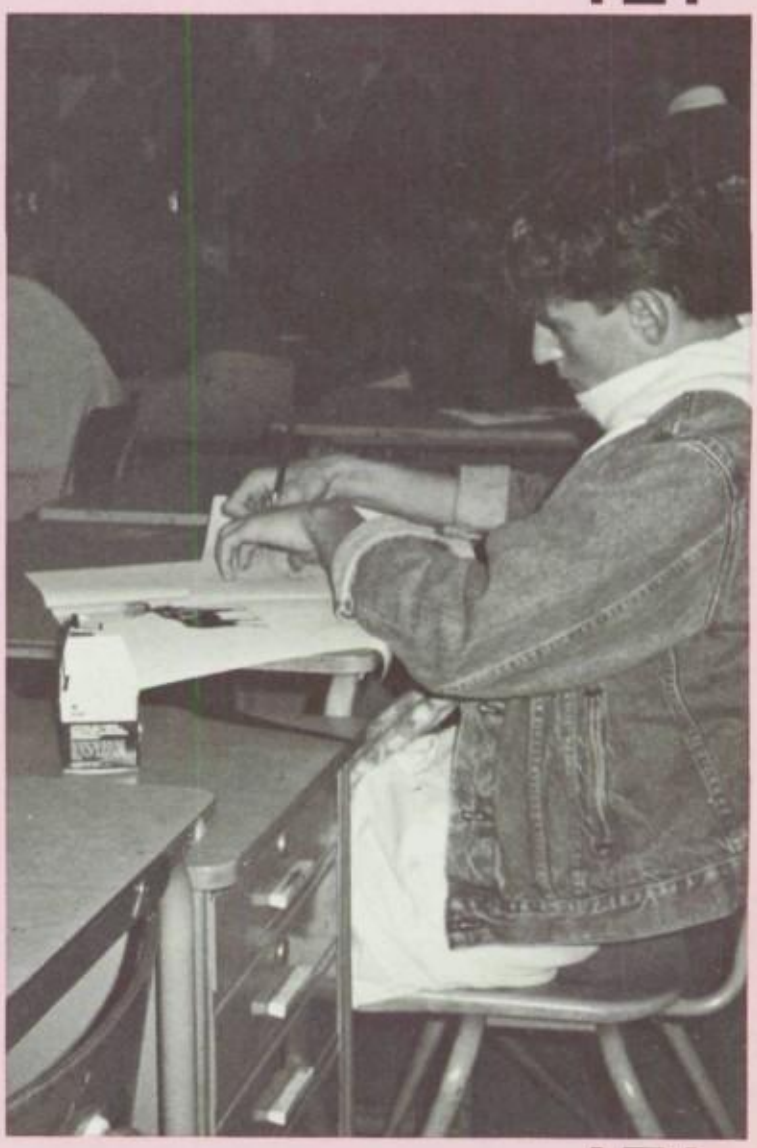
Ricardo Perdomo, a known athlete and artist, had another successful year in art.



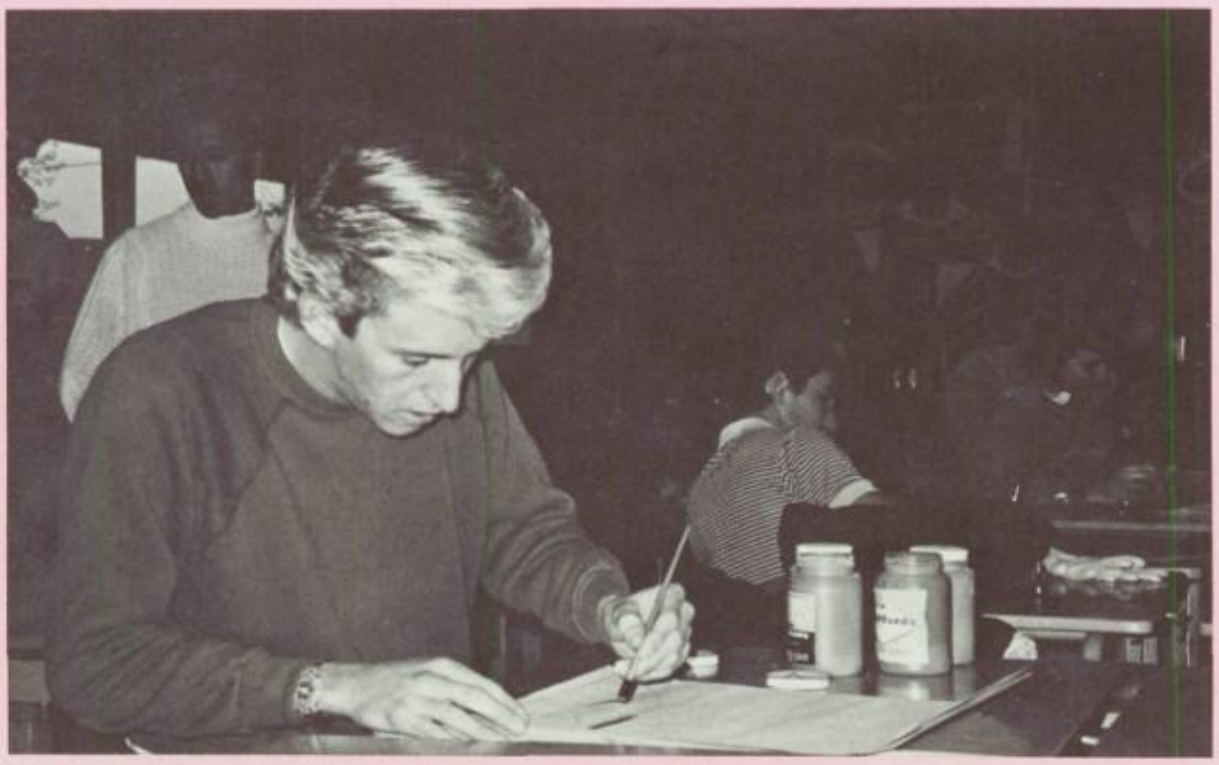
Mr. O'Connell attempted to explain the newest assignment to his students.

Tina Bobbit, the recipient of many awards, was hard at work on her latest project.

Jeff Emerick attempted to relate statements of life on paper.



David Burke, who has only been attending Bonita for a short time, is an accomplished artist and poet.



Colin Silva has worked his way up to the advanced art class.

Creating Style

The Jazz Band, composed of 21 members, made outstanding performances under a new director Mr. Ed Wolfe. "It was rough in the beginning with a new director to learn in a new way but it worked out great," commented Lance Hopwood. The band competed in a number of festivals and started with their first performance in the school gym which was held on December 19. They were invited to Monterey Competition as one of the top ten bands and were ranked as "superior" in several other major festivals.

"The Jazz Band has gotten a good start in preparing for several jazz competitions," commented Mr. Ed Wolfe. Their annual Reno Jazz Festival was held in April which was categorized into four divisions according to the number of band members. They went on a four day trip and performed successfully in the festival. All the members of band contributed much effort and made the year both memorable and productive.

The Pep Band was assembled in November under the direction of a talented senior, Dino Soldo. "It's not just another band because everyone has promised a personnal commitment," remarked Dino Soldo. The group of ten band members provided entertainment by playing in varsity basketball games and rally performances. They also brought up the high spirits and enthusiasm for students and crowds in the games. Since the beginning of the year, they have made extensive progress. There is no doubt that this group of musician worked hard and deserve credits for bringing memorable and pleasant experiences to Bonita's games.

Lance Hopwood took his performances quite seriously.

The pep band contributed to the rallies and games throughout the year.

The band showed the efforts and concentrations needed in composing music.

Natalie Vail, Sheryl Bierman, and Michelle Holmes created such harmonizing rythms together.

LeAndra Hopwood, Michelle Holmes - What a perfect pair of floutists!

"Hey, I can really play these drums!" said Vicken Tashjian.

Marching To Rhythm

The largest of Bonita's four bands was the concert-marching band. During the fall football season, the group of fifty members was mainly a marching band who provided entertainment for the football crowd. They experimented with corps style marching on the field, which was difficult at first but was easily adopted. "We were nervous, but the more we practiced, it got easier," commented Laura Johnson. What many did not know was that this past year, besides doing pre-game and half-time shows, the marching band entered in parade marching competitions for the first time since 1969. Led by band director, Ed Wolf, and drum major, Laura Johnson, the band did a superb job by coming in fourth place in their first competition at Rancho Cucamonga. They were encouraged to continue their competing in Chino, Palm Springs, and Yucaipa. In the winter and spring, the fifty member band became a concert band. They performed at various locations such as Baldwin Park, Placentia, and Anaheim and also went on a spring tour in May.

Opposite the concert-marching band is the combo-jazz band led by Dino Soldo. This band was mainly self-instructed and independent. They entered several competitions and obtained superior ratings from the Reno and Monterey Jazz Festivals. The group performed not only jazz but a mix of rock, fusion, and Latin as well. They were an excellent combo.

The marching band experimented with new and different styles of marching such as the corps style.

The marching band entered parade marching competitions for the first time since 1969.

Vinay Kathuria and Mike Hateley, seniors, are in both the concert-marching band and combo-jazz band.

Rally Spirit Soars

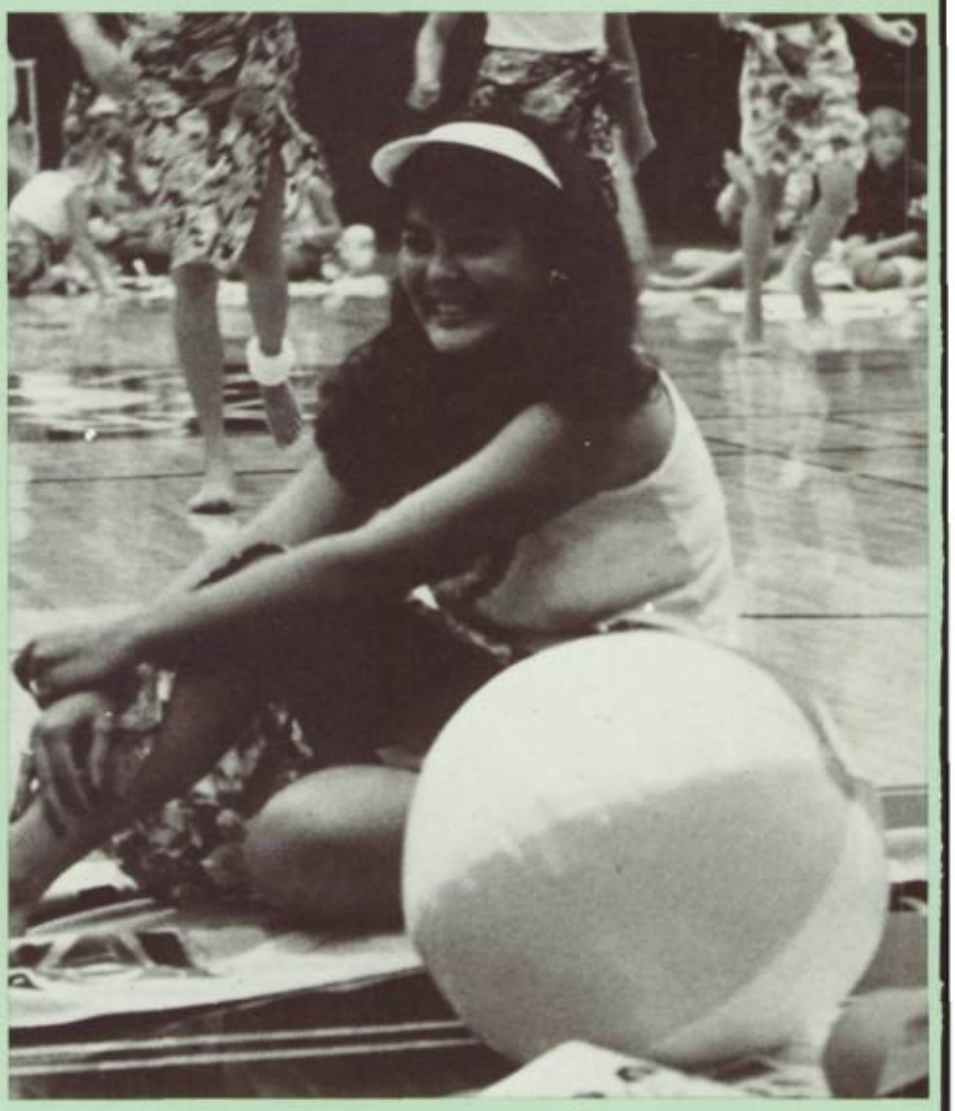
The excitement of rally began with just making the squad. Then, over the summer, the girls enjoyed the traditional USA Cheerleading Camp held at University of California at Santa Barbara. "We had such a blast at camp!" sang Jamie Lowe. Camp then led to games and competitions which were also enjoyed by all. The laughter and friendliness produced by the squad lightened the working atmosphere and made the year extremely fun.

For the duration of the football season, the girls had "secret pals." These "pals" brought flowers and other little gifts for their chosen friend. At the end of the season, the "secret pals" were revealed. The girls also had "secret pals" between the football and basketball seasons. "Secret pals are so much fun, mine is so nice to me!" added Stacey Reed. The "secret pal" tradition was a success as usual.

Rallies, both in the gym and on the quad, were exhilarating for all the members of the squad. The rallies held in the gym were exciting to plan as well as to actually perform. "It's hard coming up with new ideas but it's still fun," said Daryn Kelley. The rallies were more like a game for the squad then anything else. They were constantly trying to get a good response from the crowd. A good rally inspired Bonita spirit in all the girls. "I had a real feeling of accomplishment after a good rally-like I've really done something for the school," said Annie Riday. Rallies were a major part of being on the squad.

Games were fun for the ones playing, watching, as well as cheering. The squad, with some help from the cross country team, encouraged the on-lookers to join in and show their pride for Bonita High School.

During try-out, camp, competitions, rallies, and games, new friendships were born. These friendships grew as the year continued. In the end, friendships were strong. "Since everyone worked together for the competitions, the different groups (Varsity, J.V., Song) became closer than we were," commented Jeanine Sheldon. The fun-filled memories of rally will remain through a life time.



Lisa Vidaure displayed her friendly nature.

Work And Dedication

The year was one of hard work and determination for the rally squad. The work actually began in the spring of 1985 with tryouts. The girls spent hours practicing for the big day. Tryouts were an afternoon of anxiety for all the girls. "I was so nervous at tryouts I'm glad that it's over," Amy Scoolis said with relief. For many, their goals were almost accomplished as hours of hard work were flashing before their eyes. Finally, the results were announced and there were 25 new excited rally members.

The work did not stop at tryouts, but continued every morning throughout the summer as the team practiced five days a week from 6:00 a.m. to 7:00 a.m. As the end of August approached, the pressure was on to be prepared for camp. The extra practice and hard work proved to be profitable when the squad came home with the spirit stick. After camp came freshmen orientation which the girls also had to prepare for.

As the year began, there were rallies to put together which meant practicing before school. Evening practices were held in order to insure the best performances possible. All the hard work and times spent practicing showed the dedication of the rally squad.

Working at practices is not everything, there was also a grade point average to maintain in order to stay on the squad. Those on rally had to find time to do their homework as well as rallies, competitions, games, and much more. They were definitely a devoted group of girls.

As mascot, Stacey Reed worked to keep Bonita spirits high.

Daryn Kelley and Mary Prestwood were enthusiastic at rock rallies.

Friendships Made

The year was an exciting one for members of the Auxilliary unit. Competitions were yet to come. New friendships were formed and old friendships were renewed. Another year on the squads strengthened friendships and added something special to the year. New members on the squads learned what it was like to work together and help each other out.

The unit was led for the third year by Mrs. Brickner. She kept inspiration flowing and spirits flying. "Mrs. Brickner does the best that anyone could ask for. She came when we needed her and has been there ever since. The one thing we hope is that she knows how much we love her!" said Miki Hamilton.

The auxilliary unit consisted of the following: Dance-Drill Team, led by captain Ida Ebersole and co-captain Suzanne Allen; Tall Flags, led by Julie Diez; Short Flags, led by captain Yvonne Hyle and co-captain Denise Willison. Terri Courtwright and Miki Hamilton, the bannerettes, and majorette Missy Wallace were also part of the auxillary unit and led the line-up.

Mrs. Brickner worked hard with the girls to coordinate routines. As a result, their performances were better than ever! With this winning combination, the auxillary unit was a success.

Through combined efforts, the units performed beautifully.

Terri Courtwright and Miki Hamilton enjoyed the friendships they experienced as members of the auxillary unit.

Travelling And Learning

Performing well is an important part of being a member of the drill auxillary unit. While adding an extra sparkle to football pre-game and half-time shows, the unit also showed pride while representing Bonita in various activities such as parades, competitions, and the Winternationals at the L.A. County Fairgrounds.

The girls participated in several parades, including the Rancho Cucamonga Founder's Day Parade, the Chino Christmas Parade, and the Palm Springs Rodeo Parade. Anne Ware liked performing; "Parades and competitions are fun, especially when you perform well. All that hard work pays off," she said.

The unit's hard work and determination also took them to challenging competitions. They competed at Blair High School in Pasadena where Tall Flags captured second place. The Dance Drill team also did an exceptional job and placed first in the competition.

The spring kept them busy with four more competitions. Terri Courtwright said, "The competitions are fun to go to. We get to meet new people and learn new ideas for routines. One of the best things about being part of the drill auxillary is the friends we meet when we go places to perform."

Through all their hard work at practices and performances, the members of the auxillary unit desplayed endurance. Their dedication in representing Bonita style was admired and well appreciated by the students and staff.

Rita Ramirez enjoyed performing with Tall Flags at one of Bonita's rallies.

Tall Flags: bottom to top; Rita Ramirez, Autumn Fagan, Julie Diez, Cecelia Martinez, Ann Ware, Shauna Rodriguez.

Majorette Missy Wallace has performed in many competitons. She led the auxillary line up.

Bearcat defenders showed they were a great asset to the team as they had been all year.

Clark Moses' talent at runningback was vital to many Bearcat victories. He also received Honorable Mention from the league.

Cheerleaders made signs in order to promote both team spirit and enthusiasm.

Coach King was well-respected by the players.

Senior, Jim Stanfill, knows Mrs. Moga's AP English class can be just as painful as football.

Giving It 110%

The Bearcat defensive lineman rose victoriously over the fallen San Dimas quarterback and raised a clenched fist as a triumphant symbol of conquest. For a moment it seemed as though one could actually feel the momentum swing to the Bonita side and it seemed that this was to be the year the Bearcat football team would recover the smudge pot after being held by the Saints for two consecutive years. This, unfortunately, was not to be the case and, as the shot sounded ending another bitterly hard fought game, the smudge pot belonged once again to San Dimas.

Head coach George King said later on he is sure the team will recover the trophy next year. This, however, is not what mattered. What mattered is the fact that the team was trying hard and giving it 110%. The varsity defense again proved to be a vital asset to the team. The defense, along with the rest of the team, labored long and hard in preparation for the season. They began lifting weights early last spring and started formal training in the blazing heat of summer. Coach King, at only his second year as head coach, proved to be a great leader and was well-respected by the players. The team scored some impressive wins and managed to keep spirits high throughout the season. Top players for the offense included Clark Moses, Chris Enriquez, Rodney Aragon, and Joe Harchut. Outstanding defensive players were Jim Stanfill, Jeff Nickens, and Dominic Mistone.

The excellent J.V. defense made their stand on the 10-yard line against San Dimas. Bearcats won 13-6.

Front row: Mark Dyer, Danny McLaughlin, Joe Kary, David Crow, Tony Padilla, Benje Jones, William Trudeau, Frank Bak. Second row: Rick Lambert, Mudassar Sharif, Hector Gomez, John Williams, Aaron Eaton, Todd Young, Aron Weaver, Jeff Flora, Andre Reddick. Third row: Coach Riggs, Xavier De La Piedra, Richard Espinoza, Eric Dominguez, Mike Goralski, Lee Burton, Randy Zepeda, Luis Alvarez, Greg Snedden, Rob Shively, Coach Martinez, Coach Davis.

Freshman, Scott Simmerok, carried the ball in the exciting frosh game against San Dimas which was won by a field goal in the final secons 17-14, Bearcats.

J.V. kicker, Eric Smith, put another high one into the air.

Gains Experience

The J.V. football team gained valuable experience. It is a cliche, but Coach Riggs said the team has truly improved a lot. They didn't receive as much individual attention as they should have since the three coaches, Tom Martinez, Mike Riggs, and Eric Davis, were varsity coaches who had to find extra time for the J.V. team. The J.V. defense was very powerful, led by Mike Goralski.

Other key players were Kevin Hershberger and Lee Burton.

The frosh football team had some problems. The original head coach was fired, and Peter Jansen took over. Since Coach Jansen was new to football, two assistant coaches, Art Villas and Ron Johnson, did most of the instructing. Some of the best players were Diego Galvez, Ed Marquez, and Tom Wayer. The team didn't do too well with their win-loss record, but they had fun gaining experience.

Sophomore, Mike Goralski, leapt high for another J.V. interception.

J.V. coaches, Davis and Martinez, turned ordinary freshmen, sophomores, and juniors into lean, mean, green fighting machines.

Seniors, Duane and Dale Thompson, two of the most experienced and skilled runners on the team, always seemed to finish together.

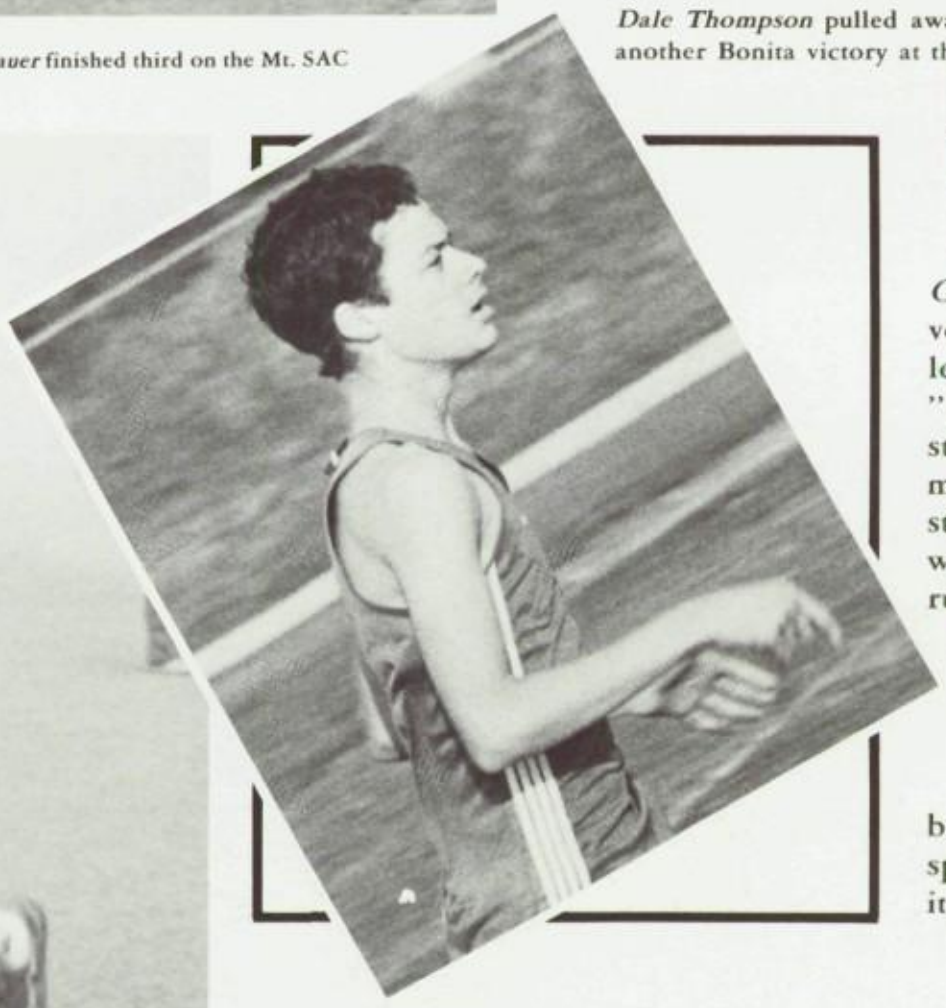
Junior, Curt McCann, finished every race through rain, sleet, snow, or fog.

Near the front of the pack, junior David Mauer finished third on the Mt. SAC course against San Dimas.

Dale Thompson pulled away from the rest of the pack and headed for another Bonita victory at the Bonelli Park course.



Mike Ashman, junior, follows in the footsteps of his brother Mark.

Sophomore, Brian Hoffstadt, may be young but he's got what it takes.

Displays Spirit

Shows Promise

There was once a time when it was considered unfeminine for girls to get sweaty by running long distances. They didn't even sweat, they glowed, or if they had to, they perspired. The girls' cross country team, however, has helped to break that archaic precept. The girls' team managed to meet and even exceed most of its goals this year. One of the most important of these was, as Coach Turner put it, "Because we're still a young team, our hope was primarily for continual improvement." Despite the fact that this was only its second year and fielded only two seniors, the team had three returning letterers. Two of the letterers, Lisa Quinn and Andrea Reed, both sophomores, were cited as the two top runners on the team.

Top runners for the boys J.V. team included Mike Coldiron, Chris Dupree, and Mark Harrington. The J.V. team did well in spite of its relative inexperience and like the girls' team made great strides toward continual improvement. The team, however, proved they had a great deal more to offer than just the basics. With three returnees, they displayed tremendous promise and potential for future years.

ASB Secretary of Campus Problems, senior Carmen Bridge, has been on varsity for three years.

Number one varsity singles player, senior Danielle Minehart, was also president of G.A.A.

Varsity senior, Carolyn Rivera, relaxed between tough matches.

Goes To CIF

The varsity and junior varsity girls' tennis teams worked to their limits to achieve a successful season. With team spirit and participation high, both teams headed up good starts. Every player showed her enthusiasm in competing with other teams in the league, and with excellent coaches, Kathy Taylor varsity and Tim Morrisson J.V., both teams improved both their skills and abilities.

Beginning with an excellent start, the varsity team achieved a league record 12-2. The team's plans for the season were to keep up team morale and spirit. One of the outstanding players, Danielle Minehart attained an overall league set record of 34-5 and was at the same time one of the top singles players in the league. Carmen Bridge and Evonne Langley were an excellent doubles team closing out league play with a set record of 36-5. "All team members were highly motivated and were willing to achieve," said Coach Taylor. The varsity's main goals were to win the league title and then go to C.I.F. playoffs.

"Totally awesome!" as said by Coach Morrisson, was the only way to describe the J.V. team's season. The J.V. team had one of its best seasons ever and finished with a record of 14 wins and 1 loss. The team's plan was, in essence, practice, practice, practice. Because of hard work, dedication, and team participation, the junior varsity and varsity teams had successful and memorable seasons.

J.V. player, Sheryl Rush, who displayed great talent and skill, played hard against Chino.

Senior, Jonelle Peake, hit a winning spike against Ganesha.

Senior, Barbara Irish, captain of the varsity team, led the team in hitting and was a returning all-league member.

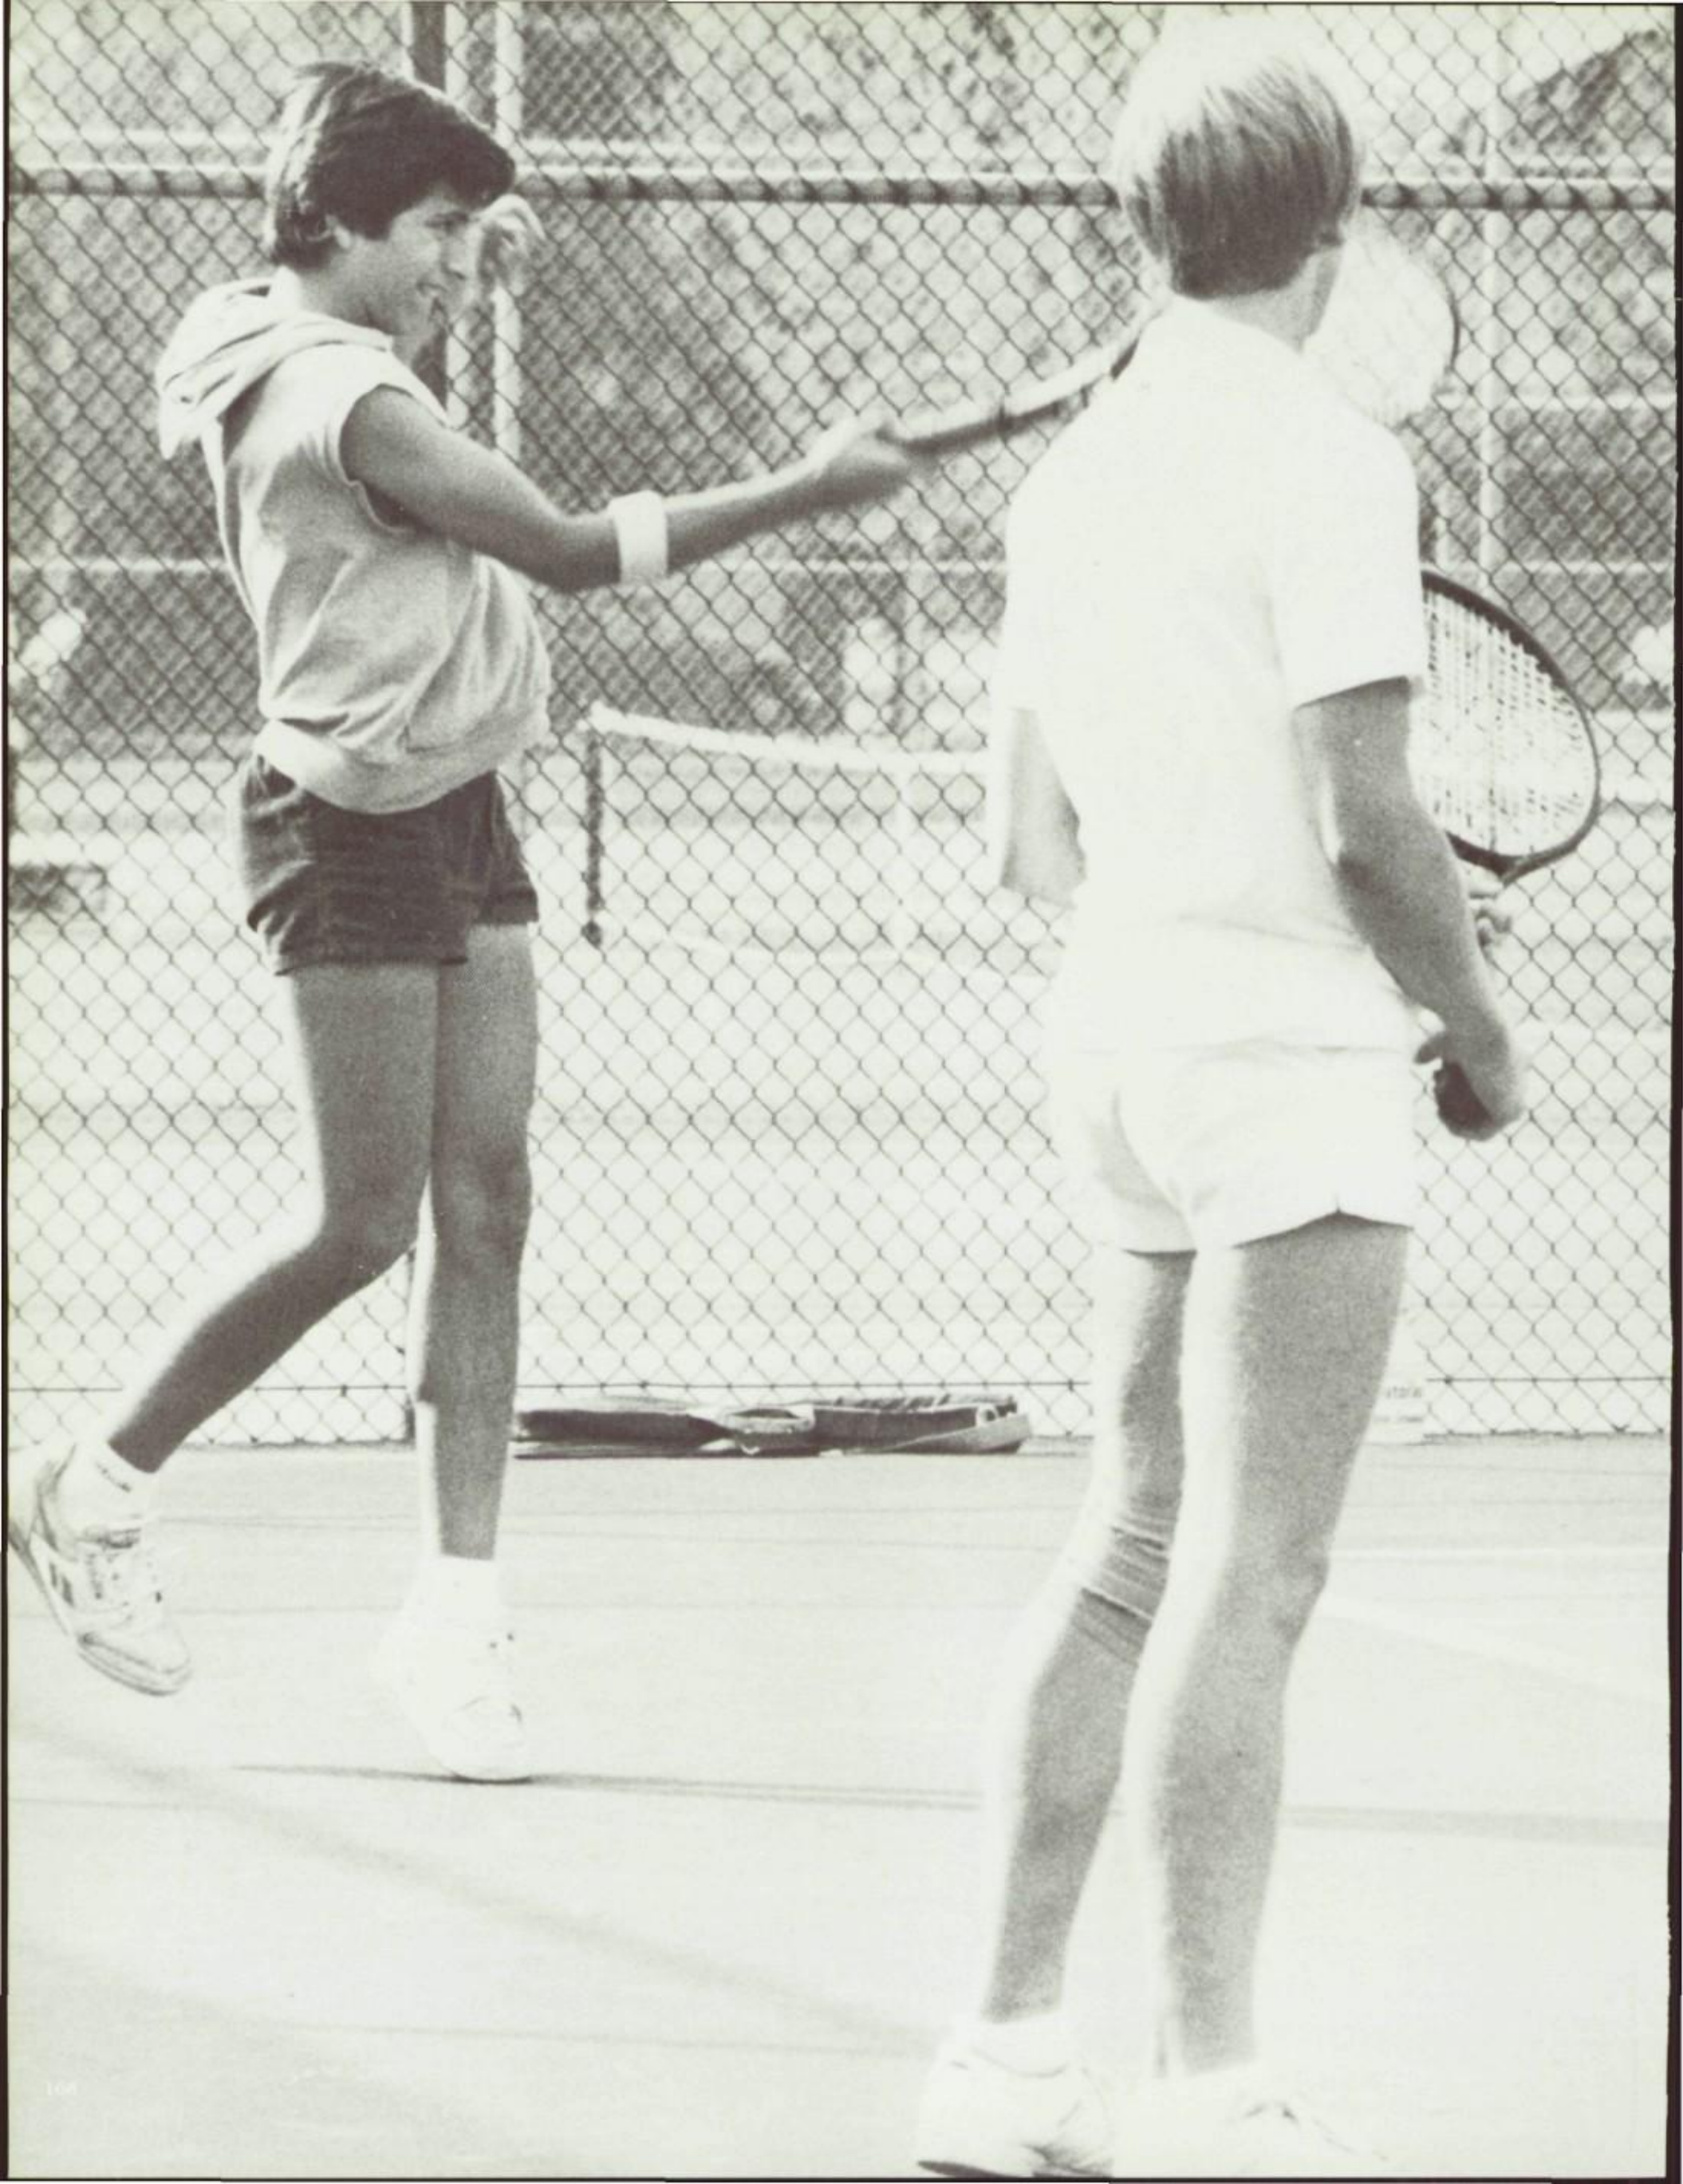
Sophomore, Carolyn Mabey, was new to the team but showed enthusiasm and improvement.

Even though she finds practice tough, Tiffany Ebert, sophomore, enjoyed the togetherness she got from playing on the J.V. team.

Working Hard

Another exciting volleyball season returned to Bonita. Varsity and J.V. teams were working hard to make the season productive and as fun as possible. They worked out in the weightroom and practiced daily with extra drills to sharpen their team skills; they did improve a great deal throughout the season. "The team was highly skilled and were fun to work with," said J.V. coach, Michelle Offerman. Both teams were working hard and gave 100% to win their league competition. Also, the team members were fast learners and their skills were shown in their playing. Number one hitter on varsity was Barbara Irish. "We had fun playing volleyball, but we also played to win," recalled varsity coach, Kitt Holk with only four returning varsity players. Their main goals were to win Hacienda League and go to CIF playoffs. With team togetherness and cooperation, the volleyball teams were successful, regardless of their win-loss records. Both teams were in excellent condition and worked as a unit to achieve a successful year and to have an enjoyable experience.



Hours Of Practice Before Minutes Of Play

In the area of sports, most people were concerned with which team won the games. It seemed that no one ever cared about the effort put in behind the scenes. No one but the players themselves seemed to realize that there was always hard work and practice put in before anyone hit the field, court, mat, etc. Most teams practiced five days a week during the sports season. Members of the teams were expected to come to practices and give 110% all of the time.

Practices for boys' J.V. Basketball consisted of constant drilling to master various skills, which included shooting and passing. The players were also required to build up their running endurance for their long and strenuous games. Scrimmages, too, were an important aspect of their practice, since this gave the players a chance to rehearse new plays and to review their technique. Robert Pineiros believed his motivation was based on simply "getting better than I was the day before."

The Cross Country team's practices were long and physically draining. The team began running during the summer. At first, the practices were only 3 days a week. However, as the summer's end came near, along with approaching meets and invitationals, practices increased to 5 days a week. The runners were required to be at school at 7 A.M. to begin their workout. The practices, though tough, were simple: stretching and running. The distances which the team members ran varied from 5 to approximately 11 miles a day. Brian Hoffstadt was inspired to run, despite a stress fracture in his foot, by "the rewards and glory" of the sport. While Lisa Quinn found "trying to be better than fellow runners" inspiration enough to carry her through the endless miles. Although these practices took much endurance and determination, their efforts were paid off when the Boy's Varsity team had a winning season, and sent Duane Thompson to C.I.F.

The Girls' Varsity Tennis team practiced several weeks before they began competing in matches. Drills on serving and other strokes were essential contributers to the team's success. Practices also included running to build up endurance necessary for the court. For Michelle Holmes just "the fun of being on a team" was enough motivation to continue through the season. Renee DuRoss, who has played tennis since she was 6½, found being around friends encouragement to play. Without these tedious and sometimes irksome practices, the tennis team would not have had the successful season that they did.

Soccer practices for both the boy's and girl's teams consisted of running, various drills, and scrimaging.

Practices for all sports were mainly made up of drills.

Practicing passing, corner kicks, etc. frequently became discouraging. However, the players did not give up. Instead, they tried all the harder. Leslie Anderson enjoyed being on a team that worked as a whole unit. Without hours of endless practices the teams would not have been able to work together. The girl's varsity team showed that their commitment paid off when they went to the C.I.F. play-offs. Due to the fact that the '85-'86 year was Bonita's first to institute a girls' soccer team, this was quite an accomplishment.

Field hockey practices were grueling and definitely not fun by most standards. Katie Stiles felt playing field hockey was "quite an experience. I had a lot of fun-even though practices were hard." The varsity members, even during their tough practices, had fun encouraging each other to do their best.

The sport, track, was one of great diversity. Track events included everything from sprints to the 2-mile, hurdles, long jump, high jump, triple jump, pole vault, and shot put. Due to the variety, practices differed for each individual. Consistancy in the practices was in that each member put out a maximum effort to achieve their best. Coach Turner felt that simple praise gave both encouragement and motivation to his team members. Runners did not stop at practices. Many worked on endurance building on their own time. Many also took care to monitor their diets during the track season. This not only required determination but a great deal of willpower.

For football players, practices were rough and demanding. Practices began before school was out for the summer. The team also practiced all through the summer. Summer practices began at 6:00 A.M. to enable the players to also attend summer school. For the players, weight lifting was a mandatory class. They also had a weight program, which they were to follow closely. Football can be a glorious sport but the grueling practices that the team members endured made a person wonder where they found the strength to play the games.

All in all, it was definitely the practices which were important to the good and winning teams. Without all of those hard and discouraging practices, the games which everyone was so concerned over would not have been won by our players.

Everybody needed rest after tough practices.

Number two doubles' team, Ron Pfeifer and Stewart Soto, had to practice extra hard when they moved up to number one because of Jay Wilkinson's injury.

Eric Smith lept high to steal a rebound from a Chino Cowboy.

John Gilmartin, a transfer from Ohio, kept his opponent from driving to the hoop.

Bonita varsity basketball team posed for a picture at the Long Beach Arena where they played the CIF championship game in 1985.

Clark Moses, a third year letterman, beat his man to the hoop for an easy layup to score two more points for Bonita.

Second year letterman Stanley Robinson looked for a teammate to unload the ball.

"Electrified Team"

The varsity basketball team suffered greatly by losing eight players to graduation, four of them, starters; however, the basketball program had a great lift with two newcomers to the program, Rick Fluckey, a junior, and John Gilmartin, a senior. There were also some returning players such as Clark Moses, Anthony Lynch, Harold Fisher, and Rodrigo Quintero who helped the program as starters. Even with the loss of players, the team was confident that it would be a major contender for the league championship. The captains were Clark Moses and Anthony Lynch whose abilities at offense and defense were appreciated by the team.

"We had a close knit team that was fun to be with," said Clark Moses. Elijah Smith said of the season, "It was full of fun and excitement." "We had an electrified team and we were good," said Eric Smith the only sophomore on the team. This is what makes a great team on court and off, and that's a good attitude.

Tom Roche, who scored a basket to win against Chino, has played basketball for three years.

Robert Ureno, who shot a jumpshot, also played football and track for Bonita.

Bob "The Ball" Swindle took a shot against the Etiwanda Eagles, while Sang Do and David Pavlik prepared to rebound. Swindle also played on the frosh baseball team.

Front Row: Scott Reedy, Joe Abate, Arnold Almalor, Diego Galves, Robert Woebkenberg, David Condiff, Sang Do, David Scoggins Back Row: Mike Guerrero, David Pavlik, Alain Uyidi, Kirk Evans, Rich Guzman, Bobby Swindle, Steve Lu, Coach Thompson

Center Greg Sneeden, Bonita's tallest J.V. player, went up for a shot for an impressive win against the Cowboys.

Guard Tom Roche defended a Chino player forcing him to pass the ball.

Gains Experience

The freshman basketball team had a tough season. With the help of Coach Thompson, his first year of coaching, fifteen players went out to play. Their inexperience proved to be tough on the team but, according to Coach Thompson, "I was very pleased with the enthusiasm, ability, and commitment of this year's team. They will certainly continue to provide Bonita with strong varsity and J.V. teams in the years to come."

Under the direction of Coach Brad Smith, the J.V. team showed much improvement this year. They took a Third Place trophy in the Don Lugo Tournament played during winter vacation. According to Greg Sneeden, "We beat Edgewood in the tournament. It was a very close game and we beat them in the last seconds, 58 to 56." Starting players were Craig Soto, Cliff Bailey, Robert Ureno, Scott Burton, and Greg Sneeden. Manager, Mike Nichols said, "J.V. has kept up with varsity in league play with the same win/loss record." The J.V. players will be an asset to the future varsity team.

The J.V. players, like Sharon Coleman, always tried their best to win the game.

Faces of determination, like that of varsity Danielle Minehart, were seen throughout the season.

Laying Up

The girls' basketball teams, varsity and J.V., started practicing every day in early November. They worked hard and put their all into the games and practices. From basic training such as lay-ups, rebounds, and passing drills to playing real games on the court, the girls showed teamwork and concentration. Although the league was extremely competitive for varsity with Chino and Ontario CIF contenders, the girls did well. Along with Chris Hardy, the only returning starter, the varsity team was coached by Mr. Parkson. He agreed with all the players that it had been very enjoyable to be involved.

The J.V. team had a good year also. For many players who were new to the team, it was a good chance to build up the foundation for being able to play for the varsity team in the future. The girls enjoyed working with their coach, Mr. Turner, who helped them to improve their skills. All the girls were looking forward to many winning seasons ahead.

Varsity junior Ray Emon did well in the match against Ontario.

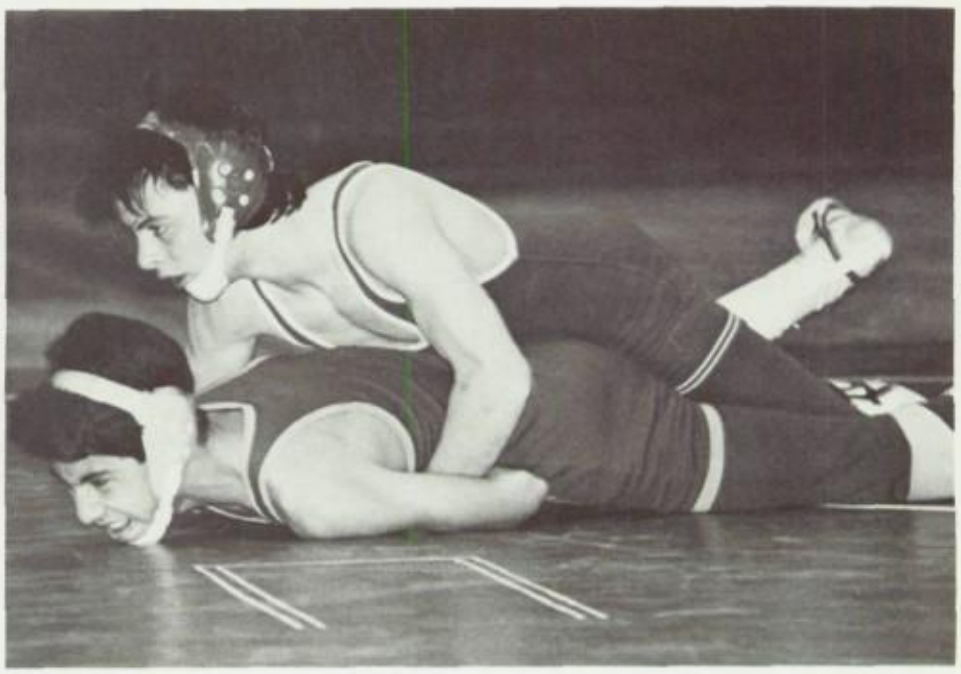
Jordan Harrison befinned an arm bar attack for the fall.



Chris Lucero was a freshman and was already a strong varsity wrestler.

An exhausted James Maiorana defeated another worthy opponent.

Jim Guertin's face showed the concentration and determination a wrestler must have.

No Quitters!

Varsity wrestling has been a strong part of Bonita's athletic program for years. They have taken the C.I.F. championship six times consecutively, making them one of the most winning teams in Bonita's history. At the start of the 85-86 season, however, the varsity team lost nine of the thirteen members, Coach Cunningham was not pleased with the loss because the members merely quit without advance notice. Despite the problems they encountered, the team kept up their spirit and worked hard all year long. Taking into consideration that the athletes spent long hours sweating after school to spend just five or six minutes on the mat, Cunningham remarked, "I, as a coach, have the greatest respect for the lad who had wrestled and devoted himself for so long." Ray Emon is just one of the varsity team members who stuck it out the whole season, and it earned him many medals. He said, "It's been tough, but we still did okay." The hardships only prepared them for the years to come and taught them more determination. Bonita had a great season and Coach Cunningham expects many more.

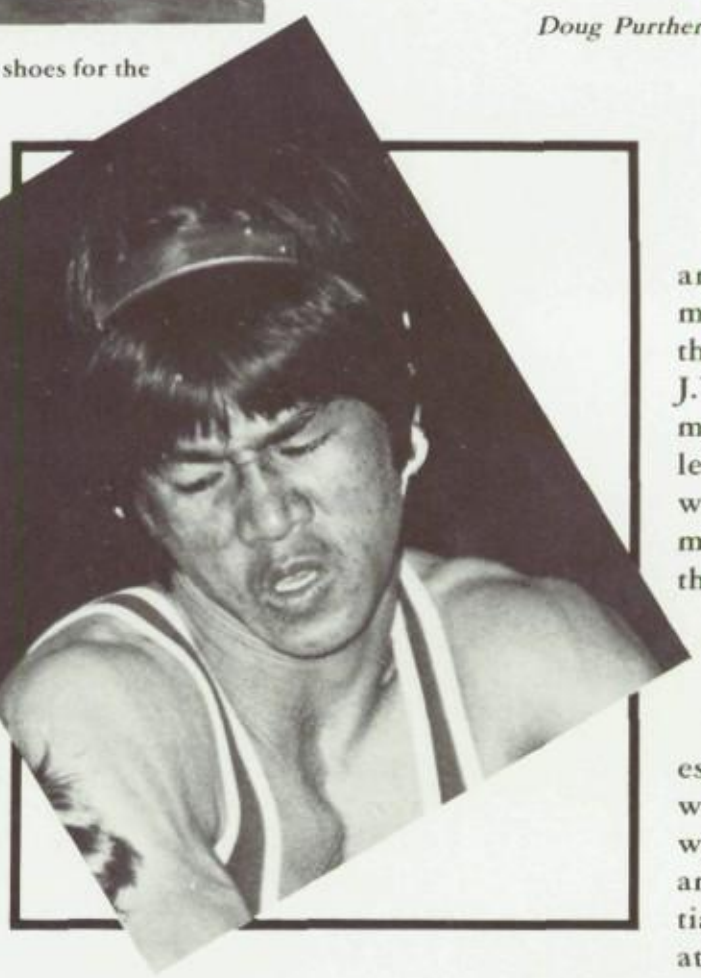
Hector Gomez psyched up before matches.



Bruce Chan's face showed the effort that wrestling took.

Scoring On Mat

"It takes a lot of unspectacular preparation to get spectacular results," commented Coach Cunningham. It signifies the way he feels about wrestling. The J.V. wrestling team consisted of freshmen and sophomores who were just learning about what it takes to be a wrestler. Of those athletes, however, many gained even more experience on the mat because they moved up to varsity level to fill the empty spaces of the members who had quit. J.V. worked hard in preparing themselves for their matches and looked strong. It is especially important for these younger wrestlers to watch their diets and pump weights because they were still growing and needed to reach their fullest potentials. Wrestling did well and therefore attracted more attention. In the past years, wrestling has basically been an ignored sport and the boys on the team strove to make an impression.

No More Girls!

Although the Bonita soccer program has been going through many changes the past few years, the players have remained enthusiastic. These changes vary from the elimination of girls on the team (girls' teams were formed for the first time) to the different coaches that seemed to arrive every season. But whether it was the vigorous practicing or the encouragement that they provided for each other during games, support and teamwork was evident among the players.

Coach Craig Smith led the varsity team. He worked hard with the players and helped them develop aggressiveness. Joey Quintero, who played left halfback, said, "This year's team was better than before. We have really improved."

Another new coach was Sean Wright. He taught the team how to be more competitive. The players gained experience in the sport and had a great time doing it.

With the new coaches and the players working together, the team looked more successful than ever!

Brand New

Bonita experienced its first girls' soccer team. In past years, the soccer team was predominantly boys with only four girls participating last year. The coaches encouraged more girls to go out for the teams. The response and enthusiasm by the girls and parents provoked the athletic department to make changes; thus, the all-girls' teams were formed.

Coach Debbie Cavion and assistant coach Kathy Crider were recruited for the varsity team. The relationship between the girls and coaches was one full of support. Alicia Loncar, junior, said of the team, "Our team has a lot of skill, excellent coaching, and a strong offensive line which helps us score the goals. I think we have a good chance to make it to CIF."

The junior varsity team was coached by Melinda Bowen. She conditioned the girls by sharing different techniques and teaching competitiveness in the sport. For most of the girls, playing on the school team was different than playing on an organization team such as AYSO. Yvette Viramontes said, "I like playing for the school team. We learn a lot about respect and discipline."

Bonita's first girls' soccer teams showed a lot of promise. It gave more girls a chance to gain experience in soccer and also, to have fun!

Sticking The Ball

Both the varsity and the J.V. field hockey teams started the season off with good players. The varsity team had five returning players, seven players who played on the J.V. team during the prior season, and four new players who were equally outstanding. Coached by Kitt Holk, the varsity team had an excellent season. The players worked very hard to win. They practiced every day and the conditioning consisted of weight lifting, running, sprinting, bleecher runs, stretching, and station work. Although none of the J.V. players had any high school experience, they improved their skills rapidly during the season. Coached by Laura Schultz, the J.V. team also had a good season. Both the varsity and J.V. coaches were pleased with the interest displayed by students, parents and athletes. "We both had very young, inexperienced teams, but the feeling of dedication and spirit was always up, on and off the field," commented Coach, Kitt Holk.

Behind The Sports' Scene

There was a group of people who helped make up a team as much as the players, but hardly ever got the credit they deserved. Finally, they got that recognition. They were the stats and benchwarmers (better known as the reservers).

What exactly were the stats? Stats were the people who volunteered their time and effort to help a team. Their jobs were to take care of all the team's needs, listen to the coach, and keep a complete record of all the games. The best description of stats was given by Joy Dacus, varsity basketball stat keeper, who said, "Being a stat keeper is almost like being a player because you have to make the same commitment. It's important for us to be there and give the team our attention and support." No matter how much hard work the stats put in, they were rewarded by being a part of the comaraderie in the team and having a great time. Jenny De Herrera said, "It's one big happy family. It was totally awesome." Stats were not only one of the most important contributers to the team, but they were also the most dedicated fans.

In every team there were two types of players: the starters and the reservers. Even in the largest victories, the reservers never seemed to get thrown up into the air and be taken on a ride on the other players' shoulders. The reservers were out there practicing and working just as hard as the other players, but they just became a number on a piece of paper when it was game time. Arnie Torres, a J.V. football player, said, "A reserver helps a team just as much as the other players, but they never seem to be the stars." It does not make sense when a small portion of the team is recognized for a victory when it takes the spirit and determination of the entire team to achieve it. A reserver offers their support and words of confidence throughout the season.

The reservers may have not had much playing time, but the rest of the team greatly appreciated their spirit.

There were many different aspects and outlooks towards being a reserver. Some players disliked missing the action. Mike Goralski, a J.V. basketball player, who said, "It really feels awful when you put in all those hours of practicing and then not being able to play." Players like Miki Burton, a varsity soccer team member, offered another prospective. She said, "It's worthwhile just being able to play a sport you enjoy. Then, when they finally put you in, you know the whole team believes in you." So there are many ways of looking at the reservers, who always seem to be offering their support and working hard for their team.

To every team, stats and reservers are valuable. Without them, a team would not be complete. They're always by our side, victory or defeat. They gave us their support, effort, and dedication.

Even though only nine players were allowed on the field, the rest of the team was with them in spirit.

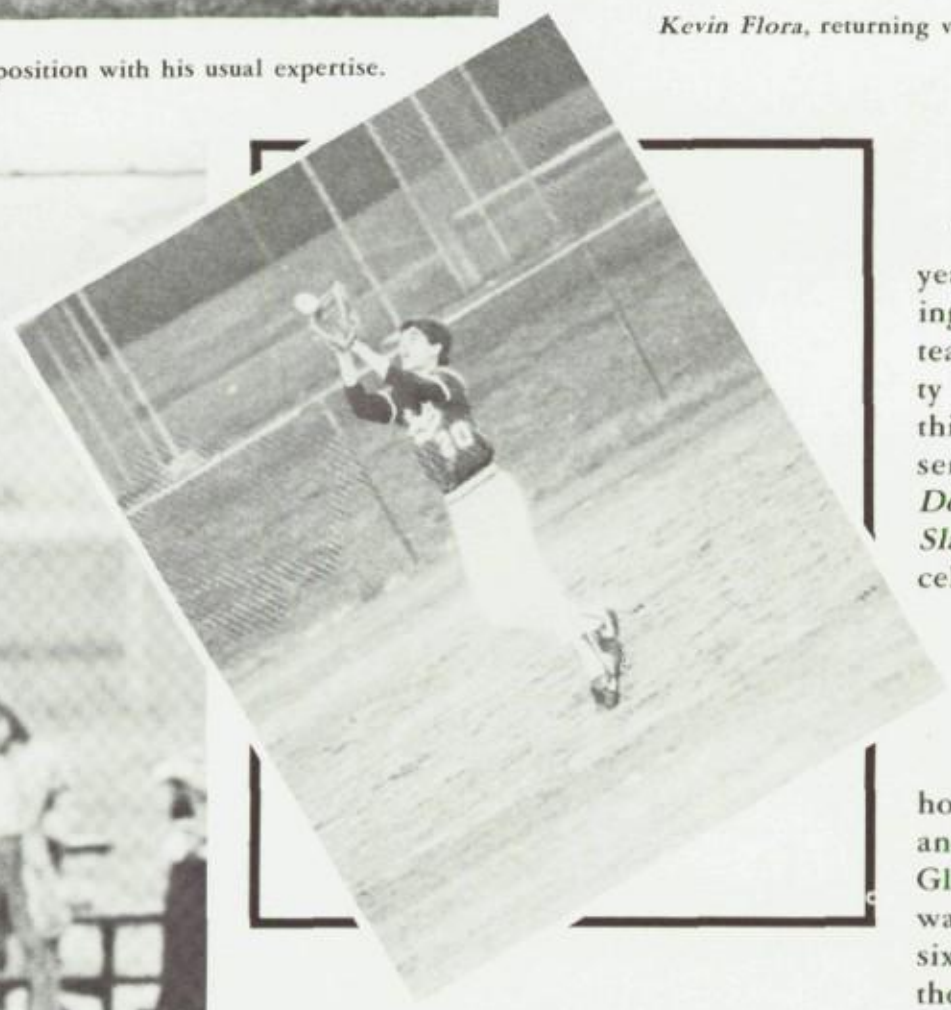
Darrin Maxey gave all his effort to make a winning hit.



Nader Durra, also a varsity basketball player, caught a remarkable throw.

Way To Go!

"With the returning starters from last year and the addition of some outstanding J.V. players, this year's baseball team had a positive outlook," said varsity Coach Jansen. The team consisted of thirteen players: three juniors and ten seniors. Outstanding seniors were Dominic Mistone, third base; and Ric Slagle, second base and shortstop. Excellent juniors were Gary Circello, first base; Kevin Flora, pitcher and shortstop; and Bryce Barker, centerfield. Their day started off with practice during sixth period and lasted no longer than two hours. Practice consisted of warm-ups and numerous drills. In the pre-season Glendora Baseball Tournament, Bonita was one of the six teams out of a field of sixteen that made it to the final day of the tournament. Way to go Bonita!

Fields The Ball

The J.V. team's successful season was due in part to the leadership of Coach Tom Martinez and captains Jason Sage and Anthony Riniti. The team consisted of twelve sophomores and three juniors, many of whom returned from the previous season's squad. Some of the outstanding players which contributed to the team's success were Todd Young, Tim Bohler, Aaron Eaton, Mike Panos, and Chaz Hutchinson. Practices were often strenuous, but they resulted in a stronger, better in-shape team. Inter-squad scrimmage games were used to allow the team to get lots of playing time in so the players would be ready for the varsity team in the years to come. Coach Martinez was quoted as saying, "I wanted them to have a lot of fun and really enjoy themselves and the games; at the same time I wanted to teach them team work and to respect others." He added, "If I could get these results from them, we would have a successful season."

Serves Up An Ace

If ever there was a team that was overlooked for deeds done, the boys' tennis team would be it. "We get no respect!" was the main contension that was voiced among Bonita's top tennis players — or recognition, for that matter. In the 1984-85 tennis season, the boys' varsity squad earned a fine third place finish behind two tough Montclair and Diamond Bar teams, earning them a place in C.I.F. post-season play. Yet, this year not only were most other students unaware that the team had gone to C.I.F. the previous year, a good deal of the student body could not even be sure that Bonita fielded either a boys' varsity or junior varsity team. Faced with this enormous indifference, the team was determined to work even harder and gain the recognition they deserved. Said returning varsity letterman, Ron Pfeifer, "It doesn't seem right that we don't get more recognition because we work just as hard as any of the 'major' sports." In fact, many of the returning players worked year round during the off-season striving to perfect their game in preparation for the 1985-86 season. The varsity team carried six returning letterman this year, including last year's number one singles player, Kevin Hardy and number one doubles players, Jay Wilkinson and Dexter Kim. The team also acquired two new coaches in the form of head coach, Tom Zasadzinski who in addition had been the number one player for the University of La Verne for several years, and assistant coach, Don Morel. Together the two coaches ran the players through inumerable wind sprints and grueling long distance runs. When asked what the main goal for the varsity and J.V. teams was, Coach Zasadzinski replied, "We have just one goal this year. That's to win."

The boys' varsity and J.V. track teams were very young with only three seniors. With the help from Coaches Turner, Riley, and Parkson, and a lot of kids involved, they stressed individual improvement. Coach Turner's high hope was to earn more awards at the four invitationals at Citrus College, Cal Poly, Chino High, and Valencia High. His goal was for each runner to reach his greatest potential. People like Mike Goralski and Dave Mauer went out for the middle distances. Robert Ureno came out for two hurdle races, and Mike Anderson for high jump. The girls' track team had a good mixture of seniors and underclassmen; they had a fine season. Many girls were from last year's team and did even better this season. Renee DuRoss and Tami Amos, both sophomores, were sprinters last year, but moved this year to the middle distances. Rica Brown, also from last year's shotput team, did an excellent job. During her last year at Bonita, Missy Primus put all her efforts into the long and triple jumps and was definitely C.I.F.-bound. The long distance runners were led by Donna Rodriguez and Miki Burton. All of these people ran with endurance and dedication. Rocket Power

As in past years, the badminton team had a large group of people who tried out. Most of the people that went out for the team remained on the team. Many of them were new players. With 7 returning players and the new coach, Kathy Taylor, the varsity team had a excellent season. Their goal was to go to the playoffs. They practiced after school every day from 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. The practice consisted of speed, different types of strokes, and strategy. Even though the practices were very tiring, the team always worked very hard. The excellent results of the games proved that their hard work was worthwhile. The J.V. team had a good performance also. The team was very large with over 30 people. Coach Brad Smith kept the team in their top condition. The players were expected to be a big help for the varsity team in the up coming year. Both Coaches, Taylor and Smith, agreed that they wanted to see the players go out and have a good time winning. As they had planned, the teams had a remarkable season.

Swings For The Fence

The varsity softball team had another great season. Try-outs, however, were not as difficult as usual because there were enough spots on the team for every prospective player. All the girls were happy with the arrangement and worked hard to a winning team. Mrs. Brennecke coached and Kitt Holk conditioned the team. The two together worked well and molded exceptional athletes out of the girls. Determination and team spirit were main objectives of the coaches. They strived to teach the girls that effort was just as important as winning, yet the players put a great strain on themselves by striving to win, and it paid off. "We really wanted to be winners," said Yvette Saavadra. The school supported the team, and spectator attendance was strong. The season seemed to fly by, and yet the girls will never forget all the memories and friends were made in '86. It's certain that Bonita will never forget the victory that struck the 85-86 varsity softball team.

Missie — How very proud we all are of you. Follow your dreams and let yourheart be your guide. You've only just begun. Love and good luck, Mom, Dad, Joel, Granda, Grandpa

WIKI WIKI!!!! My heart goes Bang — 4 just 1 kiss — 2!! Singin' buds 4-ever It's another disease & U just got rid of the last . . . I think I'll go live in A-merica, 'cause U can get away with murder, YEAH!! Luv U more than I can say — AND THEN U DIE!! SCA 4-ever! -BU (I'll miss U on the DARKSIDE) TOUCH!!!!

To all of Dr. Scott's graduating physicians: "May the FORCE OF ZAMBINIbe with you . . . . . always." Hay!

"One for all and all for Zambini." Hay!

Jamie, Remember: trees don't move! Classic pickles, a liquid paper rules. BBF, Binky

Niecie, I'm proud of you my little sister! I've enjoyed being a part of your last years at Bonita! Remember to follow your dreams and always let your friends fil your days with memories. Love, Sissy

Dear Rally: Remember 6:30 A.M. practices, the invisible line, Frank and Diane, Homecoming, basketball and fast food, secret pals, kidnapping, and a lot of fun. Thanks for the memories — Miss Wallin

Melina — You're a RAG!! But you know we're just kidding . . . Ha Ha!

GO, BEARCATS!

SMILE, ALWAYS SMILE, HAVE A SMILE READY EVEN THOUGH SOMETIMES IT HURTS. GRAB ALL THE HAPPINESS YOU CAN-WHEREVER AND WHENEVER YOU CAN-DON'T LET EVEN A WEE BIT SLIP PAST YOU. LIVE, ABOVE ALL, THINGS LIVE, DON'T SIMPLY EXIST. LIVE YOUR LIFE SO THAT ANY HOUR YOU WILL BE ABLE TO SHAKE HANDS WITH YOURSELF AND TRY TO ACCOMPLISH AT LEAST ONE THING WORTH WHILE EACH DAY. THEN WHEN YOUR NIGHT COMES YOU WILL BE ABLE TO PULL UP THE COVERS AND SAY TO YOURSELF- "I HAVE DONE MY BEST."

LOVE ALWAYS, TIM AND MOM

A possessed Rodrigo Quintero worked furiously on his English assignment.

The summit meeting in Geneva between Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev topped this year's political news. The two leaders went in to the meetings with realistic attitudes which was reflected by Gorbachev's remark, "If we really want to succeed, both sides are going to have to do an awful lot of work."

Because of a police raid getting out of hand, the city of Philadelphia went into flames. The mayor of Philadelphia took a lot of flak for his poor judgement in authorizing the bombing on the residence that housed the radical MOVE.

The city of LaVerne was filled with construction. Everything from Target to Ole's to a new White Avenue was under renovation and construction. The future of LaVerne and its appearance will continue to change throughout the coming years.

The Space Shuttle Challenger burst into a ball of flames and killed all seven astronauts on board. Following the explosion, questions were raised about whether the space program should continue.

By the genius of Bob Galdolf of the Boom Town Rats, the world was made aware of the starvation in Africa. He organized the Live-Aid concert which was an effort by musicians to help with famine relief. The concert was a success and raised $500 million.

Jim Henson and all of his Muppet creations from Big Bird to Miss Piggy to Kermit the Frog celebrated their 30th birthday in 1986.

Events

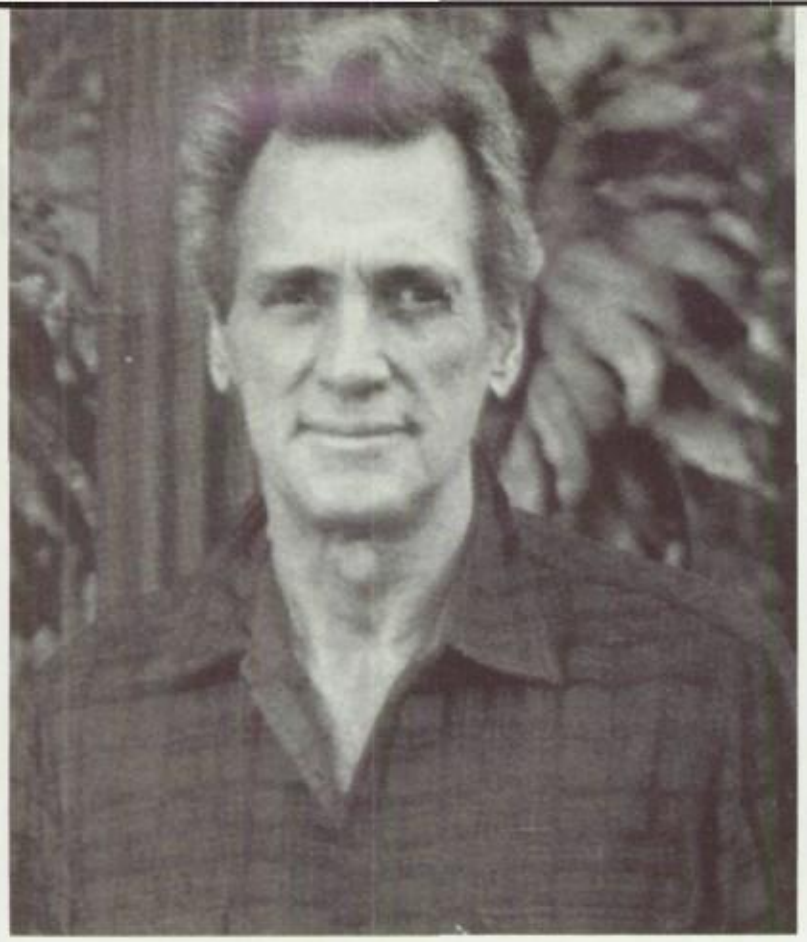
Many events occur which shape our world and lives, and others which simply add enjoyment to an otherwise humdrum existence. Those which changed our lives and started us thinking about the world we live in included the Geneva Peace Talks. Some occurrances reminded us of how quickly life can be snatched from us; these events included the Mexico City earthquake, the United States space shuttle disaster, and the Walk-in-Killer scare, which had all of us keeping our windows locked over the summer. Live Aid and Farm Aid reminded us that charity and goodwill were still alive in the world. Locally, there were the first Los Angeles Marathon and the first Los Angeles Street Scene. Road construction on "D" Street, White Avenue, and Foothill Boulevard inconvenienced us, and the 30th anniversaries of the Muppets and Disneyland entertained us.

Ferdinand Marcos, after being president of the Philippines for over two decades, resigned from his office in order to avoid the imminent revolt from the supporters of Corazon Aquino.

Bishop Desmond Tutu, winner of the 1984 Noble Peace Prize, continued to make the world aware of the evils of aprtheid. He was quoted as saying, "As long as some of God's children are not free, none of God's children will be free."

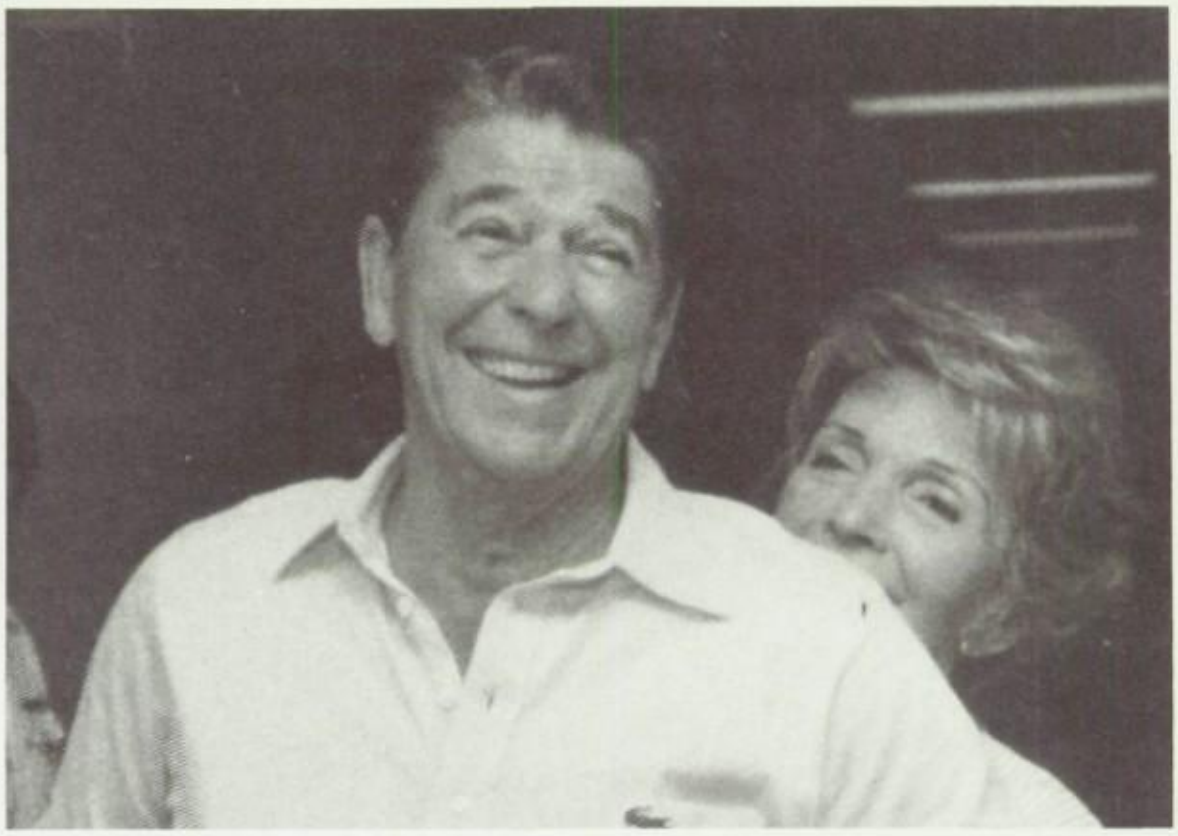
Molly Ringwald, who began her career with a role in the New Mickey Mouse Club, skyrocketed to success with her leading roles in Sixteen Candles, The Breakfast Club, and most recently, Pretty In Pink.

Mini Mag



The A.I.D.S. epidemic, which killed many, took the life ot actor Rock Hudson. The epidemic struck fear in the hearts of the entire world. The paranoia of contracting the virus caused hysteria in the actions of people who normally wouldn't give the idea of contracting a disease a second thought.

President Reagan, who turned seventy-five this year, became the oldest president to serve office.



William Perry, A.K.A. "The Refrigerator," not only led his team, the Chicago Bears, to a Superbowl Championship, but also became a household word through his many inane television commercials. He hocked everything from underwear to bacon to paper towels, which wasn't bad for a big-waisted, draft choice.

People

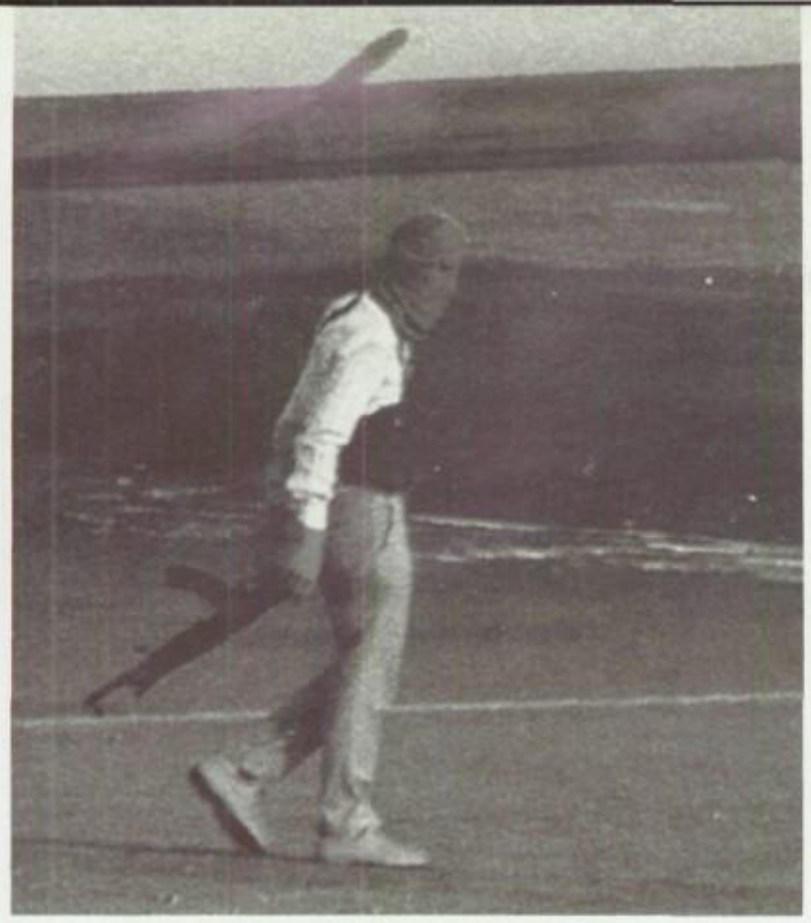
Hollywood, politics, professional sports — wherever the spotlight shines, a special few find the hot spot — the brightest light — and become adored, envied, and even hated. Many special people stood out this year. The entertainment industry offered many idols. Sylvester Stallone was popular in both Rambo and Rocky IV. Michael J. Fox gained widespread popularity in the summer's hottest movie, Back to the Future. Pop singer Whitney Houston won multiple Grammies for her first album. The everpopular Madonna stepped into the spotlight once again because of her wedding with actor Sean Penn. Notorious President Marcos of the Philippines was also a familiar face because of his loss in the presidential election to Mrs. Aguino. These and many others were the interesting people that the world, country, and Bonita were watching.

Reebok tennis shoes were certainly the rage across the campus; students wore them for school, work, play and parties.

For the fashion-minded Bearcat man, surfer shirts and shorts were a definite must.

Paisley prints in all different color schemes were commonly seen on shirts, skirts, pants, blazers, andyes-even watches.

Mini Mag



Terrorism was a trend which grew frighteningly quickly; one terrorist's radio message from hijacked cruise liner Achille Lauro was "there is no shortage of passengers to kill."

Don Johnson and Phillip Michael Thomas were stars of the trendy ever-popular television show Miami Vice shown every Friday evening at 10:00 P.M.

Dr. Ruth Westheimer was popular among concerned teenagers who often listened to her two-hour show on Sunday nights "Sexually Speaking."

Trends

Too much, too soon, too "cool" — everyone's always striving to eat, drink, wear, see, or be "in." There are certain things that just have certain style, magnatism that draws crowds of people to the stores and restaurants to spend their hard earned money. Students panic if they are seen in the wrong place with their parents on a Saturday night. Nobody cares why the trends are popular. It just matters that they are popular and therefore, too "cool." Some trends in clothing included paisley prints, high-heeled boots, Reeboks, Swatch watches, tropical and floral attire, narrow skirts, stirrup pants, satiny shirts, combat boots, and suspenders. Music trends were quite varied; students listened to Wham!, Orchestral Maneuvers in the Dark (O.M.D.), Thompson Twins, the KROQ number one song of 1985. "Shake the Disease" by Depeche Mode, and an increasing amount of dance music such as LA Dream Team and Expose. The "right" movies to see were Pretty in Pink, St. Elmo's Fire, and The Color Purple. Miami Vice, Family Ties, and the Cosby Show were by far the trendiest television shows. All in all, trends were valuable and enjoyable ways for students to express themselves and their interests.

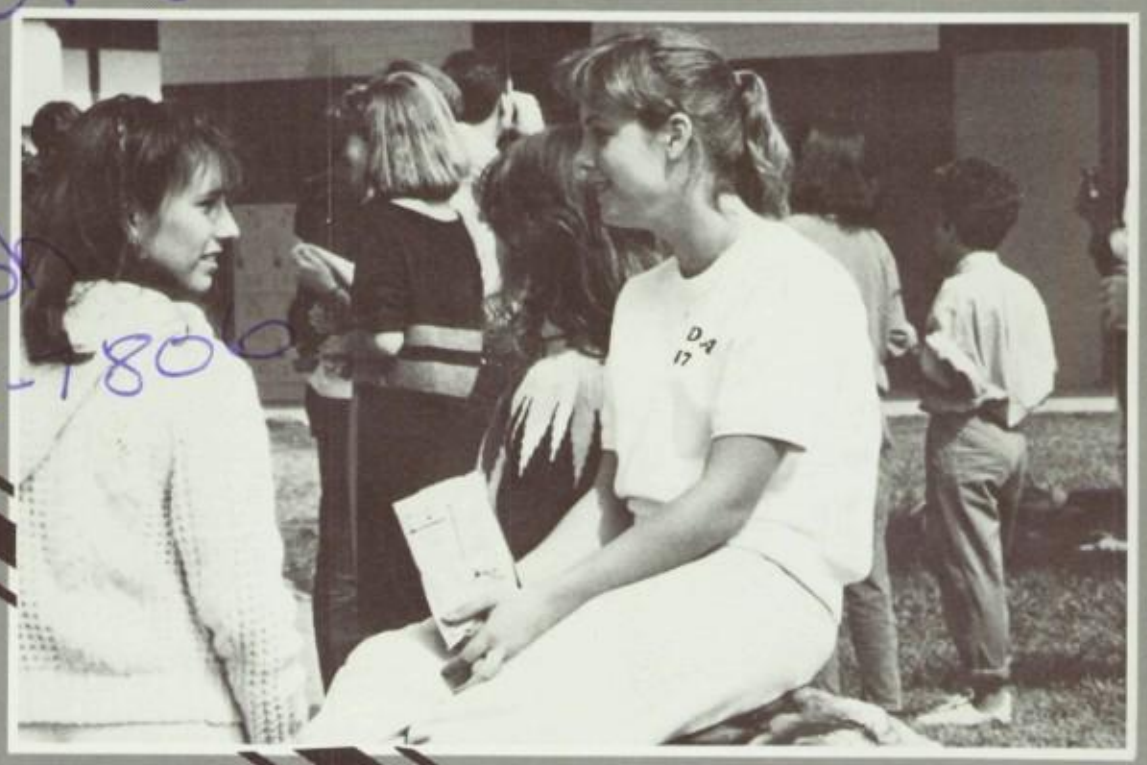
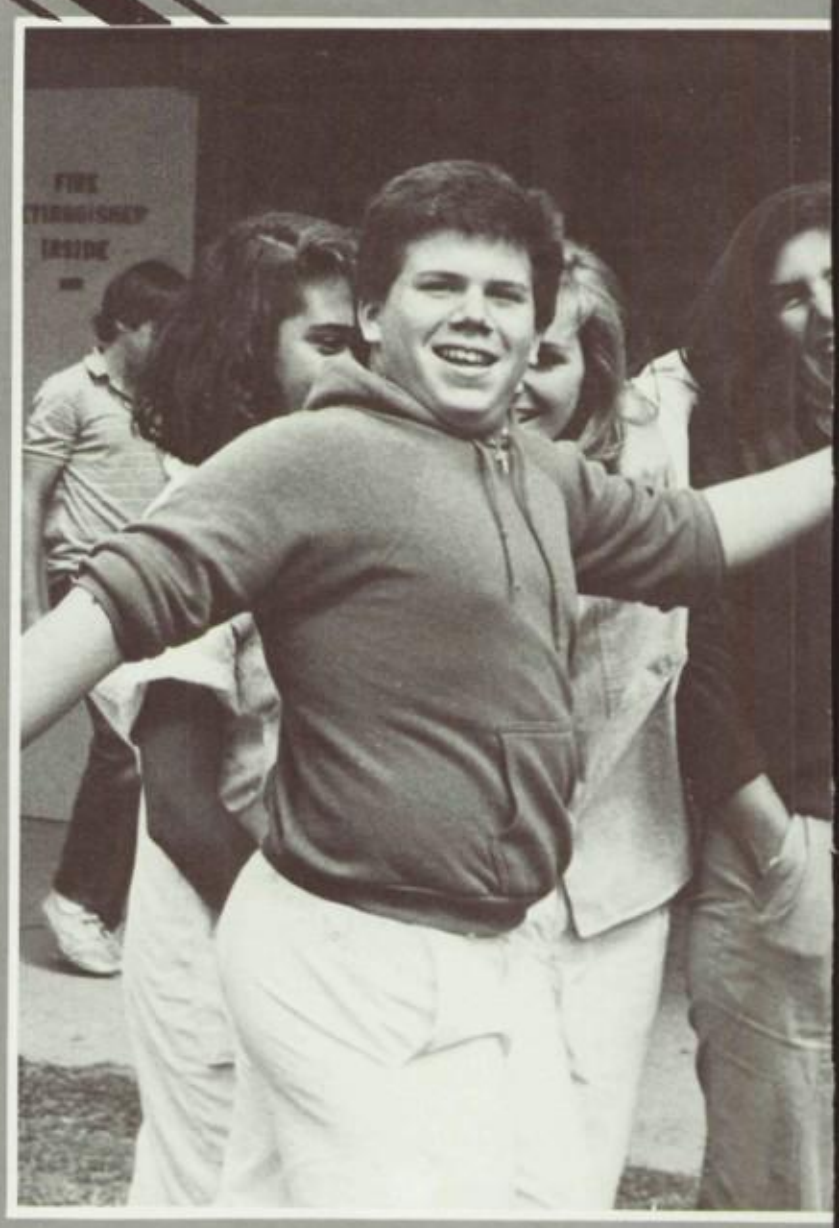
Halloween was honored by the appearance of two new proctors, Jay Wilkinson and Dexter Kim, and a Mr. Keller look-alike, Doug Lightfoot shown above with everyone's favorite chemistry and physics teacher, Dr. Phil Scott.

Munchos on the quad were a must for junior Ida Ebersole who needed her energy for participation in the auxilliary unit.



Robert Preciado showed that all of the pressures of being a sophomore did not get him down.

Football player Joe Kary enjoyed being the center of attention for the sophomore girls.



Bearcats certainly exercised their "Bonita Style" with a great flare. Bearcats were spirited; despite the scores, they kept supporting and cheering for football, basketball, baseball, and other teams. Bearcats had lots of fun; school dances such as Homecoming, Sweethearts, and Sadie's were all successful due to the hard work and participation of students and faculty alike. Prom held at the Newport Marriot Hotel was, of course, a huge success enjoyed by hundreds, thanks to the industrious junior class. Noon activities were also a source of enjoyment; such activities included Winterfest, sponsored by Humanities on Campus, and numerous disc jockeys provided by A.S.B. Bearcats observed tradition and even established new ones; for the first time, Sweethearts was treated with the same measure of importance as Homecoming, and the queen was announced the evening before the dance. "Bonita Style" is a state of mind possessed and enjoyed by most on campus.

Gina Genevose was a great asset to the pep club because of her great help in planning the successful Sweethearts formal.

Ann,
You have been a really good friend. I hope we stay friends forever & EVER!

Rally was blessed with spirited and active members such as Sweethearts princess Barbara Irish, Homecoming queen Annie Riday, and Sweethearts queen Lisa Viduare.

Yvonne Cunningham got support from friends, Jennifer Smith and Michelle Huff, in her time of need.

The Isenberg family had two members on the Sweethearts court; Dana Isenberg, pictured, was sophomore princess, and her big sister Lori was a senior princess.

Finally, by way of an almost endless number of research papers, essays, and finals, we came to the end. If we look back on it personally, it was a year of trial and struggle. If we look back at it together, the year was a combination of work, play, fun, and frustration. In the years to come, it is likely that these memories will be how we remember this special year at Bonita.

Ann-
I think you are a really special person. You really care about people & thats a gift from God. You keep on singing & I wish you the best of luck in High School. Don't forget me! ♡ U-

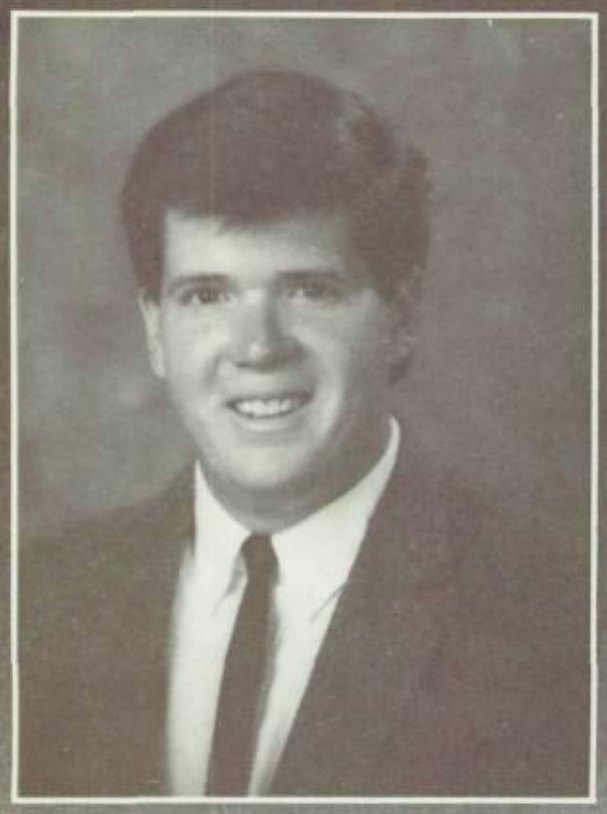
Kurt Zugates and Julie Echols experienced a night in heaven . . . at Sweethearts.

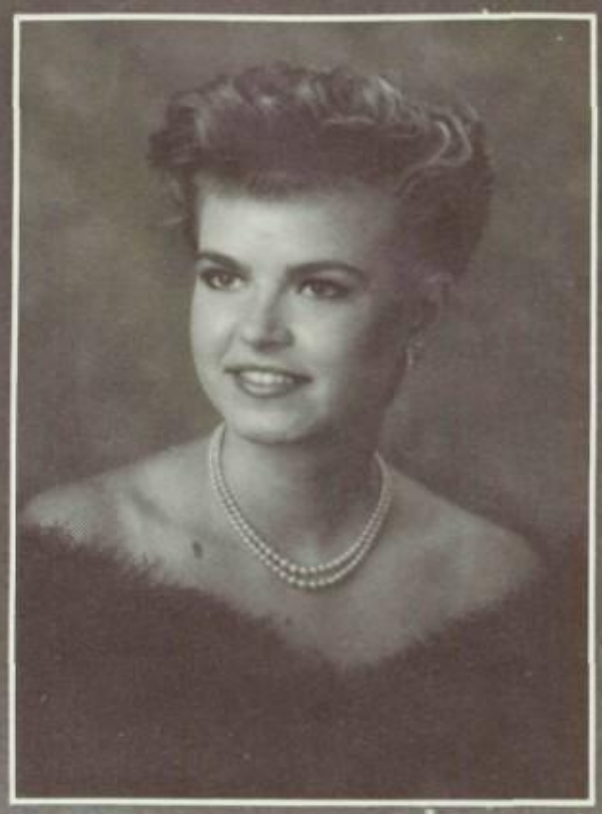
Earl Johnson - stylin' Bonita style.



We have attempted — to the best of our ability - to put together a quality book of unique value which represents the entire school. We would like to give our many thanks to Mrs. Schutz for allowing us to experiment with new and varied techniques, Mr. Thomas for guiding us with a not-so-firm hand, Mr. Barr for always coming through ina pinch, Tammy Norem for her special photographic contributions, and the entire staff for their time, effort, and patience.

We sincerely hope that this book will bring you hours of enjoyment in the years to come.

Thank you,
Jay Wilkinson, Lisa Pallas, Editors-in-chief



A Man Of Principle . . .

Louis Rosen, Ph.D.

Students who attend Bonita have access to great educational opportunities. Bonita High School has an excellent combination of fine staff and teachers. One of the reasons which made this school as strong as it is today is Dr. Lou Rosen. Dr. Rosen has, over the past seventeen years, put together a combination of capable teachers who work well with each other as well as students. Many of the staff seem to agree that Dr. Rosen allows the teachers to teach in their own way. "He trusts the teachers and allows them to teach," comments Ms. Brechbiel. Mr. Lopez agrees that "Dr. Rosen has put together a great staff."

Dr. Rosen attended and received his bachelors degree from University of California, Los Angeles. He then continued to study at California State University, Los Angeles, where he received his Masters Degree in Education. He taught at Charter Oak High School during 1958-1965 and then moved to Royal Oak for the next four years. He served as Assistant Principal, A.S.B. Director, and counselor. Miss Wallin, a current English teacher at Bonita, attended Royal Oak as a student at this time. She said, "Dr. Rosen was my counselor when I was a freshman and he inspired me to take my high school years seriously." In 1969, Dr. Rosen became Principal of Bonita High School.

Bonita High School has benefited from the administration of Dr. Lou Rosen. We will miss him and wish him luck in his future positions.

Twenty Five Years Of Caring, Comedy And Counseling

Mr. Delbert Jones has worked for Bonita since 1961 and for twenty-five years has given both students and staff a lot of support and laughs. "He's the jokester on campus," said Mrs. Adams. "If you've got a problem, he can always make you laugh." A graduate of Upper Iowa University, he also holds a Bachelor Degree in Theology from the Oregon Bible College. Later, at Pasadena College, he received his Masters Degree. Mr. Jones is more than a qualified counselor; he really knows how to talk to people and in a gentle, spiritual way, helps students and staff with their problems. Some students and staff have grown so close to Mr. Jones that he has performed their marriage ceremonies, such as the case of Dr. Mark and Mrs. Torrez. He has taught remedial reading, advanced reading, journalism, and yearbook through his years at Bonita. The happiness which he brings to the school each day will be greatly missed. We wish him continued success in his future endeavors in the ministry.

Delbert Jones
